EDUCATORS OPEN WORLD MEET IN S. F.

Peace Through Education, Is Keynote of Addresses As Conference in Connection With N. E. A. Is Launched

Nations Encircling Pacific Hold Hope of Future, Is the Declaration of Jordan in Greeting the Delegates

World peace through education and a better international understanding formed the keynote of the addresses delivered last night at the opening of the world conference on education at Native Sons' hall, San Francisco. The world conference is being held under auspices of the National Education Association, which meets in convention next Monday at the Auditorium in Oakland.

ROLPH, JORDAN GREET DELEGATES.

Addresses of welcoming the delegates were delivered by Mayor James Rolph Jr. and Dr. David Starr Jordan and responded to by Dr. William Bishop Owen, president of the N. E. A.; Miss Charl Ormond Williams, former president of the N. E. A.; Dr. P. W. Kuo, president of the Southeastern University of China; Dr. C. A. Panagopoulos of Greece; Dr. John Andams of the University of London, and by Dr. A. O. Thomas, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the N. E. A.

Dr. William Bishop Oliver, president of the National Educational Association, said in part:

"Acting in my official capacity as president of the National Educational Association of the United States, I extend to you the greetings of the Association, coupled with the sincerest wish that this Conference may achieve results for the good of the countries you represent, of America, and of the world. As we enter on the work of the conference as planned in the published program there are two facts that I should like to bring before you.

APPARENT ANOMALY HELD PRACTICAL.

"The first is that the National Educational Association is a voluntary organization of the teachers of America incorporated by Act of Congress. The Act of Incorporation declares that the purpose and object of the said corporation shall be to elevate the character and advance the interests of the profession of teaching and to promote the cause of Education in the United States.' Education in America is not under the control of the Federal Government, but by the constitution remains a state function. America has a national school system without national control. To our guests from abroad this may seem a strange anomaly. To us at home it seems a wise arrangement, from which we should be unwilling to depart. The forty-eight states control each its own state system of schools and education. The National Education Association welcomes to membership all teachers whether of public or private schools.

"The second fact that I would mention is that the holding of this conference at this time is the fulfillment of a plan formed as the World War was drawing to a close. It seemed to the members of the National Educational Association that the governmental authorities that were charged with the great task of setting the disturbed world on its new course were too occupied or too hurried to provide a place for the consideration of education as a practical instrumentality for the creating of a new world order. Or was it that statesmen and diplomats, generals, and economists naturally regard education as dealing primarily with children. Whatever the reason, education was left to put in its own claim. The National Education Association took steps to call such a conference as this.

GIVE EDUCATION TRIAL, IS PLEA.

"There is urgent need that a World Conference on education should be held. The world is one. Science, invention, industry, commerce, communication, transportation, contemplate and act on this view. Government, imperialism, diplomacy, militarism, have all tried to unify and hold in subjection the life of the world. Human nature is more powerful than any external form of institutional control that society has produced. The one outstanding possibility that has never been given a fair and full trial is Education. Why not try it?

"The aim of education is the control of individual life, of national life, of international life. So the control that it seeks is one of knowledge, wisdom, skill resulting in happiness. Mastery of the forces of human nature and the world is the instrument of this desired control. But education as a form of social control will not come of itself. Men and women must organize and labor to effect an education that will realize the individual and social values that we seek. It is astonishing to observe in all the [illegible] the pathetic confidence in education as the sole remedy for our ills and to cont[illegible] with this diagnosis the feeble efforts made to apply the

Autoist Lured By Good Road Races Train

BAKERSFIELD, June 29.—(By Associated Press.)—A. Garbe, of Pittsburg, Kas., likes California's paved highways. Mrs. Karbe likes them, too. They admitted as much in court at Delano, near here, yesterday, where they proudly acknowledged that they had driven their automobile a considerable distance at a rate of sixty-one miles an hour.

"Fifty dollars," said Judge Waite.

"That's easy," said Karbe, as he fished out a roll of bills. "We never saw a road like that before and we couldn't resist the temptation."

'BILL' JOHNSTON BEATS RICHARDS

San Franciscan Puts the New York Star, Out of World Net Title Race.

WIMBLEDON, June 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Four Americans survived the fifth day's play in the singles of the world's championships tennis tournament here—William M. Johnston, Francis T. Hunter, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory and Miss Eleanor Goss. Miss Elizabeth Ryan, the former Californian, now a resident of England, is also a survivor. Mrs. Mallory's next opponent will be Miss Katherine Lidderdale, of England.

WIMBLEDON, June 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Playing his most powerful game, William M. Johnston, Number 2 in the American lawn tennis ranking, decisively defeated Vincent Richards, the phenomenal New York youth, on the Wimbledon grandstand court today, while England's king and queen looked on. Before the match the king called the two Americans to the royal box, welcomed them and chatted for a few moments.

JOHNSON'S MERCILESS ATTACK CRUSHES YOUTH.

Johnson's attack was merciless and Richards' finished, but less-powerful game, was unavailing against the Californian's fierce driving and all around court generalship. The score was 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

By his victory, "Little Bill" puts himself a long stride nearer the world's singles championship—the goal for which he is striving. The fortune of the draw made it necessary that one of the other two visiting stars should be eliminated.

Richards, because of his youth and winning mannerisms, had the support of the majority of the vast crowd that packed the stadium and jammed all available standing space, but the winner was warmly cheered.

RICHARDS PUTS UP GAME, VAIN BATTLE.

Richards put up a game fight. With the score of the third set at 5-2 in Johnston's favor the New Yorker began a fight that was as dazzling as it was desperate and forced the score to 5-all, only to lose at 7-5. His last service was a double fault; the second ball hit the net cord and went over, but was out by an inch or two.

Francis T. Hunter, American, defeated A. H. Fyzee, India, 8-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Randolph Lycett was eliminated from the men's singles by F. G. Lowe after a hard struggle, 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Max Woosnam, of England, defeated Lieutenant Colonel H. G. Mayes, also of England, 6-4, 8-6, 6-1.

Count de Gomar of Spain defeated Cecil J. Tindell Green of England, 8-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Leslie Bancroft, of Boston, was eliminated from the women's singles by [illegible] England, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

In the women's doubles, Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Ryan defeated Mrs. Perrett and Miss Rimington, of England, in straight love sets.

Kidnapers Captured After Gun Battle

HAMMOND, Ind., June 29.—(International News Service.)—Two bandits who kidnaped and attacked Miss Genevieve Sprague of South Holland, Ill., after her escort had been taken from his automobile and left bound by the roadside, were captured today in a marsh between here and South Chicago after a pitched battle with police in which a spent bullet struck and slightly wounded the girl.

Child Injured By Fire Supply Wagon

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Eleanor Sebera, three years old, of 306 Francisco street, was seriously injured when an automobile fire supply wagon driven by William O'Connor backed into her at Stockton and Francisco streets. She was taken to the Harbor hospital suffering from a broken hip and internal injuries.

CASH READY FOR SHELBY TITLE BOUT

Final $100,000 for Dempsey and Money for All Other Obligations Pledged, Says Banker Supporting Fight

Compromise Scheme Rejected by Manager of Champion; Kearns O. K.'s Delay If Payment Is Made

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 29. — (International News Service.)—"The money necessary to insure the staging of the Dempsey-Gibbons fracas in Shelby has been pledged." That statement was made at noon today by George Stanton, banker of Great Falls.

"All the worry which was ours over getting the money is ended," Stanton said. "We are now in position where I can say positively that the money to go on with the fight and to meet the Dempsey obligation has been pledged. But we do not know and will not know until we have had a conference at 2 p. m. whether we will stand pat on July 4 as the fight date or ask that it be moved along to July 14."

Stanton conferred during the morning with Jim Johnson, mayor of Shelby; Loy J. Molumby, one of the original promoters, and J. W. Sheer, attorney for the promoters. During the parley telephone talks were had with many men in Great Falls and Shelby, who are ranked among the monied interests.

"Some persons insist that the best plan we can adopt would be to go ahead with the fight on the original date," said Stanton. "And others believe we should make a shift to Saturday, July 14, or Saturday, July 21. I think if the fight were held on July 4 it would mean certain loss of a small fortune for the promoters, whereas if it were moved to a later date and a new campaign in the sale of tickets could be conducted there is the chance that the promoters can come close to breaking even."

"I'll agree to a shift in the date," he told the promoters today. "If you move the fight along to July 14 or 17 that will give you fellows a chance to launch a new campaign in the sale of tickets. But before I'd agree to it I'd want the $100,000 secured for Dempsey. If you don't put on the fight on July 4 the contract is automatically broken. A new one must be made. But as far as this $100,000 third payment to Dempsey is concerned—well, it's due July 2. I can't make any definite move until that date. If you men deliver the money I may agree to any plan you may name. If you don't, well, you bust the contract. When you bust it I'll tell you about one second later exactly what I am going to do."

ST. PAUL, June 29.—(By The Associated Press.) — James Daugherty of Philadelphia, who will referee the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby on July 4, was in St. Paul today en route to Great Falls, where he will arrive Saturday night.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 29 (By United Press).—Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, today killed one more hope of the would-be promoters of a Dempsey-Gibbons [illegible] championship bout.

In a conference that lasted into the early hours of the morning, Kearns, slim, dapper, sartorially a striking contrast to the roughly-clad westerners, who towered above him, turned down a proposal whereby the backers of the bout had hoped to evade financial difficulties in which they find themselves.

Loy Mullumby, on behalf of the promoters, suggested that Dempsey, who is entitled to payment of $100,000 on July 2, waive his contract rights and go on with the fight with privilege of taking all the gate receipts up to the amount due him.

"Nothing doing," was Kearns' answer, in effect.

"SHELBY AFFAIR IS BUSINESS PROPOSITION."

After having flatly turned down the proposition made to him, Kearns said:

"If it's sportsmanship they want, I'll let Dempsey fight Tommy Gibbons in private in a locked room, and Jack will knock him apart. That's how sporting we are. But this affair at Shelby is a business proposition. Sportsmanship does not enter into it.

Although Kearns professed to be undismayed by a threat of Attorney General Rankin to proceed

18 Drift 2000 Miles Under Sun, Tropic Storms

LONDON, June 29.—(By United Press.)—Having drifted 2000 miles across the Indian Ocean, suffering intensely under blazing suns and torrential storms, eighteen survivors of the Hain S. S. Company's steamer Trevessa, which stranded June 4, have arrived at the Souillac, South Maritius, according to cables received by the company here today.

Arrival of another boat load at Rodriguez Island, with the vessel's captain and sixteen others in a desperate condition, was reported Monday. The news today means that of the entire crew of the Trevessa, with exception of two natives who died of privation during the long tortures in midseas, only ten are missing. All the rest have been saved after adventures unprecedented in the annals of the sea.

The crew of the captain's lifeboat had a ration of two teaspoonfulls of milk and one biscuit every twenty-four hours.

'4-DAY' FLIGHT ENDS IN WRECK

San Diego Airmen Are Near Death in Crash As Engine Trouble Develops.

SAN DIEGO, June 29 (International News Service). — Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John B. Richter narrowly escaped death early today when in a forced landing their big DeHaviland "air marathon" plane turned completely over at Rockwell field. The machine was badly damaged, but the two intrepid aviators, who had then been in the air for almost 24 hours, crawled out virtually uninjured.

The forced landing was made on the mud flats of Spanish bight, a few hundred yards from the naval air station.

Before the accident occurred, Smith and Richter had smashed two world's records for speed. They covered 2500 kilometers in 18 hours, 15 minutes and 8 3-5 seconds, at a speed of 84.73 miles per hour, against the former record of 71 miles per hour. Continuing, they negotiated the 3000-kilometer mark in 22 hours, 3 minutes, 41 3-5 seconds, at exactly the same rate of speed, compared with the former mark of 71.69 miles per hour. Both previous records were made by MacReady and Kelly at Dayton, Ohio, last fall in the famous transcontinental monoplane T-2.

It was the second time that accident had forced a landing. On the first attempt a faulty generator forced a landing after six hours' flight.

The flyers went up yesterday morning at 4:46 a. m., and yesterday throughout the day received food, fuel and oil supplies in midair from a feeder ship piloted by Lieutenants Hines and Seifert.

Eleven contacts were made between the "feeder" plane and the record flyer and preparations were under way to again refuel the plane when the forced landing was made.

Democrat to Back Farmer-Labor Man

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, announced today in a telegram sent [illegible] office here, that he intended to campaign in Minnesota in behalf of Magnus Johnson, the farmer-labor candidate for United States senator.

"This does not mean," the senator said in the telegram, "that I have abandoned the Democratic party, but that I am convinced the Democratic candidate [illegible] time that the people have another progressive representative in the Senate."

Foster's Son-in-Law Mobbed By Miners

SCRANTON, Pa., June 29.—(By United Press.)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Manly, of New York, son-in-law and daughter of William Z. Foster, were mobbed today by miners attending the tri-district convention here after John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, had denounced them as "agency for destruction of the union."

Manly and an organizer named McCarthy, were beaten by delegates who overhauled them in courthouse square before they could get to a taxicab. Blood was streaming from the faces of the two.

French Vote Fund For Ruhr Campaign

PARIS, June 29.—(By International News Service.)—The French senate this afternoon at the request of Premier Poincare, voted 307,000,000 francs for the conduct of the Ruhr campaign.

The vote was unanimous. The premier had given assurances that Germany would be "forced to repay with the Ruhr costs getting priority."

J. A. BRITTON, NOTED P. G. E. EXPERT, DIES

Passing of Pillar of State Industry Occurs After a Brief Illness, Believed Due to Ptomaine Poisoning

Financier Begins Career in Eastbay and Wins Many Important Positions As Gas and Electric Manager

John Alexander Britton, a pillar of California industry and its social and educational structures, is dead.

A victim of ptomaine poisoning the end came suddenly this morning in the Wakefield sanitarium following an illness of a week. From the symptoms of his poisoning it is believed at the sanitarium that it had resulted from his eating mushrooms, although no record is had of his having done so. Van E. Britton, his son, said it was probable that he had partaken of the mushrooms while dining privately, but there was no assurance of this point.

Returning from a two-day trip to a power station in the northern part of the state, Britton was suddenly stricken last Friday morning. He presided at a banquet at the Bohemian club Saturday evening, at which many prominent men of the city and notables of the University of California were present, although he was ill at the time and partook of little food. Sunday morning he was taken to the sanitarium, where the medical staff working under Dr. B. Francis Wakefield was with him constantly, exerting its best efforts without avail to counteract the effects of the poison. At midnight his strength began to fail and at 3 o'clock this morning he died.

His death marks the passing of one of the outstanding figures of the West. As vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, he was a leader in the fields of western industry. As president of the Bohemian Club and member of a number of other select clubs and fraternal organizations his social prominence was eclipsed by none other. As a regent of the University of California he has added his skill to the administration of one of the leading educational establishments of the world.

CAREER'S FOUNDATION LAID IN OAKLAND.

The death of Britton is received in Oakland with more than the usual feeling because it was in this city that he laid the foundations of his career, and while in latter years he was claimed by a larger community he was essentially an Oaklander.

Entering the employ of the Oakland Gas Company in 1874 as clerk and collector, he remained with the concern and its successors in interest until the time of his death, when he was at the practical head of the organization which had expanded to a capitalization of $200,000,000.

As a young man in Oakland, Britton was a leader in community activities. He was organist in an Oakland church, and frequently sang in the choir. A school chum of David Belasco and Warfield, he was interested in dramatics, and for several years was dramatic critic for the Oakland Times.

He was always interested in several different occupations at the same time, but the gas and electric business was his penchant. He studied the engineering phases of these industries assiduously by attending night schools and by private reading and observation, accumulating a fund of knowledge that enabled him in later life to speak authoritatively on any phases of these industries.

He was born in Boston, Mass., [illegible] public schools of that city until April, 1868, when he came to San Francisco. He attended the Lincoln grammar school in that city until 1869. He married Florence Eastland in 1879.

BEGAN AS CLERK IN LAW OFFICE.

His worldly career began when he entered the law office of Charles A. Low as clerk in 1869, and subsequently became law clerk under Judge John Curry and Judge O. P. Evans of San Francisco. After entering the employ of the Oakland Gas Company in 1874 he advanced rapidly, and in 1883 was appointed secretary, and in 1901 president of the company. At almost the same time he was elected vice-president and general manager of the California Gas & Electric Corporation, serving in that capacity until his death. In 1905 he was made vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Gas & Electric Corporation, and in 1908 was appointed chief engineer of the organization, which position he held until his death. He was appointed regent of the University of California, to fill a vacancy caused by the retirement of ex-Governor Pardee, and was re-appointed by Governor Johnson in 1915 for the full term of sixteen years. He was a director of the Panama-Pacific International Ex-

U. S. STANDS PAT ON SHIP BOOZE

By FRASER EDWARDS.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The United States stands pat on its ship liquor policy.

This was the answer, in official circles today, to the speech by Lord Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs in the House of Lords, in which he condemned American practice in enforcing prohibition within the three-mile limit and rejected the Hughes proposal that the zone of territorial waters be extended to twelve miles.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Treasury officials revealed today for the first time that the proposal to seize liquor carrying liners in American waters had reached the stage where new regulations to carry such a policy into effect had been drafted in tentative form and were in the hands of the prohibition unit.

FRENCH LINERS WELL STOCKED.

NEW YORK, June 29.—A few hours after customs officials had broken the French government [illegible] moved 2227 litres of wines and liquors, the liner Rochambeau arrived in port yesterday from Havre with one of the biggest supplies of wet goods to come in since the treasury department ruling prohibiting the transportation of liquor over the three-mile limit.

The Canopic also arrived yesterday with a varied supply, under [illegible] gallons of liquors.

So far the seals on five vessels have been broken and their supplies taken. Action is awaited in the cases of the ten other ships.

TEST CASE POSSIBLE AT LOS ANGELES.

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—The first liquor cargo to arrive here, since the new "dry" ruling prohibiting foreign vessels from entering the three-mile limit with such cargoes, is due to come in July 28 on the Royal Mail Packet Cardiganshire.

RUM RUNNERS CAUGHT AT WHARF

S. F. Police Fire On Fugitive, Capture Two Men and Contraband Booze.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The wholesale landing of a large quantity of liquor was frustrated, two men were arrested and 49 cases of liquor were seized when the police surprised a gang of men runners at the Associated Oil docks at an early hour today. Shots were fired in an effort to capture others of the alleged conspirators, none of which, however, took effect. The men in custody are:

Harold McGuire, 27 years old, living at the Mint Hotel, charged with violating the prohibition laws and possession of liquor.

Frankel was taken into custody because he was on the wharf, no liquor having been found in his possession. McGuire was captured after the police had fired on him as he was dashing for liberty with a delivery wagon load of liquor.

Lieutenant Charles De Grancourt, Sergeant Jack Annear and Patrolman James Cronin of the Potrero Station, were the raiding officers. Only the precaution taken by the rum runners to have a lookout on guard prevented the capture of all of the gang and the seizing of a 70-foot gasoline sloop, believed to have smuggled the contraband from Canada.

How the rum runners managed to get by the bay guards and make their way to the isolated Associated Oil company wharf is not known. At 2 o'clock Sergeant Annear and Officer Cronin noticed a suspicious looking delivery wagon at Third [illegible]fied the station and with Lieutenant de Grancourt trailed it to the wharf. As they approached a man darted from behind a pile of lumber and spread the alarm.

Sergeant Annear fired after him, but he escaped in the darkness. Approaching the wharf from three directions with guns drawn, the trio of officers arrived in time to see the sloop disappearing in the darkness. They say that McGuire had jumped on his delivery automobile, and put on full speed ahead. Annear fired two shots at him. These had the desired effect and he halted and surrendered. In his machine were 26 cases of Gilmour-Thompson whisky. A second machine contained 14 cases of the same liquor and nine cases of Vermouth. Another empty delivery wagon was on the dock.

PRESIDENT TURNS DOWN BORAH FOES

Harding Refuses to Rebuke Idaho Senator at Behest of Faction Involved in the State Republican Quarrel

Sightseeing and Fishing in Yellowstone National Park Will Be Program of Tourists Saturday and Sunday

By LAWRENCE MARTIN.
Copyright 1923 by United Press.

WITH PRESIDENT HARDING, EN ROUTE TO BUTTE, Mont., June 29.—Efforts to get President Harding to lend his active support to the fight on Senator Borah fell through when the president turned down the pleas of Idaho politicians that he rebuke Borah while speaking in Idaho.

Borah today is fighting the whole Republican organization of his State for his political life. One group of party organization leaders is so embittered against him that its members want to throw him out of the nominating convention, refuse to seat Borah delegates and repudiate him in the most ruthless manner.

Another group quite as hostile, but afraid of a third party movement, will try to beat Borah for the Senatorial nomination without giving him a chance for a comeback.

INDEPENDENT MOVE MAY RESULT.

Borah's friends would not be sorry to see him excluded from the convention. The plain fact is that they—and Borah shares their feeling to a degree—would just as soon he ran as an independent.

The only thing that deters the party leaders from reading Borah out of the party right now is the ominous shadow of an important movement that might, they fear, cost the party the State in the 1924 campaign. It would take very little to crystallize third party sentiment, not only in Idaho but throughout the west, competent political observers in this section say.

Thus, more than Idaho is involved. The whole western country that holds the balance of power now more securely than ever might be swung if Idaho politicians went through with their plan to cast Borah out.

National party headquarters in Washington have been keeping a close watch on the situation, and it is likely that the strategy employed in the nominating convention will be directed from Washington.

PRESIDENT REFUSES TO BE INVOLVED.

President Harding wouldn't even let the Idaho politicians talk to him about it when they tried to enlist his aid. Harding has already made it plain that he wants no schemes in the party. Besides that, he is now counting on Borah's help eventually in getting the world court proposal through the senate. Harding understands how potent that assistance can be.

Protests against dismissal of Arthur Powell Davis, head of the reclamation service, were brought to President Harding's attention today. The President declined, however, to discuss the matter, saying he knew nothing about it, and secretary of the Interior Work was the man to talk to.

Reclamation Commissioner Swanson of Idaho, who has just returned from Washington, said the supplanting of A. P. Davis by D. W. Davis, former Idaho governor, was a move to bring about a business administration in the reclamation service to cut red tape and save money.

Harding today had two Montana speeches on his program, the first at Butte in the morning, the second at Helena tonight. He will then go into Yellowstone National Park [illegible] sume his journew westward Sunday night.

against him under the laws against fraud in case the fight should not come off, friends advised him to speak softly about Rankin.

SHELBY CONFIDENT; PLANS FOR INFLUX.

SHELBY, Mont., June 29 (By the Associated Press).—Confident that Jack Dempsey will fight Tom Gibbons here July 4, despite disquieting reports from Great Falls that financial details of the title bout were not progressing satisfactorily, Shelby today swung into the task of caring for the influx of visitors.

Utmost confidence is being placed in Mayor Jim Johnson by the fight fans of this little town. Expressions are heard on the streets frequently that "Jim will put it over." Johnson has pledged his personal funds to swing the payment of the third $100,000 of Dempsey's guarantee. That satisfies Shelby.

FAKE OFFER OF CASH SENDS SHELBY WILD.

SHELBY, Mont., June 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Shelby tore up its hats in wild excitement for a few minutes today when a telegram signed "Louis W. Till" was received at Mayor Jim Johnson's office, stating:

"Am leaving St. Paul tonight with sufficient cash and securities. Assure you Gibbons' friends and fight fans will not allow fight plans to fail. Want Tom to have opportunity to put profiteering Dempsey in hospital."

Everybody thought the message was from Louis W. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railroad, but later developments revealed that the message came from a practical joker.

Etna Sends Forth Fresh Lava Stream

BY UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

ROME, June 29.—Mount Etna, instead of returning to her smoky slumbers, is once more exploding and erupting, the upheavals apparently having received new impetus, according to the Giornal d'Italia's Cantania correspondent.

A fresh stream of lava, issuing from one of the newly torn crater mouths near Monte Nero, has branched off across the Filisi plains and now is advancing towards Lingua Glossa at a rate of 12 miles an hour, much faster than previous flows. A molten river fifty feet wide was only seven kilometers from the railroad station at Lingua Glossa as the correspondent sent his wire, he said.

Shelby Is Sore And Optimistic At Same Time

By DAVIS J. WALSH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

SHELBY, Mont., June 29.—Ominously quiet and inwardly seething, Shelby awaited today the decision as to whether Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons will box here July 4, or pack up and go elsewhere. This procedure will leave Shelby holding the bag hopefully over a hole into which $375,000 already has been poured and the town and environs, land-poor these many years, is not feeling particularly joyful about it today. With incurable optimism, it continued to insist that the final $100,000 due on Dempsey's contract would be paid when due and in the same breath it burst forth in violent excoriation of Jack Kearns because he declined to be satisfied with the $210,000 already paid him for the champion's services.

In other words, Shelby called Kearns an ignoramus one moment because he did not realize that the town was entirely solvent and a knave the next because he declined to be satisfied after it had been milked as dry as a handful of alkali dust.

JOHN A. BRITTON DIES SUDDENLY

position Company, a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and American Society of Civil Engineers, the National Electric Light Association, member and former president of the Pacific Coast Gas Association and a member of the American Gas Institute.

He was a contributor of various papers to technical journals on the development of gas and electricity on the Pacific coast, and a recognized authority on hydro-electrical subjects.

In Masonry he was past master of the Oakland Lodge No. 188, past master of the Oakland Commandery, No. 11, Knights Templar, and a 33rd degree Mason in Scottish Rite. He was a past grand of the I. O. O. F. and was a member of the Pacific Union, Bohemian, Presidio Golf, San Francisco Golf and Country Clubs and the Oakland Lodge of Elks.

Dr. W. W. Campbell, president of the University of California, and Dr. David P. Barrows, retiring president, spoke feelingly of the loss to the university in Britton's death.

"The University of California feels profoundly the loss of Regent John A. Britton," said Barrows. "He served this institution intimately for years. Probably no one outside the company of the regents can appreciate the time he gave to the university, or the importance of the matters which his colleagues left in his hands. He was very dear to this community; very devoted to it. His loss seems irreparable."

DOCTORS REFUSE TO TAKE ACTION ON 'DRY' LAW

Medical Associations Urged to Punish Physicians Who Violate Volstead Act.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—However popular the Volstead law may or may not be, it is receiving the silent acquiescense of the medical profession. At the closing session of the legislative body of the American Medical Association last night four resolutions condemning certain phases of the dry law were tabled as undebatable, and resolutions adopted excoriating any of the liquors for any purpose other than medicinal.

And, incidentally, clinical lecturers declared before the convention delegates that delirium tremens has become so rare since prohibition went into effect that practice in this malady is becoming almost obsolete.

County and state medical associations throughout the United States were called upon to punish, if necessary, physicians who violate the liquor laws.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Dr. W. A. Pusey of Chicago was elected president of the association for the term 1924-25, and Dr. William E. Musgrave of San Francisco, vice-president. Dr. Olin West, who is serving out the term of Dr. Craig, deceased, was elected secretary, and Dr. Austin A. Hayden of Chicago was re-elected treasurer. Dr. F. C. Warnshuis of Grand Rapids was re-elected speaker of the house of delegates. Chicago was selected as the city for the 1924 convention.

The resolutions affecting the government's attitude in administration of the Volstead law, were not read until adjournment was almost at hand. Without opposition the house declared for the issuance of bottled in bond liquor for medicinal purposes in prescribed sizes. Then the reference committee presented a majority report in favor of resolutions offered by Dr. Victor Veckie of San Francisco, condemning the requirement that the nature of a patient's illness be disclosed by the physician, and the regulations limiting the amount of liquor he may prescribe.

FEARED PUBLIC CRITICISM.

Dr. Isaac Abt of Chicago made a motion to table the whole subject, upon the grounds that they would not improve the situation, that they gave erroneous impressions to the public of the association's attitude, and that they were confusing and might bring ill repute to the association. This resolution was adopted with slight opposition.

Governor Al Smith of New York was commended in a resolution for his policy of counciling with members of the medical profession in determining matters of public health. Creation of additional sections of the association were voted down, and radiology was recognized as an integral part of the practice of medicine and surgery.

The president, president-elect, and the speaker of the house were made members of the board of trustees, and two years was fixed as the term of office of sectional delegates and delegates of the army, navy and public health service. A bureau of public health and instruction was established to replace the council on the same subjects.

SKIN DISEASE EXPERT.

Dr. Pusey, president-elect, is editor of the "Archives of Dermatology," and is the author of several books on medical subjects. He was treasurer of the association for eleven years and is a professor of skin diseases at the University of Illinois School of Medicine.

Completing the official staff of the association, Dr. Rock Sleyster of Wauwatosa, Wis., was elected vice-speaker and the following trustees were named: Dr. J. J. Upham, Chicago; Dr. Charles W. Richardson, Washington D. C.; Dr. Walter T. Williamson of Portland.

Judicial Council, Dr. W. S. Thayer of Baltimore, to succeed himself; Council of Health and Public Instruction, Dr. George Blumer of New Haven, Conn., to succeed Dr. Victor C. Vaughan of Chicago; Council on Medical Education and Hospitals, Dr. Arthur D. Bevan of Chicago, to succeed himself, and Dr. L. B. Wilson of Rochester, Minn., to suceced Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur; Council on Scientific Assembly, Dr. Roger S. Morris of Cincinnati, to succeed himself.

The convention proper was concluded last night, but a number of post-convention clinics are scheduled for today and tomorrow.

Doctor's Address Puzzles Audience

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Of course, not everyone understands what is going on at the convention of the American Medical association here.

For instance:

Dr. Howard C. Haffziger of San Francisco, spoke on "Anatomic Considerations in Ventriculography."

He compared "ventriculograms of cases coming to necropsy with demonstration of final complete findings," and the "relations of the ventricular system to total subarachnoid space."

The audience looked intelligent. The reporter tried to.

"Slush Fund" Denied In Whip Death Trial

LAKE CITY, Fla., June 9.—[illegible] "slush fund" had been raised in North Dakota to prosecute Thomas Walter Higginbotham, convict whipping boss, and to pay expenses of G. Grimson, assistant attorney general of North Dakota, to come to Florida to spread "propaganda" and coach witnesses, which was characterized by the state as a play to prejudice the jury, featured yesterday's session of the Higginbotham trial.

Higginbotham is charged with the murder of Martin Tabert of North Dakota, being accused of having whipped the Dakotan so severely that it brought about his death while Tabert was confined as a convict in the county lease camp of the Putnam Lumber company, 16 months ago.

History Of Title Holders At Wimbledon

NEW YORK, June 29.—Only one Briton has won the title at Wimbledon since 1909. In that year A. W. Gore won the world championship in singles.

In 1911, H. Roper Barrett, a Britisher, was runner up. So was A. W. Gore in 1912.

With the exception of the years 1920 and 1921 when Tilden scored so sensationally Australians have won.

The late Anthony F. Wilding won from 1910 to 1913 inclusive. Norman E. Brooks scored in 1914. Then followed the lapse of the war years when Gerald Patterson won in 1919 and 1922.

Vincent Richards or "Little Bill" Johnston may have the honor of finishing in front in 1923. Judging by early rounds they are at top of their form and will take a lot of beating.

Public Links Boys Meet in Golf Final

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Two [illegible] of them a former caddie and a chum of Gene Sarazen, open champion, reached the final round in the national public links championship.

J. Stewart Whitham and Richard Walsh are the finalists. They will play 36 holes for the title today over the East Potomac Park course where the championship has been in progress for the last three days. Walsh was runner-up in the first public links championship last year while Whitham is a comparative unknown and was not picked as a member of the New York team which competed for the Harding cup earlier in the week.

BALLET ADDED TO MERCHANT OF VENICE PLAY

"Carnival" Suite, Russian Dance, Will Be Given During Second Act.

BERKELEY, June 29.—In order the achieve a suitable "esprit" for the street-revelry scenes in the forthcoming production of "The Merchant of Venice" in the Greek theater Saturday evening, and to take advantage of the great size of the stage with crowds of maskers and suitable pageantry, Reginald Travers announces that he has arranged with Joseph Paget Fredericks to stage a ballet with a corps of dancers during the course of the second act of the drama. Schumann's "Carnival" suite, one of the Russian Ballet's most successful numbers, will be danced, with quaint costumes designed by Fredericks to give the spirit of the old Italian carnival scenes.

Another feature of the production will be the tenor solos, "Hark, Hark, the Lark," as a serenade to Jessica, and the old glee, "Tell Me Where is Fancy Bred?" in the Bassanio casket scene. These will be sung by Nelson McGee.

The rehearsals which have been in daily progress the past three weeks, indicate a finished production.

Reginald Travers, experienced as a Shakespearean director and actor, plays Shylock. He has staged many memorable productions in the Greek theater, including King Lear, in which he played the aged monarch, Julius Caesar and Richard III, with William S. Rainey as Richard. Rainey is Bassanio on this occasion, having been brought from New York to play the part. Hedwiga Reicher, one of the foremost actresses of Germany and America, will play Portia. Eugenia Gray, late of the Benson Company of Stratford-on-Avon, is Nerissa, and Helen Saunders, Jessica.

Others in the cast include Arthur Pierson as Gratiano, William H. Cocks, Antonio; Carl Kroenke, the Prince of Morocco; Frederick H. Smith, the Prince of Arragon; Frederick McNulty and Russell Cole as Salanio and Salerino; Barrie Hopkins, Lorenzo; Louis Wood White, Launcelot Gobbo; Guy Kibber, Old Gobbo; Harold Ervin, Balthasar; Carroll Aronovici, Stephano, and a host of extra people.

100 Offer Skin To Save Life of Child Sufferer

JACKSON, Miss., June [illegible].—(United Press.)—Skin from more than 100 Jacksonians, who volunteered their "two inches" after learning of the Spartan-like fight waged against death, is expected to save the life of Velma Jones, 10, now under treatment at the State Charity hospital here. Skin grafting is to start soon.

Velma was burned from head to foot last February when she stood too near a red-hot stove. Physicians in the interior Mississippi town where she lived gave her case up as hopeless. Parents, who had no money to send her to a private sanatorium, brought her to the State Charity hospital. Dr. David Walley, superintendent, said her case was hopeless, but that he would see what high-power electric rays would do.

A tent effect was built over her hospital bed and part of her body and three high-voltage electric bulbs placed under the "tent" and left burning all the time. No improvement was noticed until a week ago, when her burns started to heal. Skin was needed for certain portions of the body untouched by the healing rays and the call was issued? In the first two days 100 Jacksonians had responded and several persons from distant points in the state had offered to come here at their own expense to help save the child's life.

U. S. DECLARED IN THROTTLE OF NITRATE TRUST

Control of Prices Now Rests With Committee of British Import House.

WASHINGTON, June 28. — A combination of British and Chilean interests in controlling prices and production of nitrate and forcing the United States, which buys half of the nitrate exported from Chile, to pay higher prices than are warranted, according to Charles A. Brand, marketing specialist of the department of agriculture. After a study of the situation in Europe, Brand has made a report in which he asserts that control of prices for Chile nitrates practically rests with a London committee made up of representatives of British nitrate houses.

NO COMPETITION.

"In consequences of the existence of a producers' association, controlling about 97 per cent of the output, and the methods of operation pursued thereunder," says Brand, "competition which might force efficiency and economy in the production of the fertilizer is virtually eliminated, and the United States is left without any say as to the price. The present method of price-fixing affords no incentive to efficient production, and thus keeps prices higher than they need be.

"In theory the price-fixing is done by a committee in Chile, but in reality by a London sub-committee whose recommendations are almost invariably adopted. Unless continued, the association will expire January 10, next. It is the belief of the British trade that the life of the association will be extended. The association has performed some useful services, but the general effect of its price-fixing arrangement is injurious to nitrate consumers.

U. S. CONSUMPTION.

"The importance of the Chile nitrate trade to the United States appears from the fact that its consumption for agricultural purposes alone has been as high as 300,000 tons in a single year. The total consumption by the United States last year was 725,000 tons, out of a world consumption of 1,850,000 tons.

FOREST CONTROL BY GOVERNMENT URGED BY EXPERT

5,000,000 Stripped Yearly By Sawmills, Wisconsin Economist Warns

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 29.—The saw mills of the nation are stripping 5,000,000 acres of forest land a year, and a very serious situation will result within a decade, if the pace of the lumbermen is not stopped, Dr. Richard T. Ely, University of Wisconsin land economist and director of the National Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities, said today.

Dr. Ely, speaking before the farm lands division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in session here, advocated the establishment of definite land policies for state and nation, to solve the problem of the increasing areas of idle lands.

"There are 245,000,000 acres of cut-over lands operating at a low rate of efficiency, of which 40,000,000 lie in the lake states alone," he said. "There are also 80,000,000 acres of burnt over and devastated acres absolutely idle."

Ely also stated that the tendency to more idle lands was increased by the tendency to increase production on present farms. From 1910 to 1920 our population increased 15 per cent, he said, and three million persons have been added since, but the acreage farm lands increased but nine per cent.

"Thousands of acres of land once wrested from the wilderness by the toil of man has gone back to brush, forest or pasture in practically all the states of the east. Not so long ago one-half of Connecticut was classed as improved farm land; today only one-fourth of the state is so classed.

GOVERNMENTAL CONTROL.

Ely said that as a leading feature of a land policy certain kinds of lands, "forest lands particularly" should be owned and controlled by the government to a large extent.

He advocated the creation of forest areas in large blocks, so that administration and fire protection would be economically possible.

"All this land would then be taken off the market and there would no longer exist the temptation nor the necessity for unloading it on the unsuspecting purchasers," he declared.

NATIONAL COMMISSION.

Ely said that he would not discourage private enterprise from practicing forestry, but that the present system of taxation of unproductive timber lands would have to be radically changed before private capital could be induced to enter the field.

Ely recommended:

(1) A national land commission, created by legislation, to determine a national land policy and to carry out such a policy.

(2) Government ownership of forests and certain other kinds of land, but not producing farm lands.

(3) A comprehensive program for land settlement, to include selection of settlers as well as land, provision for proper credit facilities and a reasobable program of land taxation.

(4) Classification of different kinds of lands as to best uses to which they may be put.

Government Control of the Liquor Voted Down at Recent Referendum

By HENRY WOOD.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

GENEVA, June . —That the United States "dry" regime hasn't created any wild desire in Europe for emulation, is indicated by the recent Swiss referendum, defeating by over 100,000 votes the proposal to start going dry gradually via the government control and increasing liquor tax route.

The Swiss dry advocates had been led to think that the average Swiss had reached a point where he was willing to tighten up a bit on his "schnaps," as a result of a recent referendum which successfully abolished absinthe. What he failed to reckon on was that nobody in Switzerland cared a rap about absinhte, while everybody cares a whopping big bit about "schnaps."

The proposed bill, which was defeated by a popular vote of 357,779 against 259,068, provided for the passing of the 36,000 Swiss distilleries, big and little, under control of the government, which would have the right gradually to diminish the production. The government was also to have the right to diminish private production of booze, which has reached large proportions in Switzerland.

In fact, out of 3612 Swiss communities, 3000 have their own private means of turning out "schnays" and produce altogether some 80,000 hectoliters of alcohol annually.

It was largely these communities, the rural districts, which gave the coup de grace to the government control project.

Switzerland's present alcoholic consumption is placed at $140 per capita annually and the project providing that in addition to decreasing the amount of "schanps" the price should be increased so that it would give the government some $5,000,000 additional taxes annually failed to impress the thrifty Swiss, who has an initiative and referendum right to decide what laws he wants and don't want.

Movie Mad Girls, Waitresses Form Horde of Hikers

COLUMBUS, Neb., June . —Movie struck girls and waitresses hunting new jobs! Hoboes and single men and floating laborers!

These made up the greatest number of men and women hikers given a lift by two automobile parties between the Atlantic seaboard and Columbus.

Willet Hartnet, Washington, D. C., newspaper man, who arrived in Columbus recently, said that along the Lincoln Highway there is scarecely an automobile tourist who is not importuned from 10 to 20 times a day to give a ride to some man or woman hiker.

In the course of four weeks' travel, Hartnet, on his way here from the east, gave lifts to 193 hikers and passed up 400 more. Of these 75 were women and 118 were men.

Among the girls, 50 were on pleasure trips to the mountains of Colorado or the lakes of Wisconsin and Minnesota. Most of these were either college girls, school teachers or business women. The rest of those whom Hartnet and his wife met said they were hiking to Los Angeles in the hope of getting into the movies. The others were waitresses or domestics walking to new jobs.

Of the 118 men, a few proved to be college students on vacation jaunts. The rest were either tradesmen or floating laborers, 18 to 60 years of age.

Women Urged to Fit Selves to Earn Own Living

(By International News Service.)

AKRON, Ohio, June . —Miss Josephine Bauman, clerk of the City Council, believes every woman should fit herself to keep the wolf from the door if the necessity arises. She heartily supports the theory of Woodbridge N. Ferris, of Michigan, who recently advised the girls of the Packard Commercial school not to marry till they were able to support their husbands.

However Miss Bauman disagrees with the statement credited to Amy Lowell, Boston poetess, who said she believed the average woman was not intended for intellectual life.

"Women are entitled to the same opportunities as men when it comes to earning their living," Miss Bauman holds. She has been her own breadwinner more years than she will confess and is considered one of the best-posted employes on municipal [illegible] inhabitants.

If all birds were to disappear from the earth tomorrow in a year there would be no vegetation left it is said.

SURPRISE SPRUNG AT WRECK TRIAL

BAKERSFIELD, June 29. — Only on more witness remains for the prosecution in the tiral of Jesus Medina, charged with being implicated in the wrecking of Santa Fe train number 22 on December 2, 1922. Today the defense will begin its testimony if the prosecution concludes its case. Attorney James Petrini, representing the defendant, was offered the opportunity of beginning his case yesterday, but he refused, saying, "I want to see what the prosecution has first."

Two unexpected witnesses were heard, the first being Mrs. Guadlaque Costello, who testified to a conversation she had with Medina after the wreck in which she says he cursed the dead members of the train crew. Mrs. Costello alleges that "It was a very, very bad wreck," replied, "Yes, and now those ——— are all dead and gone to hell."

The other surprise witness of the day was J. N. Huston, a farmer who lives immediately across the highway from A. F. Montano, indicted on the same charge as Medina.

The afternoon session was largely taken up with a cross-examination of Huston, in an effort of the defense to impeach him.

15,000 Rail Workers Given Wage Increase

CHICAGO, June 29.—Increases ranging from 1 to 2 cents an hour for maintenance of way men on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway, effective June 1, were announced last night by W. E. Storey, president, in a letter t othe United States Railroad Labor board.

The increase affects approximately 15,000 men and means an increase of approximately $755,000 to the annual payroll.

NEW DREDGE MAY SAVE MILLIONS

CINCINNATI, June 29.—(By Associated Press).—When the new government owned hydraulic dredge, now under construction at Charleston, W. Wa., glides down the skids into the Ohio river, some five months hence, a large government project will have started on its way.

This dredge is degned to eliminate a number of proposed dams in the Ohio river, which are now a part of the fifty-four government river dam projects on that stream. If it does what government engineers confidently expect of it a saving of many millions of dollars will be realized.

This boat is the realization of the dream of C. B. Harris, a government engineer who recently died at his home here. He supervised the drawing of the plans.

The dredge, named after Mr. Harris, will be 175 feet long and fifty feet wide. The suction and discharge pipe will be twenty-four inches in diameter and operated by a Diesel engine of 1000 horsepower. The pipe will run fore and aft, and the sand, gravel and other material sucked from the bottom of the river will be emptied into barges at the stern.

The cost of this dredge is estimated at $350,000, including equipment. One of the features will be a double truck ten-ton traveling crane. The dredge will accommodate forty-two persons, besides having two large mess rooms, and other modern conveniences.

LEWISBURG, W. Va., June 29.—The Rev. W. E. Wilburn, mountaineer preacher, who laid down his Bible for a rifle during the miners' armed offensive on two West Virginia counties, has gone back to the Bible and the truth, according to his testimony in the trial of William Blizzard here today. Blizzard is charged with accessory to murder.

Facing a penitentiary term for second degree murder in connection with the miners' march, the Rev. Wilburn, testifying as a witness for the prosecution, stirred the courtroom when he declared the defense testimony in his trial was "framed up" by his attorneys, H. W. Houston and T. C. Townsend, in conference with him in the Charlestown jail.

BAND ORGANIZED.

WALNUT CREEK, June 29.—Through the efforts of W. H. Durbin, a band has been organized in Walnut Creek with Rev. William Burchett as leader and director. At the first meeting twenty men from Walnut Creek and Danville joined and it is thought that many more will join at the next meeting.

ARTILLERY UNIT TO TAKE PART IN LIVERMORE RODEO

Battery C Is Drilling Also in Preparation for Annual Summer Camp.

LIVERMORE, June 29.—Battery C, 143d F. A. C., N. G., Livermore's state artillery organization, is working day and night perfecting itself for the military encampment at Gigling, near Monterey, to be held July 7 to 22, and for the parts the members will take in the Livermore Stockmen's sixth annual rodeo July 3 and 4.

The Livermore rodeo is the only show of its kind in the world which has artillery events on its program. Units will stage a battery race between two French 15 mm. guns. Spectators who saw the race during the military tournament last year will vouch for the excitement of the contest.

Real shell will be fired in the section contest which shows practically every phase of artillery work. The race starts with the horses tied to the wheels. At the shot the drivers harness, leap into the saddle and with the cannoneers hanging on the carriage race down the arena, turn and tear back to the starting point. Before the carriages come to a complete stop the cannoneers dismount and prepare the piece for action and the shot is discharged. Much friendly rivalry has arisen between the members of the competing sections and quick action will be the rule during the contest.

Saturday, July 7, Battery C leaves Livermore for the annual encampment at Gigling. The camp this year, in the opinion of Major Joseph Rodgers, instruction officer for the battalion, will be the best ever held by California guardsmen.

Athletic events will be held each day and prizes will be given to the champions in each event. The first three days of the encampment will be taken up by preparations for a field meet which will be held on the fourth day.

After staying at Gigling for several days it is planned to take the batteries to Del Monte, Carmel and Salinas, where the artillerymen will be given an opportunity to view the Salinas rodeo.

Over fifty men from Livermore organizations will make the trip and new recruits are being added daily. Captain R. E. Merritt, is especially anxious to make a good showing at camp this year and has worked hard to put the battery on a firm military foundation. Lieutenant L. E. Wright is the best fire officer in the battalion and he is expected to take off first honors in the camp drills.

A farewell dance will be given in Battery C armory Friday night, July 6, and all the friends of the battery have been invited to be present.

Million-Acre Water District Proposed

FRESNO, June 29.—Realization of the million-acre pine flat water storage district and solution of many of its difficult engineering and legal problems within the next 90 days was the outstanding indication of yesterday's conference of 35 representatives of 27 units within the proposed water storage area of the Kings river.

The legal committee will report to the executive committee in 30 days.

Within 60 days the engineering committee will report on amounts of water required by each separate unit and will dispose of a vexing underground water supply question.

The executive committee will then call another general conference at which executive boards of the 27 units will report what proportion of the cost of the pine flat project each district is willing to bear.

Russian Students Aided in Berlin

[illegible] sociated Press.)—Three military barracks in Berlin have been converted into dormitories for needy Russian students. The German Red Cross, the Russian section of the League of Nations, the Young Men's Christian Association, and the European Students Relief each contributed to the undertaking.

This effort is typical of what is being done throughout central Europe to make more endurable the lot of self supporting students.

Liberals in Sweden Incline to Prohibition

STOCKHOLM, June 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Prohibition as a plank in the liberal platform is responsible for a reduction in liberal party representation in the lower house of parliament from 110 members ten years ago to 39 at the present time.

At a recent extraordinary meeting of the Liberal party this question was discussed, and after a long debate on the question whether or not to include prohibition in the party platform, 77 voted for and 56 against its inclusion.

Party Planned For Echo Lake Camp

[illegible] comes to the Recreation Department that there are 50 guests at the municipal camp at Echo Lake in the High Sierras.

Another party will leave here tomorrow for the camp, according to Recreation Director Hjelte of the [illegible]

From Berkeley to Sacramento the trip may be made over the Sacramento Short Line and at Sacramento the municipal campers continue their journey by stage. At Placerville a stop is made for [illegible] the camp is continued.

Brazil's 1922 Trade Has Good Surplus

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—Brazil's balance of trade for the year 1922, according to official figures published here showed a surplus of about 679,000 contos of [illegible] slightly less than a hundred million dollars. The two preceding years the balances were against the country, which indicates a notable change in the currents of foreign trade during the last year.

PATRICK URGES INCREASED AIR FORCE FOR U. S.

Future Wars Will Require a Big Plane Fleet to Guard Country, He Says.

(By International News Service.)

KANSAS CITY, June 29—Future safety of the United States may depend on the air service Major-General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the U. S. Air Service, believes.

General Patrick recently paid a visit of inspection to the new flying field here. He is a member of the old school—forty-one years in the army.

"There have been just wars and there will just wars. Let us be prepared for them," General Patrick declared. "The victories of future wars will be determined in the air," he continued.

"The work of the Air Service Department is hampered. My hands are tied by Congress. There seems to be a feeling that there will be no more war and that there is no need for development in the air.

POINTS TO HISTORY.

"In answer let me refer to history. During the last 147 years there has been a definite need for our army in an active way on an average of once every eighteen months.

"The air service is the eyes of the army. We don't want to go into battle like a blindfolded boxer.

"The second purpose of the air service is to combat the enemy. The air force of the United States is qualitatively equal to or superior to that of any other nation, but it is not large enough.

"Whether war may come from outside or from internal strife, it may be that some day we will have to hold up our heads and say 'You shall not' to someone and it is imperative that we be prepared.

"As to the commercial side of the development of the air service we are on the eve of an era of extremely rapid transportation.

"The exploit of those two for my boys who recently spanned the continent in a day was not done to make records, which were incidental, but to test and better equipment to demonstrate what can be done and to experiment in the field of long-distance flying."

PERSONNEL TOO SMALL

As to the present air service General Patrick said there are 880 officers and 8,500 enlisted men in the service—"an exceedingly small number in comparison with other nations."

A recent allotment of 1,700 additional men to the service will help out greatly, he said. He also told of the United States superiority in the development of some of the air service.

"Metal planes are coming into greater use," he said. "With them we get speeds of from 160 to 180 miles an hour—10 to 15 miles an hour faster than those of other countries."

An airport is essential to every community, he said, in connection with commercial development of the airplane.

General Patrick said that he did not believe the small low powered light plane, such as the one weighing less than 100 pounds used in a successful flight over the English Channel recently, has much of a place in army air equipment.

"In training its use is valuable," he said.

He also said an advanced type of plane designed by American engineers is supplanting the De Haviland models, which now are standard.

Army Auctioneer Denies Conspiracy

LOS ANGELES, June 9.—Daniel Greenberg, auctioneer at the army goods at Camp Kearny in February, 1922, denied on the witness stand yesterday the charge of [illegible] to defraud the government in connection with the sales for which he and five other civilians and two army officers are on trial in the United States [illegible].

Greenberg said he was appointed auctioneer in regular manner through application to War Department [illegible] the goods were knocked down to the highest bidders in every case.

European Peasants Offered Cotton Land

(United Press.)—Forty and eighty acre tracts of the world's finest cotton lands are to be offered to European peasants on long-term notes by business men of Greenwood, in the heart of the long staple cotton belt of the United States.

S. M. Doit, business man of Greenwood, suggested the plan, which was endorsed by the planters and merchants of that city at a mass meeting. He is to go to northern Europe this summer and sell the land to the farmers and arrange for their transportation to the delta region.

Expenses of the plan, about $30,000, are to be borne by Greenwood business men and will be raised at a meeting to be held soon.

Greenwood is in the heart of the negro belt of Mississippi and planters have been seriously handicapped by the labor shortage, resulting from negro exodus to the north. They believe the Doit plan will relieve the labor shortage.

ARCTIC PLAN HUNT DELAYED

DETROIT, June 29.—(By Associated Press)—The aerial Arctic hunting trip which a group of New York and Detroit men planned to make in a seaplane some time this month has been postponed until August. The postponement [illegible] decided upon because of the number of large icebergs reported in the north regions by the Montreal Geodetic Survey.

The seaplane Polar Bear, in which the flight is to be made, is nearly completed and gasoline supplies already have been sent along the route to be followed.

According to C. F. Reddin, who with Inglis M. Uppercu, of New York, arranged the trip, the flight will be over water all the way. The Hudson will be followed to Albany, thence over Lakes George and Champlain to Montreal and up the Ottawa river to the Abitibi lakes. From there the Moose River will be followed to Moose Factory and James Bay will provide the way into the Arctic circle.

The Polar Bear is to be equipped with a powerful wireless telephone that will enable the party to keep in touch with Ottawa.

Besides Uppercu and Reddin the party will include Howard E. Coffin, Harold H. Emmons, Dr. James W. Inches and William E. Metzger of Detroit.

The trip is expected to last about a month, two weeks of which will be spent in hunting walrus and polar bears.

INDIANS TO LEASE LANDS FOR OIL

FARMINGTON, N. M., June 29.—First steps toward opening of a possible new oil and mineral field in the southwest are expected to be taken at a tribal council of Navajo Indians at Toadlena, N. M. [illegible] Hagerman, commissioner to the Navajo tribe, has called the convention, the first meeting of the council as provided by an order issued last autumn by Secretary of the Interior Fall, after oil was discovered in commercial quantities on the reservation near Farmington, and amended recently by Secretary Work. [illegible] representatives will attend the conference at which it is believed likely, oil leases will be granted.

Toadlena, where the tribe representatives will gather, is in the Chu-ka mountains, not far from the section that has aroused the interest of geologists and which, some experts believe, may contain oil in paying quantities.

Say you saw it in The TRIBUNE.

SOVIETS FREE RUSS PATRIARCH

MOSCOW, June 29.—(By the Associated Press).—Dr. Tikhon, former patriarch of all Russia, is free and at ease in the Donskoy monastery, just outside Moscow.

Dr. Tikhon said that he did not recognize the action of the church conclave in unfrocking him, but he reiterated his readiness to abandon counter-revolutionary activities and recognize the authority of the Soviet government.

The aged patriarch was released [illegible] wanted especially to deny what he termed the absurd report in the foreign press that he had been put in the electric chair in the prison and tortured. He had been well treated.

Dr. Tikhon said he would check the counter-revolutionary activities of Bishop Antonin of the Living church and foreign priests, and he thought they would surely obey him.

MANY JULY 4 FETES PLANNED

Several Oakland and San Francisco organizations are to spend July 4 in Redwood Canyon. Three picnics will be held in the various outing resorts there.

The big annual out-door frolic of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company will be held at Pinehurst Park.

St. Boniface church, San Francisco, is to give its annual parish picnic at Canyon Park.

Trains over the Sacramento Short Line will be run at frequent intervals. San Francisco passengers will leave on Key Route ferry boats at 8, 9:40, 11:20 a. m., and 1 and 3 o'clock p. m. Oakland passengers will board trains connecting with these boats. They will leave the Fortieth street and Shafter avenue depot a half hour later than the ferry time at San Francisco.

One of the largest picnics of the year will be that of the William Diamond Company employes, who have selected Saturday for their picnic and annual outing. They will gather at Pinehurst and participate in games, sports and dancing.

The San Francisco employees will leave the ferry buildng at 9:40 a. m. and be joined by the Eastbay delegation at the Fortieth street and Shafter avenue depot at 10:10 o'clock.

Society Happenings

Society Departs For Tahoe and Lake District

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Makinson will spend the Fourth at Del Monte joining a coterie of friends who will motor down for the festivities that are to be a feature of the day.

The country home of the A. A. Moores is open for the season at Mission San Jose. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Valentine and their children left Saturday and will entertain with a house party over the Fourth.

Later in the season the family group will include Dr. and Mrs. William Musgrave of San Francisc, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Donald McClure, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Starr and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moore with their respective families.

Another party for the fourth is that of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Wickham Havens and they will be joined by a coterie of congenial friends, in the Truckee River country.

✡ ✡ ✡

Mr. and Mrs. Edward French Steen (Mary Frances Porter) have returned from their honeymoon and have taken a home in Berkeley.

✡ ✡ ✡

ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF NIECE.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hutchinson of the Regillus apartments have as their guest their niece, Miss Vera de Young, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Sebatian Cline of St. Louis, Mo. The party will motor through the southern part of the state. Later Miss de Young will be joined by her aunt and will leave for a tour of the Orient and Europe in the fall.

✡ ✡ ✡

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rasener together with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. Davis are entertaining their kinfolk, Mr. and Mrs. Heinrich Rosenbaum of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This is their first trip to the coast. Dr. Rabbi I. Coffee of Sinai Temple, a personal friend, also entertained for the visitors.

✡ ✡ ✡

Mr and Mrs. Frank Edoff will spend the summer at Tahoe Tavern, Lake Tahoe, where a large number of the Eastbay set will be guests.

✡ ✡ ✡

ARRIVE AT LAKE TAHOE.

Today Miss Julia Crawford and Hardin C. Crawford, her brother, arrived at the Tavern. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Hardin Crawford of Sealright, New Jersey, Mrs. Crawford being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clay of Piedmont. The Phillip Clays with their children left earlier in the week for the resort accompanied by their children Edna and Phillip Jr., and Miss Edna Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sherman.

Miss Crawford attends the Farmington school for girls in the east and young Crawford is a Princeton student.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Easton are guests at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles while sojourning in that part of the state.

✡ ✡ ✡

A visitor to the bay region is Mrs. Robert M. Underhill and her young daughter, Jean. They are dividing their time between the home of Mrs. C. M. Partridge, mother of the young matron and Mrs. George L. Underhill, of Berkeley.

* * *

Miss Henrietta Brewer has motored to Pasadena to be present at the marriage of Miss Marjorie Weston Moor, a former Oakland girl, and Horace R. Boynton Jr. The ceremony is to be performed at the home of Mrs. Eldridge Fowler in the Crown City. Mr. and Mrs. Boynton will reside in Pasadena after a trip of several weeks to the bay region. During their stay in this city Miss Brewer will give a reception for them at her home in Kingston avenue.

CHURCH WEDDING IS SOCIAL EVENT.

The First Christian church of this city was the scene of the marriage Sunday afternoon of Miss Thelma Leichter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Leichter, and Julius Westerterp. Rev. H. O. Breeden, pastor, officiated. Many friends of the young couple assembled at the church at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Glen [illegible] and Miss Louise Brown were soloists. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Art Taylor of San Francisco. The bride's father gave her in marriage, and Miss Dolly Ebberts was maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were Miss Vivian Deere, Mrs. William Karno, Mrs. H. G. House, sister of the bride, and Miss Fola Leichter. Little Dorothea Taylor and Velma Hall were flower maidens.

J. Westerterp, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride was a co-ed at the University of California. Westerterp is a son of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Westerterp, of Lynden, Washington.

The young couple will reside in Petaluma, where an attractive new home awaits them.

MRS. ROBERT M. UNDERHILL, who was Miss Grace Partridge of Berkeley and who, accompanied by her little daughter, Jean, is a visitor here.—Boussum Photo.

GUILD SALE SUCCESS.

VALLEJO, June 29.—The June tea and food sale held on Wednesday afternoon by the Guild of the Ascension church was one of the best attended social gatherings of the season. The program was arranged by Mrs. Clara Thomes, organist of the church.

SHIPYARDS LOSE $600,000 TO U. S.

SEATTLE, June 29.—The government stands to gain $600,000 at an early date as a result of a decree obtained in federal court here, according to counsel for the shipping board, plaintiff in the action. The decree handed down yesterday, awarded the government a judgment of $2,970,338.98 against the Sloan Shipyard Corporation, the Anacortes Shipbuilding Company and the Capital City Iron Works and the $600,000 represents the assets of the three concerns immediately available.

The suit arose from the government's seizure of the three yards because of their failure to complete twelve vessels for the shipping board, and a mortgage the companies gave the government at that time. The action was begun nearly three years ago.

WHIST PARTY PLANNED.

St. Bernard's parish will give a whist in the Parish Hall, Sixty-second avenue and East Seventeenth street, Saturday evening. The ladies have completed their preparations. The committee consists of Mrs. M. Nagy, Mrs. M. DeCarrie, J. McKinney, A. E. Nejedly, J. J. Hennessy, R. Carlisle, T. Meaney, H. Parsons, G. Hunter, T. O'Leary, R. R. Roseborough, Miss K. Donlon, Marie Flossman.

Water Power Is Taking Industries From Big Cities

CHICAGO, June 29.—(By The Associated Press.)—With motion pictures, radio and numberless devices that have come along with the electrical age, the country no longer is a "lonesome place," and with transmission of power by hydro-electric energy an accomplished fact, manufacturing is retreating from the congested, expensive districts to the open areas, according to a bulletin of the Illinois Committee on Public Utility Information.

"The new development is as natural as it is contradictory to the early methods of our national growth," states the bulletin. "Waterpower, the greatest of all our undeveloped natural resources, is making the change not only possible, but economically desirable. And because it is desirable for that reason, the process of decentralization has commenced.

"As industries change their sites, leaving the great centers for the open spaces, there will go with these institutions the people whose labor makes them possible. These observations are proved by public reports, and 'big business' is moving with the 'drift'."

FAMOUS SLAVE STATION BURNED

PETERSBURG, Ind., June 29.—(By Associated Press).—Another station of one of the most famous institutions that ever reached into Indiana—the underground railroad for running slaves into the northern states—has passed. Fire recently destroyed the landmark.

The house, located in this vicinity, caught fire because of a defective flue. It originally was owned by John Posey, father of Frank B. Posey, former representative in Congress, and was the home of the Posey family in the days preceding the Civil War. Many escaped slaves were hidden in its secret cellar and tunnel and assisted in getting to Canada, according to old-time residents.

The residence stood on a high bluff along White River, commanding a view of the surrounding country for many miles. It contained secret closets, secret cellars and in the war period a secret tunnel led to the river.

PRELATE HONORED.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 29.—Bishop John P. Carroll of Helena, Mont., delivered the sermon here today at the ceremonies attendant upon the celebration of the silver jubilee of Archbishop Alexander Christie, who has been a bishop of the Catholic church for 25 years.

50,000 FRENCH ROYALISTS ARE LED BY DAUDET

Novelist's Son Proclaims in Newspaper That Republic Has Failed.

By JOHN O'BRIEN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, June . — (United Press.)— Is there a "royalist" movement in France?

Leon Daudet, who represents one of the Paris constituencie in the Chamber of Deputies, proclaims every morning in his newspaper, L'Action Francaise, that the republican regime has failed, that it has brought disaster on the country and that Philiipe, Duke of Orleans, "heir of the forty kings who, in a thousand years, made France," will come back to take possession of his throne one of these days.

Ordinarily, Daudet's propaganda is laughed at. His opponents in parliament retort that he represents nobody, not even the Orleans pretender. But Daudet takes himself and his movement very seriously. The organization which bears the same name as his newspaper, but who refer to themselves as "Les Camelots du Roi" (The King's Own), has probably about fifty thousand adherents throughout France. Daudet claims twice that number.

KNOWN FOR NOISE.

It consists for the most part of students, scions of the old noble families, professional "patriots," or young men who dream of the ancient glories of Louis the Magnificent and imagine they can be restored with the downfall of the republic. In parliament Daudet stands alone. He technically forms part of the party known as "independent" comprising twenty-seven deputies out of more than six hundred. Actually he is a party, or "group" all to himself. He can cause more hubbub in a session of the chamber than all the members of real parliamentary units combined. In parliament and out of it he is a fire-eater of the old type. He has been badly mauled by socialists and communists. He has been assailed in the streets half a dozen times. He has fought perhaps a dozen duels. At the age of fifty-five he is as ready to jump to the defense of "The King" or "La Patrie" as he was in the days of the Dreyfus agitation.

SON OF WRITER.

Starting life as a writer, the son of Alphonse Daudet, one of the greatest novelists of the nineteenth century, Daudet had considerable success, not all of which was due to his name. Several of his works show real talent.

When Daudet's candidacy for parliament was announced in the elections of 1919, for the circumscription of Paris around the Eiffel Tower, largely a working class district, nobody thought he had the slightest chance. But the after-war, patriotic fervor swept him into the chamber. He attacks the police administration. He takes to himself the credit for the trial of Caillaux and Malvy, accused of intelligence with the enemy.

Daudet is a typical southerner in appearance and manner. Fat and stocky, with a shrill, penetrating voice, he gives one the impression that he is strutting the boards of a provincial theatre rather than addressing a parliamentary assembly. In his speeches in the chamber, if he is referring to the communists or socialists, he uses at least once a minute the word "traitor" or "coward" or "assassin" or even stronger. In his newspaper he is the same. Nothing is sacred except "His Royal Highness the Duke of Orleans."

STRENGTH SHOWN.

The strength of this "royalist" organization in Paris, at least, may be judged by the fact that its leaders announced that fifty thousand adherents would be in line at the funeral of Marius Plateau, one of the "men of action" of the party who was slain in the offices of "L'Action Francaise" recently by a woman anarchist. There were actually not more than thre thousand. Small in numbers but strong in determination, these "Camelots du Roy," however, are capable of causing an appearance at least of revolt against the present regime. They are now modeled on the Italian "fascisti."

PARIS URGES "LILY" BELT FOR SUBWAY

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, June 1 .—It is rumored that the newly-invented "Princess Lily" belt, which creates a kind of "No Man's Land" about fair dancers, may be adopted by Paris subway commuters.

"I do not frequent any 'dance-[illegible] maiden in Le Journal. "I am completely ignorant of the shimmy and paso double, but I want a 'Princess Lily' as soon as possible. I take the subway four times a day at rush hours and certain messieurs of all ages are not bashful enough. The 'Metro' is filled with mysterious masseurs, who go much farther than the ordinary dancer. The 'bumper belt' will render great service to young women like myself, who consider these little attentions injurious."

A correct dancer wants to know if the famous Professor Rossi has found a model of the "Princess Lily" for men. He hopes that someone will soon discover a—let us say, "Prince Louis."

THE SENSATIVE COL. JAY.

The sun is shining brightly, and the birds are singing merrily in the trees! All nature wears an aspect of peace and harmony. On the porch of a little hotel in a neighboring county a stranger is sitting on a bench waiting for the train, quietly smoking his pipe.

Presently a tall man wearing boots and a slouch hat, steps to the door of the hotel from the inside with a six shooter in his hand and fires. The man on the bench rolls over with a loud yell as the bullet grazes his ear. He springs to his feet in amazement and wrath and shouts:

"What are you shooting at me for?"

The tall man advances with his slouch hat in hand, bows and says: "Beg pardon, sah. I am Colonel Jay, sah, and I understood you to insult me, sah, but I see I was mistaken. Am very glad I did not kill you, sah."

"I insult you—how?" inquires the stranger. "I never said a word."

"You tapped on the bench, sah, as much as to say you was a woodpeckah, sah, and I belong to the other faction. I see now that you was only knockin' the ashes from you' pipe, sah. I ask yo' pahdon, and that you will come in and have a drink with me, sah, to show that you do not harbor any ill-feeling after a gentleman apologizes to you, sah."

Moose Outline Year For Child Welfare

AURORA, Ill., June 29.—Resolutions outlining a year's effort in child welfare work, betterment of conditions in public charitable institutions, poor houses and orphan asylums, pledging opposition to radicals and urging better care for mothers and infants were adopted at the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Loyal Order of Moose at Mooseheart, Ill., yesterday.

The convention voted unanimously to hold the next annual convention in New York after a spirited contest between that city, San Francisco, Milwaukee and Atlantic City. Senator James Watson delivered the principal address.

Birth of Island Seen by Captain

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The birth of an island is described in a report received by the hydrographer's office from Captain George B. Generaux, master of the steamship Jacox, who declared he was an eye witness to at least part of the phenomenon.

Recently while on his usual route from Singapore, the captain said, a violent disturbance was noted on the surface of the sea at latitude 10.07 north and longitude 109.00.30 east, where a mass "dark in color, with straight sides, about 100 feet in height and between two and three miles in length" had risen above the water.

Rule For Success Given Office Boys

CHICAGO, June . —(By United Press.)—The office boy's rule for success is to pick out one of the men above him who is making a big success and to study that man in everything he does. This rule was given to the 220 office boys of Marshall Field & Company at the firm's boys' week luncheon. Eight executives with terms of service with the house totaling 234 years attended the boys' luncheon. Each of these executives had started with the firm as errand boy.

"You boys have the best chance in the world to see how men succeed," said W. S. Clark, superintendent. "Study the men above you. Pick out some successful man and model yourself on his pattern. Office boys have an opportunity that nobody else has to study leading men. You see them with their coats off. You know all their characteristics and methods as no one else has a chance to know them.

FRESNO SLAYER PAYS WITH LIFE AT SAN QUENTIN

Prisoner Mounts Scaffold Unaided and Goes to His Death Composed.

SAN QUENTIN, June 29—Mauro Parisi, 28 years old, was hanged this morning at 10:10 o'clock for the murder of Felix Paladino in Fresno more than a year ago. He was pronounced dead at 10:21 o'clock.

Parisi kept his composure until the last, mounting the scaffold unaided and standing rigid while the noose was adjusted. He received the last rites of the church before leaving his cell. Rev. Father Carvaro of St. Peter's & St. Paul's Church, San Francisco, accompanied him to the scaffold.

Parisi was convicted May 17, 1922, of shooting Palidino following a quarrel on the street. A stubborn fight was made to have the conviction set aside and a new trial ordered, but in April of this year the state supreme court confirmed the verdict of the jury.

Parisi's wife, Rosa, spent several hours with him in his cell last night in the presence of his brother, Joseph Parisi, and prison guards. Parisi was in good spirits, but Mrs. Parisi was in tears.

SACRAMENTO, June 29.—Declaring that "society must be protected from such acts of lawlessness," Governor Richardson, in a statement today, explained his refusal to exercise executive clemency in the case of Mauro Parisi, hanged at San Quentin today.

The governor reviewed the circumstances of the crime, Parisi having shot and beaten to death Felix Paladino, Fresno workman. The governor said:

"The murderer by his crime made one widow and left four small children without a father's support. Society must be protected from such acts of lawlessness. Wives and children who are always the chief sufferers from crime must be safeguarded. The execution of Parisi will be a warning to men of his type that they cannot run amuck in California murdering peaceable citizens and wounding bystanders in crowded streets without paying the penalty imposed by law."

BOOK TO SAVE $10,000,000.

CHICAGO, (United Press.)—Business men the country over will save $10,000,000 by the publication of the new city directory of Chicago, statistical experts estimated today. The flood of misaddressed mail, caused by obsolete addresses, will save a huge waste in the mailing of circulars.

12-Mile Seizure Limit Refused by Lord Curzon

LONDON, June 29.—(By Associated Press.) — Marquis Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs, made a long and important statement in the House of Lords yesterday in reply to Lord Birkenhead, who called attention to the seizure by the United States of liquor on British vessels.

The secretary declared there was no chance of Great Britain agreeing in any circumstances whatever to the proposal that the United States authorities be given the right to search vessels for liquor within the twelve-mile limit. The government, he added, was fully alive to the importance of the case, and all channels of diplomacy were being utilized to find an exit from a situation which was undoubtedly disagreeable and ought not to be allowed to continue.

DELICATE, DIFFICULT ISSUE.

Lord Curzon explained that it was a difficult and delicate matter, raising grave issues in both international law and policy. The British government was not concerned with American prohibition, which was a matter of domestic policy, in which the British government was not interested in expressing an opinion; neither would United States supreme court on he discuss the interpretation of the that country's laws. But it was concerned with the treatment meted out to British ships in United States territorial waters and the degree in which that treatment conformed to or departed from international practice.

It would be premature for him to say, indeed, he did not know, what would be the result of their labors.

He would not discuss the legal rights of the United States to impose conditions on foreign vessels entering its waters, because on this subject international law was decisive. He next detailed the steps taken by Great Britain, beginning with a note to the United States government from the British ambassador at Washington after Attorney General Daugherty's ruling that the Volstead act applied to foreign ships.

POLICY UNPRECEDENTED.

"We pointed out," he continued, "that for any state, even constructively, to project the operation of its strictly domestic municipal law onto foreign vessels on the high seas—which was the practical effect of the American ruling—would be unprecedented and, if adopted by other states, would subject all shipping other than coastwise to the evils flowing from a conflict of authority. The United states government acknowledged receipt of this, but did not enter into a discussion of its arguments."

The secretary enumerated the British representations to the United States in chronological order, mentioning instructions to the ambassador at Washington to place himself in communication with his European colleagues. It was found impossible to arrange concerted representations, as some of the other nations, notably France, had already lodged a protest, after which followed the receipt of the United States reply, the first week in June.

Great Britain's legal position, according to its legal authorities, Lord Curzon said, is as follows:

"There are two recognized principles of international law, which prevent us from contending that the United States committed a violation of international law in forbidding foreign vessels to bring liquor within its waters. The first is that foreigners trading with a country must comply with its laws; the second is that every sovereign independent states is supreme over all persons and property within its dominions, including ships in its territorial waters.

MODERATION EXPECTED.

"That is the strict interpretation of the law, but there are other considerations of scarcely inferior validity and importance. The principles to which I have referred cannot be pushed to extremes, but must be applied with moderation and good sense. A ship is a traveling unit passing from one state to another and therefore cannot escape the necessity of complying with other legal systems which may not be consistent with the law of the particular country it happens to be visiting. Furthermore, it is universally recognized that a ship has a particularly close relationship to the state whose flag she flies, and on many matters it is generally convenient that all governments should recognize the law of the flag state as paramount. The net result of this has been that on many matters the practice has grown up that a state should not exact compliance with its own law, even though a ship is within its waters, but leave such questions to be regulated by the law of the flag state.

"This, however, is international practice, rather than international law, and accordingly departure from it means a breach, not of international law, but of the comity of nations. Thus if a nation acts unreasonably toward the ships of other nations the latter may retaliate."

SEAL BREAKING STATUS.

Referring to the breaking of the British customs seals, Lord Curzon explained that the seals were not sacrosanct outside of British waters, and in general repeated the recent statement made by the prime minister, Stanley Baldwin, which was to the effect that there was no ground for a protest on this score and that Great Britain recognized America's right to break the seals in territorial waters.

"The object of British shippers I nbringing liquor under seal into New York," continued Lord Curzon, "was not to bring a test case. Their intention was, while fully guaranteeing that liquor would not be landed, to see whether the United States really meant to proceed in violation of international practice and refrain from availing a loophole in the decision of the supreme court of the United States, cited by Lord Birkenhead.

"Another consideration is that the real motive of the United States government in allowing the matter to come to a head at the present time is most probably their desire to put pressure on us to check the traffic in contraband liquor, notably from the West Indies. This appears from the fact that the latest United States government proposals to Great Britain couple the two questions."

U. S. PROPOSALS.

The secretary then went into details of the proposals, beginning last year, for checking liquor smuggling, involving extension of the right of search within twelve miles of the shore, and the British refusal to entertain such proposals.

"We felt that the outbreak of smuggling could not be regarded as permanent," said the secretary, "and we could not acquiesce in the abandonment of a principle to which we attach great importance. At the same time we undertook to take all steps possible to prevent local lawbreaking by smugglers."

Lord Curzon concluded by detailing the latest American proposal for the establishment of a twelve-mile limit as a temporary arrangement against a revrsal of the supreme court's ruling. This he described as a somewhat complex proposal, which was being considered by the special committee under Ronald McNeill. It was at this point that he declared Great Britain could under no circumstances agree to such a proposal.
nBO— emh? a.rth when in the co

Lord Birkenhead, asked what was the government's policy relative to the difficulty with which British shipping is confronted.

Lord Birkenhead said: "An eminent authority (evidently meaning Lloyd George) has exhorted us to keep cool and let America make the great experiment in her own way without interference. I do not know that any of us has shown asy inclination to examine the matter in any spirit but complete calmness, and it is generally recognized that no friendly and reasonable representation to the United States could fail to receive a friendly and reasonable reception. Nobody in this country has the slightest intention or desire to make any criticism at all of the United States domestic policy."

LEGAL ISSUE INVOLVED.

He passed to the legal aspect of the seizures, and expressed doubt as to whether a single competent lawyer in the United States had ever suspected that the Volstead act would lead to consequences such as had been brought States supreme court. A considabout by the decision of the United erable school of international lawyers, he contended, held that the British merchant ship carries its nationality with it. That is the case both in the United Staes and his country.

British shippers, continued Lord Birkenhead, had been advised to make a test case in the United States cohrts, but he failed to see the use of this, as it was extremely unlikely that the decision of the supreme court would be reversed.

"Without one word of friendly discussion with the United States are we to tell British ship owners that we cannot help them," asked Lord Birkenhead, "and that they must hereafter only take liquor as far as the port of destination and return without liquor?"

CANNOT PASS POLICY.

He argued that it would be both unfortunate and unnecessary for the British government to pass over a policy of this kind in silence. No nation in the world had a higher conception of common sense and reasonableness than the United States and it was inconceivable that tactful and courteous representations would be received by it with anything but the greatest respect and friendliness. He hoped British diplomacy would ask the United States, in the exercise of that discretion, which a majority of the judges of the supreme court of the United States had pointed out it possessed, to infuse some mitigation into this system, which, while maintaining unimpaired the policy of the United States, would at the same time relieve British shipping of a serious and unnecessary burden.

Birkenhead cited the pronouncement by the American government at the time of a diplomatic disvery difficult period—"We do not question the right of every nation to prescribe conditions under which the vessels of other nations may be admitted to its ports, but nevertheless we point out that these conditions ought not to conflict with sea passages which regulate commercial intercourse between civilized nations."

Viscount Grey expressed anxiety as to the effects the difficulty might have on Anglo-American relations. In his opinion liquor smuggling was not a temporary phase, and would cause friction if continued. There was undoubtedly a cause for irritation on both sides, and he urged that a real attempt be made by both governments to settle the question.

American Legion Essay Contest to Attract 250,000

INDIANAPOLIS, June [illegible].—The second annual American Legion essay contest for school children throughout the country will close October 12, it was announced at Legion headquarters here.

It was estimated by officers of the Legion that 250,000 children will compete this year. The subject for the essay is: "Why America should prohibit all immigration for a period of five years."

The children of the nation will compete by a method of elimination. Co-operating with educational officials in every state, the Legion has found it possible to have county and city school heads pass on the best composition from their schools and send them to the state committee.

There competent judges will pass on the essays and award silver and bronze medals and certificates of merit to winners of first, second and third places in each state.

The best essay of each state will then be submitted to the national committee, composed of educators of national prominence. They will consider each essay for thought, style, originality of treatment, spelling and penmanship to determine rating of contestants.

When the committee designates the winners, special awards will be made, first to receive $750, second $500, and third $250, all of which must be applied on scholarship expenses at any college or university designated by the winners.

EUROPE OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES TO U. S. TRADE

Continent Is Rapidly Getting On Its Feet Again, Says Economist Jenks.

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—"Europe should no longer be regarded as a field for American charity, but rather as a continent of opportunities for American business men," Dr. Jeremiah Jenks, author and economist, told members of the City Club here.

"The damage caused by the war," said Dr. Jenks, "cannot, of course, be repaired in a few months, but Central Europe is already on its feet again and there is good reason to believe that another international conflict will be averted. Conditions are still bad, but they have beeen growing better for the last year, and the best way for Americans to help Europe today is not by gifts, but by loans and investments.

"Agriculturally, industrially and financially middle Europe is swiftly growing more prosperous," he continued, "and when more of the nations have followed Italy's example in establishing stable governments American business will find ample opportunity for investment."

Because of the climate, natives in Papua, better known as New Guinea, are not permitted to wear clothing above the waist line. Any superfluous clothing is considered harmful, even dangerous. There are 275,000 natives on the island.

WALNUT OUTPUT NETTED GROWER OVER 11 MILLION

California Producing 52 Per Cent of World On Area of 100,000 Acres.

With a walnut crop valued at approximately $15,000,000, California last year produced more than half of the entire crop of the world, according to a report made public by C. Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut Growers' Association. The total value of the walnut crop in the United States was placed at $25,000,000.

In pounds, the nation's consumption reached the total last year of 100,000,000 and California produced 52 per cent of it, the report stated.

Packing and marketing 80 per cent of the California crop, the 4000 members of the association received approximately $11,000,000, it was announced.

GRAIN FIELDS IN YOLO RAVAGED BY SERIES OF FIRES

$4750 Tractor and 900 Sacks of Wheat Near Woodland Included in Loss.

WOODLAND, June 29.—Four grain fires in various parts of the Woodland district, entailing losses amounting to approximately $7000 were reported yesterday, the most serious being at the J. S. Salisbury place, northwest of Woodland, where a $4750 tractor was burned together with 900 sacks of wheat valued at $2.25 a hundred. The fire started from back fire of a tractor. Partial insurance covered this first serious grain fire of the season in Yolo county.

Small fires were reported on the G. L. Hayes place, west of Woodland; Rieff brothers' ranch near Woodland, where a $500 grain loss was suffered and a small fire on the B. F. Conaway ranch.

Rural fire apparatus consisting of extinguishers and barrels of fluid and chemicals loaded on trucks saved heavy losses at these four places.

Merchant Boosters Make New Plans

HAYWARD, June 29.—Believed to be a large factor in arousing additional enthusiasm and spirit in the affairs of the organization, the Hayward Merchant Boosters' club at a regular meeting last night, arranged for monthly social gatherings. The affairs, it was planned, will consist of entertainment, short addresses by members and officers and a banquet, and will be confined to the membership exclusively.

Since the change of meeting nights from Monday to Thursday, it has been advised by F. C. Leach, newly elected president, an improved spirit and attendance is already noted.

Coal Mine Boss Killed by Gas

TACOMA, Wash., June 29.—Steve Mecham, [illegible], fire boss for the Carbon Hill Coal company was killed late yesterday by gas in a coal mine at Carbonado. Mecham announcing that he smelled gas in the mine went to investigate. When he did not return searching parties went into the shaft and found his body. The dead man leaves a widow and four children at Duwamish.

BIG SECRET IS KNOWN AT LAST

"I was looking all over the office for you this morning, Betty! Thought maybe you were sick or something."

"My dear, I was out only an hour and a half all morning. You evidently were looking for me during that time."

"Evidently. But how did you get off? The boss is such a stickler for rules and nothing short of sudden death is an excuse for a few minutes away from the office."

"Oh, yes, there is one other excuse. Look."

"Betty! An engagement ring. How wonderful! But did you have to declare a holiday in the midst of the day to get engaged?"

"No, silly, but I had to go out to help select the ring. Don't you even want to know who I am engaged to?"

"Now, you are silly. As if everyone but yourselves have known that you and James have been in love with each other since you were children. I'm awfully glad, dear. Jimmie is a wonderful boy and you will be happy. Are you to be married soon?"

"No, not till fall. But mother and my two sisters and Jimmie's aunts and cousins are all planning nice little parties and things, so it won't seem so long."

"Oh, and listen, dear! If you need a lot of new clothes, do go to Cherry's Month-End Sale at 515 13th street. Such lovely styles and the newest fashions. Credit, too, and their prices are surely worth while." "I will." "Jimmie tells me he buys all of his suits at Cherry's men's store at 525 13th street."—Advertisement.

Sound Testimonial Evidence

showing the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women is constantly being published in this paper. The strongest recommendation any article can have is that borne by the persons who use it. Once ill with ailments that caused suffering and despair, but now restored to the joys of health, from a grateful heart multitudes of women write letters of appreciation to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass. Such evidence of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women should induce every suffering woman to try it.—Advertisement.

BRAZIL IS LAND STILL UNBITTEN BY RADIO BUG

Few Receiving Sets, Only One Broadcaster in Rio de Janeiro.

By U. G. KEENER.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

RIO DE JANEIRO, (By mail to United Press.)—The radio craze hasn't hit Rio yet. Blame it on the high cost of dollars and consequent elevated prices of apparatus for broadcasting and receiving, if you like.

So far Rio only has one broadcasting station, mounted on the top of Corcovado hill, one of the highest points among Rio's thicket of young mountains. This station is owned and operated by the Light and Power company, which is controlled by Canadian capital, but the broadcasting is being done by Americans.

And, so far, one broadcasting station is sufficient, since there is only a mere handful of receiving sets in a radius of a hundred miles from the center of the Brazilian capital, and a surprising part of these are clandestine play-pretties of some adventuruos spirits in the North American colony. Those that are not operating without the knowledge of the police are all official government outfits, in the palace of the president of the Republic, in some nook of the exposition now being held, and in the Municipal Opera House.

No newspaper plant has yet installed a broadcasting station, and none is likely to soon, since the Brazilian money unit is worth in dollar and cents about half what it was when things were going on normally in this part of the hemisphere. Consequently, radio apparatus comes pretty high. Neither the Germans nor Austrians have yet entered the field with their outfits, and condensers, amplifiers, detectors and other little whatnots of radioism can't be had for a mere bag of marks or Austrian crowns.

The Brazilian academy of Sciences has recently become interested in radio. The academy invited one of its members to prepare a report on wireless telephone session.

PASTOR DENIES DECADENCE IN MODERN YOUTH

CHICAGO, June 30.—(United Press.)—Jazzmania and post-war hysteria is being served with the antidote of common sense and idealism, the Rev. Charles E. Guthrie, general secretary of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church, stated in his annual report to the board.

"It is easy to raise [illegible] and to make allegations that degeneracy and decay have set in, and it always gets attention, but the young people of America are not going to the dogs," Rev. Guthrie's report asserted.

"A tour of many nations, including most of Europe, during recent months has convinced me that there is a growing spirit of idealism and religious thinking among youth everywhere," he said.

Youth, Accused By Wife's Father, Freed of Charge

The charges of disturbing the peace placed against Albert Fisher, 21, by an irate father-in-law, when Fisher came to the home of his young wife's parents at 7419 Lockwood street, for his bride, alleged to have been held there, was dismissed by Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell when the case came up in court today.

The only witness called was Bernard Vincent, brother of Fisher's bride, who said that Fisher came to the home on June 19 and that he was "afraid he might have a gun." The fact that he only entered the dwelling was declared by the court not to constitute a disturbance.

R. J. WERNER IS SUPERINTENDENT OF AGRICULTURE

Richard J. Werner, until recently principal of Esparto high school in Yolo county, was today elected state superintendent of agriculture by the state board of education at a meeting held in the Hotel Oakland.

Werner succeeds J. B. Lillard, who resigned lately to become dean of the Junior College of Sacramento. He will take office September 1.

Werner is a graduate of the Gardena agricultural high school of Los Angeles and of the Oregon Agricultural college. He is now at the University of California working for his doctor's degree in agriculture. He has been a practical farmer for some years, and for a while was farm adviser in one of the counties of Oregon.

Werner had a brilliant record in the World war, where he was promoted on the field from private to captain.

He was highly recommended for his new position by his predecessor, Superintendent Lillard, and by State Vocational Commissioner L. L. Snyder.

Suit for Million On Century-Old Stock Dismissed

NEW YORK, June 29—Judge Gingerich of the supreme court dismissed yesterday the suit of Alfred W. Seymour of Seattle, Wash., restaurant proprietor, to recover $1,000,000 from the Mechanics and Metals National Bank as the present value of an alleged certificate for 67 shares of the bank's stock owned by his great grandfather, Thomas Williams, who died in 1822.

The value of the certificate was said to have been $13,400 when Williams died. It was found in an old book in Troy, N. Y., some time ago.

The court in its decision held that the statute of limitations was in effect prior to the death of Williams.

CALLS ACID HEART MAN'S CHIEF EVIL

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 29—"We have solved most of the great problems of the world except the one of how to get along together," declared Rev. Dr. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

"Acid in the heart gets a man in wrong with his neighbor, creates endless trouble and disputes among families and individuals and fills the jails and penitentiaries. Science has succeeded in making hearing [illegible] of some acid but has failed miserably to take the bitterness out of the human heart.

"The basis of racial troubles is prejudice which finds its root in [illegible] rather than good of a neighbor," said Rev. Dr. Rittenhouse, who recommended that [illegible] to preserve [illegible] believe the best, say the best, speak the best and expect the best."

Senator Johnson Arrives in Berlin

BERLIN, June 29—(International News Service)—United States Senator Hiram Johnson arrived today from The Hague to study German conditions.

French Occupation Extends as Penalty

COBLENZ, June 29.—The French today extended their occupation in the Mayence bridgehead to Langen, on the Darmstadt-Frankfort railroad line eight miles south of Frankfort and Eschdorn, on the Frankfort-Kronberg line, 7½ miles northwest of Frankfort. The extension is a penalty for recent sabotage on the railroads.

"MY DEAR, USE POSLAM FOR THOSE PIMPLES"

This really happened—I couldn't help overhearing it. A motherly old lady dropped into the seat beside a well-dressed girl. "My dear," she said, "forgive my intrusion, but you would be SO pretty if you only had a clear healthy skin. Why don't you use Poslam? It did such wonders for my daughter's years ago that I can't help recommending it to young folks like you who need it. I just know it would help you."

Her advice was so good that I pass it on to you. You can get Poslam—with Poslam Soap—at any drugstore. Why not begin using them tonight? They will often clear away pimples in 24 hours. For trial sample send 10c to POSLAM, 13 W. 47th St., New York.

DRY SENTIMENT SHOWS INCREASE AMONG JAPANESE

Possibility of Prohibition, Once Laughed At, Now Imminent.

By DUKE N. PARRY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO June 29—Possibility of prohibition in Japan, laughed at not so long ago, now bids fair to become a reality.

Extension of efforts of American 'drys' into Japan was cause for jest among tourists visiting Nippon two years ago Today with the first temperance legislation ever passed there on the statute books—and being enforced—and with a Prince Regent ruling the Empire who neither smokes nor drinks a complete reversal of custom on the part of a Japanese monarch), workers for prohibition in Japan have cause for exultation

It is a matter of record that more than $30,000 is spent annually here for the spread of the prohibition idea and that 236 different branches of a central prohibition organization have enrolled 117 892 "dry" workers Anti-liquor advocates in the United States could indeed claim a notable victory if their colleagues sent into Japan should bring about an end of the liquor business here

Prohibition agitation in Japan today is the outgrowth of the visit of a group of American women to this country thirty six years ago to 'kindle the temperance fire in the Empire of Japan"

STOP SALES TO MINORS.

The entering wedge for prohibition has been the placing on the statute books of the Empire of a law which follows that in America prohibiting the sale of liquor to minors

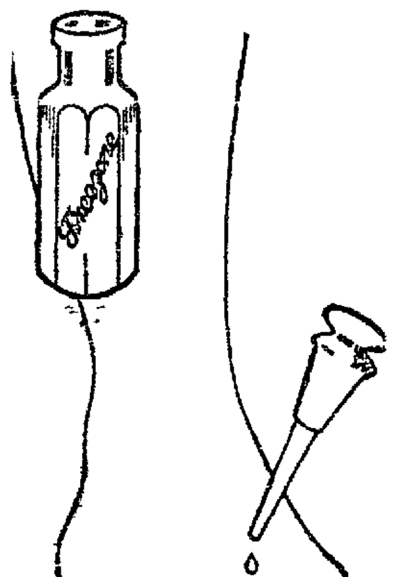
Here are some estimates on the amount of liquor furnished Japanese between 1912 and 1922

Sake (Japanese rice wine)—5 000 000 koku (1 koku is 39 7 gallons) made from 4 000 000 koku of rice valued at 1 000 000 000 yen (half a billion dollars).

Beer—420 000 koku valued at Y30 000 000 ($15 000 000)

Wine and other intoxicants—30 000 koku, of these importations are valued at Y1,080 000 ($540 000)

Sake is made from the chief food of the Japanese people—rice The use of rice for their wine manufacture therefore works a hardship on the people of Japan, particularly in seasons when the rice crop is bad This, however is merely a contributing cause to the interest in prohibition



CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

She Likes Her Husband's Jail

"Doesn't it feel rather odd to have a husband in jail?" somebody asked LOUISE GROODY, in Paris recuperating from the strain of having her husband, William F. McGee, indicted as a Wall Street "bucketeer." "Oh, no, its only Ludlow Street," said Louise. "They have nice clean sheets there, and good food and I'll visit him often when I go back."

NINETEEN-YEAR GIRL IS GOOD BILL OLLECTOR

By International News Service)

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 29. —A nineteen-year-old girl and a success as a bill collector sounds improbable, but that's the record of Miss Goldie Silberman, who has accomplished the job that makes strong men quail.

'We often hear of a person as a [illegible] "Well, there isn't any such person. I mean that every one who [illegible] Then troubles pile up and they cannot pay. They get out of the hole but by this time they are what I class as lazy debtors and it is hard to get them in the mental state where they will pay."

Men are easier to collect from than women the young collector believes. The people visited by Miss Silberman range from Italian bootleggers [illegible] to ministers and from market women to society leaders

'The whole secret is in being persistent' Miss Silberman says 'You know Little Drops of Water? Well I keep on dropping in on the debtors and they finally pay."

Miss Silberman has an office of her own and is doing a thriving business

Bernhardt Fought Woman Suffrage

By JOHN O'BRIEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, (By mail to United Press)—Sarah Bernhardt, advanced as were her views on art and life in general, whose entire career was marked by revolts against conventions, was a thoroughgoing enemy of woman suffrage. Dr Cabanes, who is director of "La Chronique Medicale" publishes an extract from a letter which he received from the great actress a few years ago

Mme Bernhardt declared that "woman is an incomplete unsympathetic, frail creature,' for whom "emancipation" would be ruinous. She continued

"Woman has only one role—motherhood In that she is great because she is true to herself In love she is false In politics she would devote herself to petty quarrels until she was finally enmeshed in the spider's web of her own weaving In medicine she would never study hard enough to become a doctor. In business she would be disloyal because that is her nature. The emancipation of woman would be disastrous '

PARIS, (By mail to United Press)—When Mlle. Elise Homburger entered the royal residence of Sultan Njoya of Bamoun in Central Africa, the greatest female linguist in the world shook hands with the most married potentate in the realm of polygamy.

Mlle Homburger has spent many years in Equatorial Africa She was visiting the kingdom of the Sultan of Bamoun to lecture [illegible] on leprosy cures and to try to eradicate the practice of cannibalism which is prevalent there

MISSING LIQUOR PROBE STARTED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29—Special agents from the internal revenue department at Washington, are in the city today investigating the alleged disappearance of a large quantity of liquor taken by federal agents a year ago at Monterey. The booze is said to have disappeared between the time it was seized from the smugglers and the time it was officially stored in government warehouses

The probe, up to date, it was learned, has had to do with the number of cases of whisky taken from Allen's wharf in Monterey and the number checked into United Transfer Company's warehouses in Oakland and then finally to government store rooms in San Francisco

Water Cure Tried for Infant Paralysis

CHICAGO, June 29 — (United Press)—Cure infantile paralysis by a simple "water method" is being tried with partial success by the Northwestern University School of Medicine, it has been announced here.

"Every child likes to dabble his feet in water and that is exactly what our little patients are doing in our clinic," Dr Beveridge H Moore, director of the orthopedic department of the school, explained.

"Although it is yet too early to announce any complete cures I can say that many of our patients who have heretofore been confined to wheel chairs are now walking—some of them without the aid of crutches"

The milk that good cooks use

Humboldt County's famous milk made double rich!

WE have mailed to your home a post card that's valuable. Take it to your grocer and buy two tall cans of Libby's Milk at the regular price. In return for the post card he will give you a third can of this wonderful milk free of charge.

Milk that will give your cooking wholly new richness and flavor. Milk so rich that there are 7½ teaspoons of butter fat in every 16 oz. can of it. The same butter fat that makes cream and butter such great enrichers of foods.

California's finest milk

It comes from those prize herds that graze in the uplands of Humboldt County to the north—where nature has made acres and acres of ideal pasture lands with mountain streams that keep the grass abundant and green—where the men are dairymen and experts at it.

But not only that. At our condensery right in the heart of this favored section, we remove more than half the water from this fine milk, thus making it double rich.

Richer milk means richer cooking

Nothing is added to it; none of its food values taken away. Sealed in air-tight cans and sterilized it comes to you as pure as at the dairies yet richer and more convenient to use.

Try Libby's Milk in some favorite recipe tonight—in a soup, for instance, a sauce, pudding or cake. You'll see the difference at once—new richness, finer flavor.

So many good cooks all over the country are using this richer milk for all their cooking and for coffee that it is now generally known as "the milk that good cooks use." You'll see why when you try it.

Take the post card to your grocer

Now is an especially good time to try it. As soon as your post card arrives take it to your grocer and get three tall cans of Libby's Milk for the regular price of two.

We are making this special offer so you will learn now how easily you can give all your cooking greater richness and finer flavor.

PRESIDENT SOUNDS BUSINESS OPTIMISM SLOGAN

UNEMPLOYMENT IS WIPED OUT, SAYS HARDING

Post-war Revival of Business Base for Future Stability, He Avers.

BUTTE, Mont., June 29 (By the Associated Press). — Presenting here in Butte today a report on national mobilization by business, President Harding declared that national mobilization of business, labor and government forces to overcome depression "was no less accomplished than the great cooperation to win the war."

Outlining the steps undertaken under government direction to wipe out unemployment and to restore confidence in business, the President asserted "if our procedures have been rather plain and old-fashioned they have yet produced results that justify pride and require no apology.

"If we are accused of getting nowhere in particular," he added, "we may very well reply that at any rate we are able to stay right here, regard it as a good place to stay and day by day we have been getting better and better. I am disposed freely to admit that some other folks have had more excitement than we have had but a good many people in this world would be glad to exchange their stock of excitement for a modest share of our American accumulation of simple contentment and dinner-table necessaries."

CREDITED TO NATION.

The President said he did not present the report on revived business conditions as "the accomplishment of a particular administration or the justification of any party's claim upon the public confidence."

"Rather it is placed before you as testimony to the preme sense and sound genius of a nation which could make its co-operation extend to the continent and its altruisms embrace a hundred million of humanity," he added, "that is what the American people have done in the past two years. No other people has had the fortune to parallel these achievements. None other looks out today upon so clear a horizon; and I venture that we stand only in the doorway of the new era. Thus convinced, I know that you will permit me to add just one word for the pride, the satisfaction and the gratitude which the national administration feels in having been able to contribute something of suggestion, leadership and direction to this accomplishment. We will not claim much, for the great end could have been attained only through the complete unity, in spirit, purpose and patriotism of the whole American nation.

LABOR CONDITIONS REVISED.

"Two years ago we made a careful census of unemployment in the United States and found 4,500,000 or 5,000,000 workers without jobs. That was bad, but since then matters have been reversed and if, nowadays, we are disposed to worry about the problem of unemployment, we have to consider ways and means to fill a half million or a million jobs which want workers and can't find them. That is the simplest picture of the industrial evolution of the last two years. That is the bedrock foundation on which American business and American administration have erected their confidence that this people will not be led into the paths of devious experimentation, the mazes of untried economic theory, the labrynths of doctrinaire altruism."

Among the efforts taken to achieve this end, the President mentioned removal of the hand of the government from the tills of the bankers, reductions in the Federal Reserve discount rate, inaugurating of the budget system, a lightening and more equitable distribution of the tax burden, the arms conference, revival of the federal farm loan board and the finance corporation and the national conferences on unemployment and housing.

The address here was the first of two scheduled for today in the state of Montana. The other will be given tonight at Helena.

Butte Speech Points Made By Harding

NATIONAL mobilization by business, labor and government forces to overcome business depression has been accomplished.

Procedure though old-fashioned has produced results.

Other nations have had the post-war excitement but some would like to exchange some of that excitement for a modest share of our American accumulation of simple contentment and dinner-table necessities.

The accomplishment is placed before the people as testimony to the supreme sense and sound genius of a nation that could make its co-operation extend over a continent and its altruisms include 100,000,000.

Two years ago the unemployment census found 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 out of jobs, now there are 500,000 jobs seeking men.

ENGINEERS SCORE OUSTING OF DAVIS

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(By United Press.)—The controversy over the dropping of A. P. Davis as head of the reclamation service sizzled again today, following a protest against the action by the Federal Engineering Society.

Speaking for 50,000 engineers and technical experts, L. W. Wallace, secretary of the organization, declared in a formal statement that the substitution of D. W. Davis, ex-governor of Idaho for A. P. Davis was a blow at the technical service of the government which might undermine the morale of other branches of the service.

Replying to Secretary of Interior Work's contention that a business man was needed at the head of the reclamation service, Wallace said the only criticism of the business conduct of the bureau had come from "certain interests in the West who have endeavored to secure a reduction in or have endeavored to repudiate payments for reclaimed lands purchased."

President Greeted At Copper Camp

BUTTE, Mont., June 29.—(By Associated Press).—Arriving at the Great Northern station at Butte at 10 o'clock, President and Mrs. Harding found a cheering throng of several thousand persons. Mayor Horgan formally welcomed the chief executive and in token of Butte's chief industry—copper mining—presented copper souvenirs of the city, one of which was a copper and silver-framed painting of the city's new drive which has been designated "Harding Drive."

Members of the party were escorted to autos for a tour of the business section and to the properties of the Anaconda Copper Co., on the hillside overlooking the city.

The automobile ride finally brought the party to the city ball park where the President made his formal address on business conditions and later decorated a group of Boy Scouts for conspicuous bravery in saving human life. Before leaving shortly after 1 o'clock for Helena, where he speaks tonight, the President held a reception at the station.

HARDING URGES COOPERATION TO AID CONSUMERS

President Declares Public Has Right to Protect Itself Against High Costs.

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, June 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Declaring that the need of the present is to shorten the bridge between producer and consumer, President Harding in an address here yesterday proposed a plan of cooperation among consumers, financed in part at least through a carefully organized and supervised adapatation of the principles of the savings bank or the building and loan society.

"I believe the suggestion is worthy of careful examination and consideration," the President asserted. "I am convinced that its discussion will be fruitful of good results and a reminder to some who are disposed to take unreasonable tolls from both the consuming and the producing public, that this public has the right, the power and the ability to devise means to protect itself."

The President further said that as a result of studies and investigations he hoped to be able "to recommend for the consideration of the Congress measures which shall represent a beginning along this line."

"One of the most engrossing problems of our time, confronting all countries and all societies, is the exorbitant cost of living," the President said. "We realize that the real producer, under our elaborate and costly system of distribution, is not permitted a fair share of his product for his own use and enjoyment. We have become convinced that somehow our system of distribution has grown too cumbersome, too costly, too complex, too indirect, too unrelated to the interests of real producer and legitimate consumer. We must find methods to take up as much as possible of the slack in the long line between producer and consumer; to give the producer a better share in that which he furnishes to the community, and to enable the consumer to meet his requirements at reasonable cost.

MANY EXPERIMENTS.

"To this end many experiments have been made in cooperative production, transportation, distribution, and purchasing. To a great extent these experiments have proceeded from the enterprise and initiative of the western people, to whom these problems have presented themselves with especial insistence. But for the spirit of cooperation, the willingness to be mutually helpful, the determination to give first place to the interests of the community you could not have made your west what it is. Working cooperations on a great scale practical in operation and adequate to cope with our problems can never be possible except where there is this spirit, determination, and purpose. It is because the west has led so far in devising such workable programs that I have thought to say a few words along this line today.

"Developments of the last generation have brought the instrumentalities of transportation of finance, of corporate organization and operation into a closer harmony with the true public interest than ever before. Government has sought to make itself helpful, to point the way, to remove ancient barriers of custom or tradition, and to curb the excessive demands of privilege, in order to cheapen for the great public many of the services which formerly were dominated by the private interests and operated with too exclusive a consideration for private profit.

FAVORS INITIATIVE.

"Anything tending to break down personal initiative, to destroy enterprise and ambition, must not enter into any program which can hope for the approval of the American people. Ours is an individualistic society, and we want it to remain so. We want this republic to remain always the land of opportunity wherein every man's abilities and usefulness shall measure his personal advancement and prosperity. The kind of a program to encourage cooperation and coordination which I have in mind, would not interfere with the freedom of proper opportunity; rather, it would enhance the individual's chance to better his individual fortune.

"The need of this time is to shorten the bridge between producer and consumer and to reduce the toll that must be paid for passing it. We all know a good deal about the various cooperative societies, associations and corporations which have undertaken, in many cases with notable sacrifices, to improve the position of the agriculture producer. Such organizations have been successful in all parts of this country, and in many parts of the old world. They have already done a great work and taught us many valuable lessons. Where there are obstacles, imposed by unfortunate public policies, or in the way of expanding such activities as these, they might well be gradually removed through measures of helpfulness and encouragement.

"On the whole, I think the agriculture community has been more alive to the promotion of its interests along these lines than has the urban community. The farmers have seen where their interest lay and have been more prompt and energetic in adopting effective measures to promote them, than the people of the city and town have been.

COOPERATION NEEDED.

"There is need to have working and practical cooperative associations of producers in the country, and at the same time to have equally effective cooperations among the consuming communities of the cities and towns; and, finally to link these two sets of cooperators together in a coordination for mutual benefit to both. I believe it is possible, and altogether desirable, that systems of credit and finance should be developed, under public auspices, to encourage both these kinds of cooperation and to draw them together into a harmonious working scheme of widespread distribution at the lowest possible expense.

"We have in recent years given much attention to developing a system of agriculture finance, particularly adapted to the needs of American Farm Producers. Some critics have protested that it was class legislation. Perhaps it was; but as I suggested in discussing the problems of agriculture in Kansas the other day it was in the interest of vital interest to the community which has heretofore had altogether too little consideration.

"Not only have I no apology for what has been done in the interest of the agriculture community, but only do I regard it as one of the monumental achievements of the last generation in developing our country's institutions; but I venture that we might, with profit to the whole people, consider the possibility of effecting an analogous organization to promote and encourage, through measures of credit and finance, a proper organization of the consuming community in both cities and country.

PLANS FEASIBLE.

"I have not attempted to work out even an outline, much less the details of such a system; but I believe it is possible, feasible and certain to command the sympathy of men and women who have the true interest of the country at heart. I hope to be able, as the result of studies and investigations, to recommend for the consideration of Congress measures which shall represent a beginning along this line. It is a big and pregnant subject to which no thinking man or woman can deny the fullest and most careful consideration.

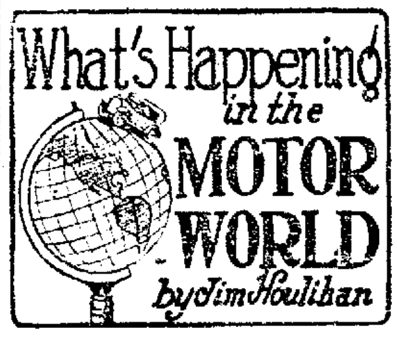
"My thought is that government should give the largest encouragement, consistent with sound economies and proper government functions, to every effort of the people to help themselves in dealing with high cost of living and the relationships of incomes to our household budgets.

"I have wondered if it were not possible, for example, that a scheme of cooperation among consumers, financed in part at least through a carefully organized and supervised adaptation of the principles of the savings bank or the building and loan societies, might be made to serve a splendidly useful purpose. I think this would be preferable to having limited sections of the community undertaking to establish financial independence and economic solidarity, as some of them have lately been doing. The development of such a general program into a sound working business scheme would doubtless be found chiefly an affair of the state governments, but one in which the jointure of state and national authorities might approve practicable and even necessary.

OFFERS SUGGESTION.

"I bring this suggestion of a direction which might be given to activities of this kind. I believe the suggestion is worthy of careful examination and consideration. I am convinced that its discussion would be fruitful of good results and a reminder to some who are disposed to take unreasonable tolls from both the consuming and the producing public that this public has the right, the power and the ability to devise means to protect itself.

"The aim and object of our every policy must be the establishment and maintenance of an independent and self-respecting, reliant and industrious, intelligent and self helpful American citizenship. We must seek to encourage thrift, to promote saving to make the American home the headquarters of an ever-broadening culture, a larger understanding of the complex problems of our times, and of a determined aspiration for the fullest measure of economy and social justice."



What's Happening in the MOTOR WORLD by Jim Houlihan

In spite of the cold and stormy weather obtained through the first three weeks of June, travel to Yosemite National Park to date shows an increase of more than 20 per cent over that of last year at the same time. In view of the uncertain road conditions that have existed since the opening of the automobile season, making necessary at times the closing of certain roads, and at other times complete discouragement of automobile travel, it is remarkable that this increase is almost wholly due to the increase in automobile travel. Should this percentage of increase continue throughout the season, the total travel for the year promises to be in the neighborhood of 120,000 people as compared with 100,000 last year. Future reservations for July and August, which are far in excess of previous years, indicate that the heavier travel will continue.

Since the 24th of the month, normal June weather conditions have obtained, bringing about really favorable touring conditions in the mountains for the first time this year. Furthermore, the cool weather of the past has been instrumental in holding back the snow in the high country, with the result that water conditions are far better than usual for this time of the year. All water falls are carrying extraordinary large quantities of water, and the indications are that they will maintain a large volume until far later in the season than usual.

The Glacier Point road was opened to travel on June 23. This road is now in excellent condition and heavy motor travel has already begun to this incomparable feature of the Yosemite National Park.

The Tioga road is now open as far as White Wolf, 15 miles from the western park entrance at Aspen Valley. This road is scheduled to open on July 15, but indications are that it might be ready for travel a few days earlier than that.

Of the other roads in the park, the Big Oak Flat road and the roads in the Mariposa Grove of Big Trees are in excellent condition, with the Wawona road just fair, not having entirely recovered from the storms of a week ago.

Fishing conditions are rapidly improving, good catches being reported in Little Yosemite Valley and Merced Lake regions.

With the opening of the Merced Lake Lodge at Merced Lake, the accommodations offered there are being rapidly taken advantage of by fishermen and others interested in the back country.

The California State Fish and Game Commission have allotted 400,000 fry for planting in the waters in the park.

WORLD EDUCATION CONFERENCE IS OPENED IN S. F.

SPEAKERS URGE PEACE THROUGH UNDERSTANDING

one approved remedy. In spite of what we write and say, the world does not believe that education as a form of social control is comparable with armies, navies, diplomacy and statecraft. It is idle for professional educators to lament this traditional view.

EXPERTS NEEDED FOR PROFESSION.

"The organization and administration of education is or ought to be a professional task. The day of mere tradition, of amateur improvisation, of external domination has been brought to a close by the achievements of the developing science of education. Again progress in each country and the world will depend on the development of an organized body of teachers scientifically trained to secure progress by professional methods, a body of professional men and women intellectually equipped to serve the nation as experts and protected by public opinion and legal safeguards in the performance of their duties.

"Education is national. The sciences underlying education are universal in their validity. Geography, mathematics, physics, chemistry, biology, recognize no boundaries of peoples and nations. Education is personal, social, human. For the individual, education is founded on peculiar talent, taste, interest and aspiration. It aims to develop and conserve individual personality through the use of universal principles, laws. In this respect the comparison between the individual and the nation is more than a mere extended analogy. A fair and dispassionate realism in education will start with the nations and peoples of the world as they are. It will recognize the value of what each nation is and has to offer to the life of the world. It will seek world betterment, not in the dissolving of national life into a hypothetical and doctrinaire internationalism, but in an international cooperation that will preserve and cherish the personality of each nation while it contends against blindness, ignorance, retarding hate, and mutual suspicion."

PACIFIC HOLDS FUTURE, SAYS JORDAN.

Dr. Jordan said in part.

"This city: the crossroad of the Pacific regards itself as a neighborhood center, where all races around the Pacific ocean are represented, and to which the Pan-Pacific Union had called representatives from all the nations which border on its waters, welcomes the delegates to World Conference on Education. The ocean no longer separates us, but joins us together, and this great sea grows narrower and narrower with each succeeding year. It is agreed that if we as teachers can not educate for peace it is not worth while to educate at all. Diplomacy has been compared to a game of poker and it is said that that game changes its character when the guns are put away. It is said that the Pacific, the greatest of all oceans, near which half the human race finds its abode, should be the center of the greatest deeds in history. I believe that this is true, but those deeds will not be deeds of blood, rather deeds of helpfulness, sanitation, education, commerce, constructive aid, matters of the up-building of humanity. Benjamin Franklin once told a story of a young angel newly come to Paradise, who told an old angel hardened to celestial life that she had heard much of the earth and wished him to take her to visit it. They approached our planet coming near the Island of Martinique, where they saw the ships of Admiral Rodney and Admiral de Grasse ramming one another, firing guns, filling the air with smoke and the water with blood. The little angel was frightened, she said "You promised to bring me to the earth, and now you have led me straight to hell." "No" said the angel, "this is not hell, devils treat each other more humanly."

WEST VIEWED AS LAND OF ACTION.

Miss Charl Ormond Williams said in part:

"This gathering of educators from all parts of the earth is extremely significant and if we do our full part and accept the challenge of the situation it will surely mark an epoch in the history of the world and become the beginning of a new order among men. It augurs well for the success of this conference, I believe, that we meet in this particular portion of our country. Here the democratic spirit and ideal found a rich soil and grew almost over night into the initiative the referendum, and the recall. Here also was agitated the election of senators by popular vote and here we have the presidential primaries, all of which have caused no little uneasiness to a portion of our more conservative population. While the West has been daring and unafraid of change it has not been lacking in reverence for the great American tradition that "all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to succeed."

"This land of 'dare and do' is a good place in which to hold our meeting, and standing here at the 'Golden Gate' of hope and promise, let us pray that the strong, gentle winds of the Pacific may blow away any mists of misunderstanding which may arise among us in our discussions to cloud the atmosphere [illegible] only a good place in which to hold this meeting but it is likewise a [illegible]

WHOLE PEOPLE MUST BE EDUCATED.

"It has been said by governmental theorists that no democracy can for a long time endure. We do not accept that statement but we do not know that there are no grown-ups in this new world of democracy and that we are trying an experiment such as the world has never seen. Even the most [illegible] educate the whole people for the business of governing themselves. [illegible] Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, had a sublime faith in the ability of the people to rule, but we must not forget that it was an educated people that he always had in mind. He knew, better than any other leader of his time, and more than many of our leaders today realize, that the fruits of that Declaration of Independence would never have been fully enjoyed unless the people were well informed. And so having thrown off the rule of kings and having adopted in its place the rule of the people, we in America today are engaged in the business of a democracy, that of making every man a king and every woman a queen in the free and untrammeled exercise of their sovereign will. Only thus shall we be able to free democracy from one of its deadliest pitfalls, that of false, spurious, self-seeking leadership."

Dr. P. W. Kuo, president National Southeastern University of Nanking, China, said:

"The purpose of the conference is to produce a better understanding among the nations, to develop good will, to ensure the integrity of all nations, to extend educational privileges more universally and to develop those [illegible] conducive to lasting peace. Putting it in a more concise way, the fundamental purpose of the conference is to consider how to promote world peace through education. [illegible] the case the conference is of a unique nature, unprecedented in the history of nations. It is true that during the last few decades increasing numbers of great international gatherings have been held in Geneva and at The Hague and in other parts of the world—some political, others commercial and still others educational or religious in nature, but as far as we know this is the first great world conference in education called to consider the ways and means for the promotion of international understanding and goodwill.

MUST REMOVE MOTIVE OF REVENGE.

"We must teach the nations of the world to realize that true greatness and nobility of a nation does not depend upon its bigness, not upon its military power, nor upon its wealth, but upon her just dealing and unselfish service to others. We must remove, through education and other effective means, all selfishness, pride, hatred, revenge between nations and cultivate in their place the spirit of goodwill, of sympathy and of mutual confidence. These are some of the [illegible] task. What assurance have we that we are going to succeed? The answer is found in that old adage, 'Where there is a will there is a way.' I share with others in the belief that if the five millions of teachers and educators of the world are fully convinced of the evils of the war and the necessity for peace, and are willing to dedicate themselves to the task, they can make a great contribution to the [illegible]tional agencies at their command. Their greatest service will naturally be the bringing up of a new generation of people possessing the right kind of ideals of international relationship.

AMERICA CALLED ON A LEADER.

"In this new undertaking America is called upon to assume the responsibility of a leadership as in many other world movements. Her position is a unique one. She is one of the strongest champions of modern democracy. Upon her entrance into the late war she announced to the world that she had no selfish aims, but that her task was to make the world safe for democracy. Moreover she led the world in making education a democratic right that can be enjoyed by all. She has become, in a sense, the educator of the world. Her rapidly developing universities and other scientific institutions, her scholars and specialists in different fields, have attracted no less than 15,000 seekers of knowledge from South American republics, from China, from Japan and from the nations of Europe, and [illegible] important as a leader in arts and sciences and in educational theory and practice. Nor is this all, not a few of America's recent international acts unquestionably further qualify her to assume the responsibility of this leadership. The return to China of the surplus Boxer indemnity, and to Japan of the [illegible] indemnity, the generosity of millions of Americans in helping to feed and care for Armenian orphans, the personal and national relief for the famine sufferers of Russia, and the similar relief for the famine sufferers of China represent only a few of the noble acts of unselfishness and sympathy toward the nations of the world in time of trouble and distress.

"China, the country which I have the honor to represent, intends to play her part. The attitude of a country having 400,000,000 people representing one-third of the human race, toward this question, should certainly constitute an important factor in this movement. I am glad to say that she is with you heart and soul in this movement. China has always been a peace-loving nation. Our philosophers, thousands of years ago, taught us that under the heavens there is but one family. They taught us to hate war and to despise the soldier. It would be of interest to know that in our modern [illegible] system this same spirit [illegible]. It is in this spirit that we have come to the conference and it is this love [illegible] filiate toward the world movement for international peace."

2000 SCHOOLS IN SOUTH AIDED BY PHILANTHROPIST

General Field Agent Tells of Boon Provided Through Rosenwald Fund.

How 2000 modern schools have been built in the rural communities of fourteen Southern States through the help of the Julius Rosenwald fund was today outlined by S. L. Smith of Nashville, Tenn., general field agent of the fund, who is State representative for Tennessee to the N. E. A. convention.

Julius Rosenwald, the great philanthropist of Chicago, established the fund in 1914, according to Smith, and since then he has donated more than $500,000 annually toward the advancement of education among the negroes and the whites in the South.

DESIGNS SCHOOLS.

This money is bein gspent under the direction of Smith, who is designer of the types of rural schools that are being built in co-operation with the regular constituted school authorities of the county or district.

Smith says he fitted himself for his work by studying school planning under Dr. Fletcher B. Dresslar of the George Peabody College, Nashville. Dr. Dresslar is the recognized authority on the construction of modern schools and his principles are being carried out all over the country at the present time, according to Smith.

Under the plans approved by the Rosenwald Fund a site with a minimum of two acres is required. This rule is to assure plenty of space for recreational features, as well as to assure plenty of light and air by preventing the construction of any other building close by the school. In this connection Smith says he is now carrying on a campaign for the beautifying of all school grounds. These plans have been carefully worked out by Smith, even to the point of placing all trees so that they will not be in a position to obstruct the light in the school room.

ALL SINGLE STORY.

All the school plans call for a one-story structure, Smith said, explaining that this was to allow for easy escape in case of fire. The wisdom of this plan was borne upon him, Smith said, when he happened to visit Camden, S. C., two hours after occurrence of the tragedy there in which 76 persons lost their lives when fire broke out during graduation exercises.

The Rosenwald fund furnishes the plans and $400 toward the construction of a one-teacher school; $700 toward the cost of a two-teacher school, and $200 additional for each teacher over two up to the maximum expenditure of $1500, says Smith. Of the $7,500,000 spent in construction of these rural schools since 1914, 50 per cent has been furnished by the school authorities of the communities, 25 per cent by the negroes themselves, 5 per cent by the whites and the balance, or 20 per cent, by the Rosenwald fund.

LIGHT CONSERVED.

The school plans take into consideration the direction in which the building is faced, so as to derive the greatest advantage in the matter of light, Smith says. Then the rooms are decorated either in light buff and cream, or light gray and ivory, as it has been found these shades are the best for reflecting the light instead of absorbing it, and do not cause any eye strain.

Smith says that Rosenwald has appropriated $552,000 to be expended this year in the construction of these rural schools. As a result modern, hygienic structures will replace mere log cabins or unsanitary structures constructed without any thought as to light, air or surroundings.

In addition to being State director of the N. E. A. for Tennessee, Smith is the State representative to the World oCnference and southern representative on the N. E. A. committee on [illegible] and construction.

Old Joe Beckett Breaks Out With Swanky Duds

(By International News Service.)

LONDON, June [illegible].—Joe Beckett, heavyweight champion of England, may never develop a wallop that will send his opponents to dreamland, but he has developed a sartorial punch that is a knockout.

Georges Carpentier long has been known as fistiana's snappiest dresser on this side of the pond, but Joe apparently is out to give him a run for his money. "Tailor and Cutter," which is the "bible" of English haberdasherdom, had the following to say about one of Beckett's recent outfits:

"Joseph is not like a namesake; his clothes are not of many colors. He studies sartorial harmonies. He was a symphony in brown. He wore a nice brown lounge suit, brown hat and brown shoes which harmonized with his tanned face, a blue check tie and a shirt and collar with blue stripes. The one note that showed his dash and verve was his handkerchief. It was a knockout."

Soroptimists to Hear N.E.A. Chief

Dr. William B. Owen, president of the National Education Association, which will be in annual session in Oakland next week, will be the speaker on Monday before the regular luncheon of the Soroptimist club at Hotel Oakland. Dr. and Mrs. Owen, Fred M. Hunter, superintendent of Oakland public schools, and Mrs. Hunter will be guests of honor of the business and professional women at the program which, in compliment to the convention, will be dedicated to educational problems.

The Soroptimist club is extending its hospitality to visiting delegates who may desire to hear their leader speak and many local [illegible] called to order at 12:15 p. m. in the Blue Room of Hotel Oakland.

Varied Subjects Up for Conference Discussion

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Among the subjects discussed in the conference at today's session were: International co-operation, dissemination of education information, conduct between nations, national ideals, health education, universal education and [illegible] conservation.

At this evening's program in Native Sons' Hall there will be four addresses of special imprtance. Dr. L. S. Rowe, director of the Pan-American Union, will spehk on good will among nations. Dr. Tasuku Harada will speak on the spirit of the conference. Dr. H. W. Huntley, president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, will bring a message from Canada and Albert E. Winship, director of the Journal of Education, Boston, will deliver an American message.

Hortensia Valerazo, Ecuador, S. A.; Ella Stimson Cate, Tokyo, Japan; Schuschin S. Cha, of Wachang, China; Chio-Pao Ching, of Nanking, China; Professor Eloisa Espinosa, of Mexico; Mrs. Kristiane Skjerve Evans, of Norway; Sr. Don Santa Goni, of Argentina; Miss Pilar Z. Gonzales, Mexico; P. Hsyah, Peking, China; Takasune Ikoma, Japan; Yasusaburo Ishimura, from Korea; Miss Hansa Mehta, of Baroda, India; and Muriel Wathes, of Ossis, South Africa.

Northwest Party Travels in Autos

The automobile caravan bringing noted educators from Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho [illegible] the convention, invite delegates to return by the Pacific Northwest and secure the convention for Seattle in 1925.

The joint headquarters will be open for the Northwest after today in Rooms 284, 286, 288 and 290, Hotel Oakland, Oakland.

Salt Lake Secures Veterans' Meeting

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 29.—Salt Lake City, Utah, was awarded the 1924 convention of the disabled American veterans of the world war here at the annual convention. The meeting was set at June 23 to 28.

Educators Urged To Use Methods Of Advertising

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—If a girl is told that carrots taken internally will improve her complexion, that's advertising and she'll eat them, thereby improving her general health.

If a boy is informed that he can grow up and knock out the world's champion if only he takes a bath daily, the bathroom door will necessarily be locked to save money on the water bill. That also is advertising.

"If health educators would abandon their chemical postulations so far as the public is concerned, and use the methods employed by the clever advertising of any product under the sun, they will get further," Miss Sally Lucas Jean, director of health education, told the International Health Education conference here today.

W.C.T.U. Editor in Charge of Exhibit

Miss Cora Frances Stoddard of Boston, Mass., national director of Scientific Temperance Instruction of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, will be in charge of the W. C. T. U. Educational Exhibit in the Municipal Auditorium throughout the week of the annual convention of the National Education Association.

Miss Stoddard has been appointed by President Harding as one of the ten delegates from the United States to the Seventeenth International Congress against Alcoholism at Copenhagen, Denmark, in August. She is editor of the "Scientific Temperance Journal" and a well known writer.

U. S. RED CROSS TO TAKE IMPORTANT PART IN MEETING

An important part in the world conference on education will be taken by the American Red Cross and a number of those distinguished for important work in the organization have arrived in the bay district. Headquarters for the organization is in the Palace Hotel, San Francisco.

Other Red Cross officials who are here to attend the conference are Miss Theodora George who will speak July 2 on "The Junior Red Cross as an International Movement"; Mrs. George Derby of Boston, Douglas Griesemer, William C. Hunt of the staff council at Washington, D. C., Dr. Herbert Coulter and Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, president of Vassar College.

Motor cars are now heated by hot water radiators connected with the engine.

WOMEN LEADERS EXPLAIN WORK AT CLUB LUNCHEON

N. Y. PRINCIPAL, NEAR EAST RELIEF WORKER GUESTS

Educator Will Sail for England in December to Pursue Study of Swift.

Miss Olive M. Jones, principal of School No. 120, New York City, one of the outstanding figures of the annual convention of the National Education Association, which will open in Oakland next week, and Dr. Esther Lovejoy of Portland, Ore., a Near East Relief worker, were guests of honor and speakers before the regular luncheon of the Business and Professional Women's club yesterday.

Miss Jones explained the specific phase of work in which she was engaged in New York. The school which she represents has undertaken to do preventive work among boys.

"The dependent child is invariably a delinquent, the result of lack of training," she said. "Consequently he falls into bad habits. Our work with these children begins before they are of school age. It aims to give them the type of activity, study and individual care which will keep them from becoming candidates for reform schools and court records."

The school of which Miss Jones is principal has a staff of 20 men and 39 women.

WOMEN ADMONISHED.

"What we need in women's organizations is to stand together as women. Many of us have been carried away with the idea that organization means election of officers, adoption of a constitution. When we have done this with some degree of parliamentary procedure we think we have an organization.

"Men seem to know how to work together without words. Their organizations elect officers and forget all about watching them. Women are apt to elect officers and watch them as cats watch mice. If we elect women to positions of trust, we should give them confidence afterward. Watching is expressive of suspicion and is discouraging."

TRAGEDIES DESCRIBED.

Dr. Lovejoy has attained national fame through her work in establishing twenty hospitals in the Near East. She reviewed the tragic evacuation of Symrna by the Christians when they were driven from their homes by the Turks last September.

"If any one thinks that war is over, over there, they are mistaken," asserted Dr. Lovejoy. "There is fighting right along. The greatest sufferers are the women and little children who are not in any way responsible for the political conditions and state of war in those countries."

Dr. Minora Kibbe introduced the speakers. Miss Bird Wilson presided as chairman. A program of song was contributed by Mme. Parlet.

Oil Company Makes Employees Satisfied

The reason why the Standard Oil Company of California has 10,000 satisfied and efficient employees and strikes are unknown is set forth in a book just issued by the company under the title of the "Standard Oil Spirit."

"We have sought the creation of a condition wherein the employee feels that he is attaining a just return for his effort in life," says K. R. Kingsbury, president of the company, in explanation of the system.

There are 78 classifications of employees, and the percentage of Americans is 99 per cent, it is stated. From the new oil camp to the executive offices educational and recreational opportunities are provided for employees. Desert wastes are frequently turned into a community site with individual rooms for employees, recreation hall and sometimes a school when other educational facilities are lacking.

Bell Boy Detained On Theft Charge

Allen Burns, a bellboy, is celebrating his birthday in the Deten- [illegible] fore Police Judge Tyrrell for sentence on a charge of petty larceny. The report of the probation officer recommended that he be turned over to the juvenile authorities because when the theft was committed he was only 17 years old. The investigation of the probation officer showed that he was 18 years old today.

He was arrested after he was [illegible] from a grip belonging to [illegible] Kerby, of Los Angeles. The grip was in Kerby's room in the Hotel Harrison. Burns at the time was employed as a bellboy.

EMPLOYMENT OF YOUNG, IS TOPIC OF U. S. OFFICIAL

Miss Mary Stewart, director of the junior division, United States Employment Service, will be a speaker at the convention of the National Education Association in Oakland. Her addresses will be on the subject of junior placement.

As director of the junior division, Miss Stewart has charge of the work in which boys and girls between the legal working age and the age of 21 are placed in contact with jobs which are suited to them.

Miss Stewart has her headquarters in Washington, D. C., but for sometime she has been in Southern California on a trip of inspection. She is now stopping at the Hotel St. Francis while attending the convention.

"It is within our province," said Miss Stewart, "to see that boys and girls, forced by circumstances or by their own inclination to go to work, are placed in positions which suit them and to which they are suited. The junior division furnishes the necessary link between our theories of public education and the practical application of those theories in the world of business."

There are junior placement bureaus now working in co-operation with the schools in several cities in California and in many others throughout the country, Miss Stewart states.

Formerly dean of women at the University of Montana, Miss Stewart was in charge of women's speaking bureaus during the last presidential campaign. She is known in literary circles for a recognized metrical translation of selections from Cattulus.

Military Training for Boys Urged and Opposed

ALAMEDA, June 29.—The feasibility of establishing a junior unit of the reserve officers training corps in the Alameda high school was discussed at a meeting of the Alameda Housewives League in Legion hall yesterday afternoon.

Dr. H. D. Brasefield, principal of the Fremont high of Oakland and principal speaker, pointed out the value of military training for boys. He explained he was appearing, not as an educator alone, but as a citizen and as a parent, and as such he could vouch from this triple observation regarding the result of the R. O. T. C. training in the institution of which he was head. Its principles involved, he pointed out, respect for authority and a willingness to assume responsibility, obedience to law and order, team work of a high type and character building, which has developed some of the finest youths in the land.

The negative side of the issue was taken by Mrs. Melva S. Green, state superintendent of peace for the W. C. T. U. Her remarks were prefaced with "Their's not to reason why, their's but to do and die." This is a soldier's method of reasoning and one which should not be inculcated into the plastic minds of the growing youth, she declared.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Green's talk, Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, president of the league, insisted that the women of the world must arouse themselves and think, not in terms of killing, but in terms of peace.

Rev. H. B. Huffman, pastor of the First Christian church, Alameda, replied to Mrs. Cleverdon by saying that as an ex-service man he felt only extreme pacifists took the attitude that military training was not good for the youths of the country. He cited the fact that America had been unprepared during the last World's war, and declared he felt it his duty to [illegible] the flag which he had followed overseas to protest against the statements that military training such as provided by the R. O. T. C. was not good for the students of high school age.

DR. MONTGOMERY RESIGNS SUMMER SESSION POSITION

BERKELEY, June 29.—Resignation of Dr. Guy Montgomery, assistant dean of the summer session, from his administrative post was presented to the office of the president of the University of California today. The resignation will not take effect, however, until December 1.

Early in December the retiring assistant dean, who is academically assistant professor of English, will sail for England not to return to Berkeley campus until the opening of the fall semester of the university classes in 1924. He plans not to resume his summer session post at that time in order to devote more energy to his studies in English literature.

Dr. Montgomery is specializing on the study of Jonathan Swift.

"I believe that the embittered dean has more of a message for the world than critics usually admit," says Dr. Montgomery. "Swift has stood the test of time better than many of his contemporaries. Contemporary critics, except for a few of his friends were unfavorable."

The professor will spend most of his time studying in the British and South Kensington museums during his stay abroad.

FOURTH OF JULY PROGRAM READY

ALAMEDA, June 29.—Following an annual custom, the official celebration of the Fourth of July in Alameda will be under the auspices of the Alameda Improvement Club and will include a patriotic program of speeches, dancing, com- [illegible] display of fireworks, according to an announcement made today by Peter Hollings, president of the club.

The program was completed last night at a meeting of a committee from the club, composed of Dr. Harold Miller, Thomas Egan, Henry Schlichting, J. E. Hughes and Hollings.

Community singing at Neptune [illegible] chorus of 60 voices under the leadership of Eugene D. Blanchard; opening address by Mayor Frank Otis; tenor solo, J. P. Jones, accompanied by Mrs. Nellie E. Williams; oration, Judge Lincoln S. Church; baritone solo, W. A. Notlebrock. A display of fireworks with many novel set pieces will conclude the evening's celebration.

Rail Board Hears Water Cut Case

BERKELEY, June 29.—City Attorney Leonard D. Sanderson and Mayor Louis Bartlett appeared before the Railroad Commission yesterday, arguing the city's case against the East Bay Water Company for a 10 per cent reduction in rate. The city officials contended that the water company was making unduly large expenditures of executive salaries and that the present rates were too high in order to provide funds for these salaries. Request was also made by the Berkeley officials that an order be issued by the State Railroad Commission compelling the company to sell all of its non-used land holdings.

WILL CONFER DEGREES.

ALAMEDA, June 29.—A special [illegible] Alameda Chapter No. 70, will be held tonight for the purpose of conferring degrees. Frederick J. Collier is high priest. The meeting will be held in Masonic Temple on Park street.

BOOK DEVOTED TO PRINCIPAL'S IDEAL IN LOWER GRADES

Writings of Kansas City Man Basis for Discussion at Convention.

The development of a literature on the work of elementary school principals, is the special work of W. T. Longshore, secretary of the department of elementary school principals of the N. E. A., and editor of the National Bulletin. Longshore is principal of the Greenwood school, Kansas City.

Longshore says there has been an acknowledged lack of literature dealing with elementary school work and much is being done in supplying this deficiency by publication of the National Bulletin and the Year Book. The second Year Book with its subject: "Work of Elementary School Principals in Light of New Testing Program," is being used as the basis of discussion at the present convention, according to Longshore.

Since the department of Elementary School Principals was organized two years ago it has attained a membership of 3500, says Longshore, and much has been gained toward the co-ordination and standardization of methods. As indicated by the title of the second Year Book, this standardization is along the lines of the testing program. These tests are devised, according to Longshore, for the purpose of ascertaining the degree of intelligence in the pupils and the trend of their adaptibility for certain lines of study.

"By this system," says Longshore, "students are trained along the lines of their natural talents and leanings with a consequent increase in interest and efficiency. Closely allied with this subject is the 'project method' of study. The theory of this method is to arouse the interest of the student to where he is eager to learn instead of being forced to learn. In the first instance he learns quicker and retains what he learns. In the second instance what has been learnt is quickly forgotten."

Other phases of the work in his department, says Longshore, is the attainment of greater co-operation between principals and department supervisors and the campaign to secure clerks for principals, who will take care of the detail work, thus allowing the principal greater time and opportunity for essentials.

Delegate Tells of Texas Oil Fields

From Nederland, Texas, comes E. W. Jackson, superintendent of schools there, as a delegate to the National Education Convention. Nederland is in Jefferson county with a population of about 2000. It is situated midway between the industrial cities of Beaumont and Port Arthur, where some of the greatest oil refineries in the country are located. The oil is piped hundreds of miles from the [illegible] fields into these centers, where it is refined and shipped, according to Jackson.

As an indication of the rapid development and great prosperity of that section, Jackson says there is a $100,000 high school under construction at Nederland, a junior college at South Park costing $250,000, two junior high schools at Beaumont and a high school and two junior high schools at Port Arthur.

Berkeley C. of C. Plans Week's Outing

BERKELEY, June 29.—The board of directors of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce has invited the entire membership to go in a body to the Berkeley municipal camp at Tuolumne Meadows for a week's outing. The party will assemble at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters at 7:30 the morning of July 14, and be under the personal direction of George Hjelte. The party will stop for luncheon at Oakdale and arrive at the camp at about 5 p. m. Those [illegible] during the week can do so as it is only 25 miles distant from the camp.

Managing Director Keeler will be detained in Berkeley over Sunday, but will join the party Monday. It is planned to have exercises formally dedicting the camp during the week.

Missourian Dies From Auto Injury

BERKELEY, June 29.—Thomas Emerson, Oregon City, Missouri, died early today from compound fracture of the skull received in a collision of two automobiles at Sixty-second and Grove streets late Wednesday evening.

Emerson was riding with Mrs. Susan Graham of Los Angeles and Joseph Pollock of the Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle. His companions were not seriously injured. Their automobile collided with one driven by Jack Scott, who was uninjured.

Summer Session Musicale Scheduled

BERKELEY, June 29.—The first of a series of musicaels for summer session students of education will be given at the home of Dr. Frank W. Hart, associate professor of educational administration, Sunday at 4 o'clock. The first program will be presented by Mrs. Arthur Rickard, soloist, and Mrs. Grace Jones, pianiste.

NEW LEGION DIRECTORS.

ALAMEDA, June 29.—Ned Johnson and Verdinal McKean have been chosen to serve as the two new members of the executive board of Alameda Post, No. 9, American Legion, according to an announcement made by William Dezen, post commander. The new officers will assume their duties at the next meeting of the executive committee and will serve until July 1, 1924, it is said.

N. E. A. Delegates Will See Berkeley Patriotic Program

BERKELEY, June 23.—Delegates to the National Education Association convention will assemble in Berkeley for the observance of Independence Day next Wednesday, when a patriotic program will be presented in the Greek theater.

Three of the leading educators of the West have been announced as speakers for the program. Dr. W. W. Campbell, now president of the University of California, will deliver an address of welcome.

"Education for citizenship" is the subject chosen by Will C. Wood, State superintendent of public instruction; while Dr. Henry Suzzalo, president of the University of Washington, will speak on "The Effective American University."

"N. E. A. Day" on the university campus will be observed on July 5. On the morning of this day the famous Berkeley play school, under the direction of Mr. Daisy Alfred Hetherington, will be open to delegates to the convention. In the afternoon a half hour of music will be given by the Berkeley Teachers' Association from 3:30 to 4 o'clock, following which a reception to the delegates will be given in faculty glade. The reception as planned by the Berkeley teachers will be an informal one.

BERKELEY CITY MANAGER ASKS BUDGET SLASH

BERKELEY, June 29.—A further slash of $115,000 must be made by Berkeley city executives in their preliminary budget estimates before they can be made to fit the city's purse for the coming year, it was announced by City Manager John N. Edy, on completion of a study of amended budget estimates returned to him by the city department heads.

"I have instructed the department heads to eliminate all items which are not considered as 'absolutely essential,'" declared Edy today as the budget for the coming year ought absolutely be kept within the city's $870,000 estimated income for the next fiscal year."

ESTIMATES TOO HIGH.

The budget estimates submitted to Edy ran a quarter of a million dollars over the figure set by Edy and was returned to department heads last week with the instructions that they be further cut.

Edy announced the combination of two city offices under the new administration. These are the offices of city treasurer and tax collector, which combined office is to be held by E. V. Gove, who is the incumbent city tax collector. The former city treasurer, H. L. Traub, [illegible] city auditor with the new administration. No other changes in department heads will be announced before July 15, Edy said today.

COUNCIL MEETS.

For [illegible] office Monday [illegible] Edy will hold a meeting of all city department heads and give them further instructions concerning reduction of expense.

The [illegible] city council was held today [illegible] bers except Charles D. [illegible] were present. The council [illegible] a resolution transferring [illegible] from the general fund to the [illegible] fund, which will allow the payment of salaries of city employees for the month of June.

Lack of Fruit Halts Cannery For Day

SAN LEANDRO, June 29.—Due to shortage of fruit, scores of men and women employed at the H. G. Prince cannery are temporarily out of work today. Expected shipments of San Joaquin Valley apricots did not arrive.

Sentence of Driver Suspended By Judge

William Boulding was today given a sixty day suspended sentence by Police Judge Tyrrell after he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving. The case was continued until August 29.

Monday night he was arrested after he drove his automobile into a drug store at Seventh and Filbert streets. He wrecked the front of the store. The owner of the building told the court that the damage to the building was $600 and to the stock $100. He was instructed by the court to make arrangements to pay for the damage. Boulding lives in Berkeley.

Y. M. I. WHIST PARTY.

ALAMEDA, June 29.—Preparations have been made for a whist party to be given tonight in the Y. M. I. hall on Santa Clara avenue, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Division No. 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians, according to an announcement made by Mrs. J. E. Templeman, chairman in charge of the evening. Proceeds from the affair will be donated to the [illegible] fund of the auxiliary, it is said.

FIGHT AGAINST ILLITERACY IN ADULTS, IS TOPIC

Chairman of N. E. A. Commission Addresses World Conference.

"The Removal of Adult Illiteracy," was the subject on which Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the illiteracy committee of the N. E. A., addressed the world conference on education today. Mrs. Stewart said in part:

"The fight on illiteracy means more than the teaching of adult illiterates to read and write. It is a fight on crime, disease, war and other enemies of mankind which illiteracy breeds. Illiteracy is related to and interwined with every phase of national life and world progress. Illiteracy breeds crime. The number of convicted criminals from illiterate sections has reached the masses. Illiteracy spreads disease. In illiterate sections the precautions of sanitation are little known and practised and innocent children pay the penalty with their lives. Here infant mortality mounts to the topmost round. World peace is a problem of international co-operation. Ignorance cannot co-operate and after diplomats have satisfied themselves that they have bound their nations together for universal peace, some illiterate Pancho Villa may disturb, not only the peace of his own, but of neighboring countries. Illiteracy is the foe of commerce. No manufacturer of pencils, paper, pen and ink will reap a dollar from the pockets of illiterates and all other merchandise save the coarsest commodities will have to look elsewhere for customers to purchase their wares. Illiterates can neither afford fine goods nor appreciate modern conveniences.

"It is evident that one of the most important problems facing the world conference on education is the removal of adult illiteracy. It is the one upon which the success of the other problems and activities of the conference hinge—the John the Baptist which must go before character instruction, health education, thrift and all the rest. An ignorant people in any nation or in any quarter of the world can obstruct the plans for the advancement of health, the improvement of character, the extension of thrift and other measures planned for the welfare of mankind. Therefore, our first great task is the removal of illiteracy. We need all men and women throughout the world enlightened that they may lend their aid in making the world a safer and happier place in which to live."

Health Body to See Play by S. F. Author

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The presentation of a three-act fantasy and prologue entitled "The Child," and written by Helen Jean Henry, former San Francisco feature writer and newspaper artist, will be one of the features of the International Health Conference, one of the sub-conferences of the World Conference on Education being held in San Francisco in connection with the National Educational Convention, the main sessions of which are taking place in Oakland.

A booklet containing woodcuts made from drawings by Miss Henry shows the various characters of the fantasy, which is intended to show the different ideas of various "health experts" as applied to children. The members of the cast are: The Child, Edith Caveggia; Mother, Ella Flynn; Father, Alfred Alden; Grandmother, Evelyn Webster; Teacher, Florence Hill; Nurse, Norine Runyon; Doctor, Leonard Compton; Society for [illegible] Health, Georgia Hanson; Society for Popularization of Vitamines, Pauline Birk; Society for Standardization of Perfection, Edwin Duerr.

The play is to be presented at the Fairmont Hotel following a dinner tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock. It is being produced by [illegible]

Claims Complaint Declared Illegal

A complaint in a small claims court must be sworn to before the judge of the court and no one else, according to the decision of Superior Judges T. W. Harris and George Samuels, who sat en banc to hear arguments involving the question today.

The case was one in which [illegible] commissioner, and Eva H. Edwards and her father, J. H. Hind, were the litigants. The amount involved was $50. The case was filed in Police Judge Robert Edgar's court in Berkeley.

The court was asked for a writ of prohibition preventing the small claims court from hearing the case on the ground that the complaint was sworn to before the clerk of the court instead of the judge. The court held that this process was illegal and not according to the provisions of the law and granted the writ.

Soft Drink Parlor Proprietor Arrested

ALBANY, June 29.—Gus Erickson, who operates a soft drink parlor at 415 San Pablo avenue, was arrested today by City Marshal John Glavinovich and Deputy Marshal Charles Hardy in a raid on his establishment when, according to Glavinovich, several bottles of jackass brandy were found. Erickson appeared in court today and was released on $200 bail, pending trial.

FLOWER PICKER FREED.

ALAMEDA, June 28.—Promise of Henry Elmore, an aged Alameda [illegible] to refrain from plucking flowers in the city parks won him probation when he appeared before Judge L. R. Weinmann on a charge of picking the blossoms in the municipal gardens.

Romance of U. C. Will Lead Couple To Altar in Japan

BERKELEY, June 29.—To wed the college sweetheart whom she has not seen for five years, Miss Elmira Garcia, 2523 Venvenue avenue, is today on her way to Japan on board the Pacific Mail liner President Taft. On arriving at Osaka, Japan, she will become the bride of Lloyd Sweetman, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in that city.

The romance of the couple began when the two were undergraduates at the University of California. Five years ago Seetman left for the Orient, where he engaged in Y. M. C. A. work. Since that time the two have kept up the courtship by correspondence.

BERKELEY CITY SCHOOL BUDGET IS $1,380,062

BERKELEY, June 29.—Calling for expenditures of $1,380,062 on the city school system, the board of education has adopted a tentative budget, to be presented to the boar dof supervisors for inclusion in the general county budget.

Teachers' salaries are the largest item of expense, totaling $978,125. Of this amount $590,727 will go to elementary and $352,416 to high school and $34,982 to kindergarten teachers.

In addition to the salary item the sum of $29,318 is included to cover other costs of running the Berkeley schools.

NEW ATHLETIC SYSTEM PLANNED

BERKELEY, June 29.—New systems for the administration of the University of California athletes, both local and intercollegiate, are being developed by Assistant Graduate Manager R. W. Cortelyou, who returned to Berkeley today following a visit to the leading universities of the east to study methods of athletic administration used there.

Adoption of new administrative plans will mean expansion of the graduate manager's office, and an attempt to improve the two major problems which come from the staging of large intercollegiate contests, the ticket sales and the traffic at the games.

Cortelyou's trip took him into conference with the athletics managers of Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio State and Iowa.

The graduate treasurer system as developed at Harvard by H. L. Moore has won the enthusiastic support of the California man, he says, and there is great likelihood that the new system here will be patterned closely after it.

Police Court Bail Forfeited By Two

ALAMEDA, June 29.—Bert Steger, charged with being intoxicated, and Leon La Fleche, charged with speeding, each forfeited $10 bail today when they failed to appear in police court.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of W. Welty, who was arrested several months ago in this city on acharge of violating the speed ordinance and who failed to appear when his c ase was called.

Barbecuer Engaged For Press Party

SAN LEANDRO, June 29.—J. C. Peralta has been asked to prepare meat for the Press Club of Oakland, which is giving a barbecue at the Coast League park tomorrow afternoon.

Peralta's service is much in demand along these lines. He will turn the spits at the Volunteer Fire Department's annual barbecue here [illegible]

AUDITORIUM IS GAY WITH SIGNED FLAGS OF NAVY

By FRANCES MONTGOMERY.

As if for a great tournament of Knowledge, the fluttering banners of the American navy signal corps decorate the Oakland civic auditorium. Single and erect they top the cornice, gracefully hanging in festoons they sway against the soft shadows of the granite figures of Wealth of the Mind, Consolation of Arts, Joy of Effort and Delight of Flowers. What more befitting medium could be chosen for the welcome in honor of the N. E. A.

Not a foreign flag there, contrary to the first impressions of many at sight of the colorful display. Each flag is our own and it is befitting, too, that the flags should be those of the American Navy. With the fleet in local waters and the hospitality of officers in charge of the battleships in receiving and entertaining world guests of the N. E. A., we are proud of those fluttering banners.

ALL ARE "VETERANS."

We are proudest for the reason that each of the one hundred flags flying there against the granite walls has seen active service in the American Navy. There are ensigns of the American Navy, the Union Jack of the American Navy, signal code flags and our national emblem alternating. It is due to Captain Frank A. Bell, who has served actively in the United States Army for 26 years that these flags of the American Navy adorn the civic building. For the moment the letters N. E. A. have changed their meaning and they stand for Navy-Ensign-America.

Part of the hospitality of the fleet in bay waters takes form in the invitation of the United States government to all visitors of the N. E. A. to go by special government boat on Friday morning to Angel Island, where the United States Navy will be host.

CALIFORNIA HOST.

The battleship U. S. S. California will be open every afternoon the coming week with the exception of the Fourth. From 2 to 4 o'clock the educational work on board the ship will be demonstrated for guests and officers of the California will make their guests welcome.

The Pacific Coast is truly the host of the N. E. A. today. The rapping of hammers, the thud of great boxes and barrels, as exhibits are built and gay decorations flower into place is as a small bombardment at the aisles upon aisles of booths inside auditorium walls; while outside in the sun of a California day the emblems of the American guardians of the sea fly overhead and reflect their colors in the neighboring ripples of Lake Merritt.

Marshal Charges Man With Forgery

SAN LEANDRO, June 29.—James Apostolo, aged 23, 5023 Webster street, this morning was formally charged iwth forgery on a complaint sworn to by Marshal J. F. Peralta. Bail was set at $2000 pending his arraignment Monday before Justice of the Peace W. J. Gannon.

Apostolo, according to the police, confessed to having obtained checks belonging to M. Rose from the Best Tractor Company, where they were employed. He says that he signed Rose's name and cashed them with local merchants. He is being held in the county jail.

Housewives Send Thanks to Merchants

ALAMEDA, June 29.—That the co-operation of the merchcants of Alameda was responsible in part for the success of the recent card party held by the Alameda Housewives' League in Legion hall for the benefit of the treasury of Alameda Post No. 9, American Legion, was the announcement made yesterday at a meeting of the league by Mrs. Mary Stroupe, chairman in charge of the affair.

Acting on the advice of Mrs. Stroupe a letter of appreciation was sent to all merchants who assisted in making th eaffair so suc-

TELEPHONE SERVICE HERE AND ABROAD.

The man who casually takes hold of the telephone to tell his wife that he will be "late for dinner" has little conception of the great convenience at his disposal as compared with many other lands.

A survey of the world telephone situation, contained in the reports of the Department of Commerce, shows that at recent meetings in France, during a "Posts, Telegraph and Telephone Week," there was considerable criticism of those services as conducted by the French government, and more especially of the telephone service. This holds good not only of France but, as everyone knows who has traveled on the Continent, it is true in larger or smaller degree of other countries. In some lands one has to give notice two hours in advance if one desires to talk long distance over more than twenty miles. In fact, talking long distance in some of the Latin countries is an event in the community.

At the French meeting mentioned by the U. S. Commercial attache in Paris, it is said that responsible officials commented severely on the inferior service rendered by the telephone system. Toll lines were said to be so unsatisfactory as to be hardly a factor in communication in France. Rural service is in its infancy. Other speakers at the conference compared French telephone service with that of other countries, and commented on the fact that the telephone is an instrument of everyday use in the United States and an item of luxury in France.

All of which may help us to be a little tolerant the next time Central gives us the wrong number, or informs us that "the line is busy."

THE RICHEST MAN.

Americans who are familiar with the names of Rockefeller, Ford, Vanderbilt, and others of the class, are apt to think that the greatest individual fortunes of the world are found exclusively in the United States. This, however, does not appear to be the case, since Europe now claims the distinction of having the two richest men in the world, Hugo Stinnes of Germany, and Sir Basil Zaharoff of Monte Carlo, Paris and London.

Zaharoff, who recently took over the Bank of Monte Carlo which he is reorganizing, is estimated to be the possessor of the immense fortune of nine hundred million pounds sterling. This though he was born [illegible] Greek parents at Constantinople.

But America need not envy Europe the distinction of having produced the world's richest man if one considers the source from which, according to the general understanding, this wealth has sprung. The bulk of it, so say those [illegible] was made by selling munitions of war, and by financing successful revolutions in Balkan countries. Thus the Zaharoff millions, and not alone the money of the late "Tin Plate King" Leeds, helped to return Constantine of Greece to his throne.

It is said that Zaharoff became interested in Monte Carlo through the financial difficulties of the Prince of Monaco, who is a great scientist and authority on submarine plant life, but not a business man.

Thus far Zaharoff has not entered the American investment field. American ways, and possibly the lack of the sort of intrigue that flourishes in the Balkans, probably offer no fertile soil for his peculiar genius.

This appears to be the heyday of big business mergers. It used to be that a merger attracted particular attention from the Government as well as the public. But nowadays they are so common that they receive negligible and indifferent notice from any quarter. Of late we have read of the merger of two big meat packing companies, Armour & Company and Morris & Company; and there is the Bethlehem-Midvale merger, the Anaconda-Chile copper merger, Kennecott-Cooper's acquisition of the Utah Copper Company; the Tobacco Products Corporation's plan to take over control of the Porto Rican-American Tobacco Company; the amalgamation of nine companies manufacturing matches into the Federal Match Corporation, and many other consolidations.

A "MIRACLE" DRUG.

In sporting parlance, Dr. House of Texas has seen Chief of Police Vollmer of Berkeley and gone him one better. The chief invented the "lie detector," which is an apparatus. It is applied to the subject and registers to show whether he tells the truth when giving testimony. The doctor made use of a drug—scopolamin—which, being administered, "numbs the conscious will" and loosens the subconscious will so that the subject, in answering questions, tells just how occurrences and acts of which he is believed to have intimate knowledge were.

The chief's invention did not to all minds prove all that was claimed for it, though given fair trial. The doctor's miraculous medicine is now undergoing demonstrations, and accounts are very enthusiastic as to its success. Doctors, scientists, penalogists and various lay spectators were "amazed," and experienced other emotions, according to reports, over the results.

Experiments were carried out at Berkeley last Monday, wherein Wilkens, whose trial and acquittal of the charge of being responsible for the death of his wife is undoubtedly remembered, not being satisfied that his representations as to the tragedy had been accepted by the public, sought a trial of the miraculous drug, and in the subconscious state repeated the version that he had told on the witness stand. That was held to be proof.

On Tuesday more extended experiments were conducted at San Quentin, where several prisoners volunteered as subjects. In every case it was declared the claims were proved. But Bluebeard Watson, who is in for life for slaying a superfluous wife, declined to avail himself of the opportunity to prove his innocence. He was convicted of slaying one, but is believed to have made away with several. Naturally he is reticent about it, and there was a general desire to try it on him. That he refused doesn't tend to clear up the suspicion.

As in all such discoveries, conservative scientists are reserving conclusions as to the real merits of scopolamin.

While many are disposed to wait additional testimony before expressing an opinion there is no questioning the fact that the scopolamin and the lie detector, the use of the old "twilight sleep" drug for this new purpose, and the machine which records variations in the heart beat, have served good ends.

Game laws are rigidly enforced in other States as well as in California. A fine of $250 and costs or a jail sentence of three months was the penalty imposed upon each of two violators of the migratory bird treaty act, administered by the Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture. The two men, residents of Savannah, Ga., while duck hunting along the Savannah river in Beaufort county, were apprehended by Federal game wardens, and found to have in their possession dead bodies of wood ducks in violation of the Federal law protecting waterfowl and other migratory birds.

Each year thirsty Americans consume 1,000,000,000 bottles of soft drinks, and this total does not include beverages such as near beer made from cereals. These drinks come from 10,000 bottling establishments and over 110,000 soda counters. The skilled chemist has provided a host of flavors which the consumer can not distinguish from the original. The [illegible] the color and flavor of fruits is being imitated. These modern beverages contain nothing dangerous to health, according to Federal experts, but the food and drugs act demands that such products be labeled for what they are.

One of the encouraging features of the world convention of educators is that while some nations are at swords points they send delegates to this convocation of teachers, who more or less must rub shoulders. A better understanding always results from association. Antagonism results from aloofness. Nearly always, as we see in individual instances, the enemy on approach proves to be less malign than he appeared at a distance. So the great educational meet may have an important result not largely calculated upon.

The Japanese woman who attempted harikari because she had spoken harshly to her husband, causing him to slam the door, affords a glimpse of Oriental psychology that is likely to be difficult of apprehension to western civilization. At least, such a cause is not expected to disseminate families hereabouts.

The stunt aviator still persists and all too frequently falls to his death. Stunts in the air are no longer novel, and there is no valid reason why they should be performed. What is needed aloft now is serious work in making the airplane safe for those who would embark in it for real reasons.

The LANTERN

"Colonel House declares United States inevitably will take its proper place in guiding world affairs," a news summary tells us. Aunt Prudence Heckleberry says that it is her intention to run the affairs of the world when she gains control of the U. S. government, but that her slogan—one of her slogans—will be: "Clean America First."

These announcements from Colonel House and Aunt Prudence, and other Great Americans, that the United States will before long proceed to run the world, must be very comforting to the other nations of the globe, and no doubt have much to do with fostering international good will.

The Goldfish?

Sir: A friend of Miss Prudence Hecklebury, I think it my duty to inform you that she is greatly distressed that any one should for one instant consider the mule a suitable emblem for her party. That animal has, no doubt, its place in the general scheme of things, and its work to perform, so far be it from Miss Prudence to condemn it, but, as she points out, even its sexlessness cannot nullify the fact the mule DOES kick and flourish its legs about in a manner calculated to call unnecessary attention to them.

Cannot a more suitable emblem than either the hen or the mule be chosen? What about the goldfish? This pretty little creature SEEMS to be minus the disgusting quality of sex, even if it is not, and its life, as any one can see, is clean, innocent and modest, spent in that pure element, water, and with nothing to hide, especially legs. Miss Prudence would be pleased to have the party leaders consider the goldfish very seriously. At any rate, she hopes that there will be no further talk of the mule.

Yours for the cause,
PHOEBE.

A headline informs us: "Ecuadorean Hen Gets Well Stewed on Pineapple and Tries to Crow." That settles it. The hen will positively NOT be the official emblem of Aunt Prudence Hecklebury's campaign for President.

Aunt Prudence, assures us that she personally will never eat another pineapple.

Just as we begin to get reconciled, in a manner of speaking, to a Spring without gin there looms up ahead of us a Summer without beer.

An Epitaph.

Some morning you will wake to find me gone.
A pointed paragraph in the morning paper—
If I have luck: "Buried to-morrow in the Potter's Field.
Two, sharp"; and then, perhaps, for old times' sake,
You will set up a stone, to keep thought of me awake.
Hewn thus, above my resting place:
"Born in Debt, Lived in Debt, Died in Debt.
This date.——,Death finds him clean."
So then, that I may sleep in peace, slap on a plaster,
That I may dream forever underneath a long-accustomed lien.

If you will promise this for me, Old Man,
I hope that you or, if not, your descent,
After long aeons of time are gone,
May collect the debt, and interest due,

AN ITALIAN OPINION

Edward G. Lowry, who writes interesting letters about European affairs for the Philadelphia Public Ledger, has been digging around in the minds of Italians to get their views of the American immigration law. The restrictions put upon immigration have greatly interfered with Italy's habits and ways of looking at things. The problem of surplus population in that country was taken care of in other days by the American open door. Italian finances were greatly helped by the stream of American gold that was sent back home by immigrants from Italy.

Many Italians figured confidently on spending a leisurely old age in their own land upon money earned in the United States. Now the door of the treasure house is slammed in their faces and the disappointed ones take this reversal of fortune as a deprivation of right. They regard the American immigration law as an affront and an outrage, and cannot see that the action which this country has taken is largely an outcome of their own attitude as to what immigra[illegible]

Nevertheless it is true that just as long as that continues to be the feeling of any considerable number of Italians or any other class of Europeans, just so long the immigration law ought to stand.—Detroit Free Press.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Fisheries Service Bulletin: "At St. Louis on May 28 there were sold for the account of the government 18,118 dressed, dyed and machined fur sealskins from the Pribiloff Islands. These skins brought a gross price of $564,134.75, an average of $31.14 a skin. The Maximum was $66 a skin. In addition there were sold fifty-five dressed, dyed and machined Japanese sealskins from Robben Island, these being the share of the United States government under the fur seal treaty. These skins brought a total of $1940, or an average of $35.27 a skin. There were also sold twelve confiscated sealskins. They brought a total of $46. The above skins were purchased by forty-nine different bidders, widely distributed over the country.

Seattle Times: "The English language is constantly growing. Sometimes we cannot tell definitely where we get some of the words. The lexicographers are uncertain, for instance, about the etymology of the word 'bogus.' They know that it was used nearly one hundred years ago in an Ohio newspaper, but can only conjecture concerning its origin. One suggestion is that it is an abbreviation of the old English word tanterabogus, meaning an evil spirit or a goblin, which does not explain much."

Salt Lake Tribune: "The usual summer dry season has appeared on the Pacific coast. The ocean breezes bear along the ocean fogs and moisture, but it is no longer precipitated as rain. Meteorologists tell us this is because the general winds, generally eastbound in this latitude, are passing from the cool ocean to the warm land. In winter the same winds are passing from the mild ocean to the cooler lands, thus producing rain by condensation."

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "From 30,000 volumes in 1908 the Columbia University Law Library has grown to 110,000 volumes. It is increasing at the rate of 8000 volumes a year. Yet there are in the world three law libraries even larger; and it will surprise no one that they are all in this country. They are the Law Library of the Library of Congress and those of Harvard Law School and the New York City Bar Association."

New York Herald: "Barefoot dancing has already been criticized on artistic and ethical grounds, but it never encountered opposition so potent as that of the poison ivy which interfered with rehearsals on a vacant lot in The Bronx, where a dancing master was drilling his pupils for a series of highly aesthetic steps. 'Dionysea,' which was the name of the proposed spectacle, was hopelessly routed by Rhus toxicodendron."

Medford Mail Tribune: "The alarming thing about matrons taking on beef and becoming elephantine in figure is that the 132 pounders worry more about it than the ladies who should. They desire to look like a high school girl forever, and would eat sawdust if an unknown doctor recommended it as a cure for obesity. But the fat of the land don't care."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

California produce has started moving to the East in tremendous quantities, according to news reports from [illegible] points of the central part of the state. More than four times more fruit has been shipped this year than had been shipped up to this date last year. Two solid trains of fruit and vegetables left Sacramento one day last week, the first of nineteen cars, thirteen of which were loaded with fruit from Vacaville and Penryn, and one with vegetables from the delta region. At the same time an entire steamer load of California canned goods left Oakland for the East.—Livermore Herald.

Friends of William G. McAdoo say he will soon make formal announcement of his presidential candidacy. One cannot but admire his courage in the fact of the fresh public memory of his recent connection with the government. More than any other man, Mr. McAdoo is personally responsible for the wild scramble of the railroads from which our transportation system is just recovering.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

The damage suit for $6116 for seizure of the carcass of a deer, a horse, wagon and camp outfit, brought last fall by Byron Augus[illegible] Squires, was settled by the jury's verdict for $52.50. As the Indians —Gene Ray being associated with Augustine in prosecuting the suit —demanded the jury, their costs for jury fees and reporting amounted to nearly $100, aside from attorneys' fees, so their judgment was an empty victory.—Lakeport Bee.

On the 16th of July bids will be opened for the sale of the old grammar school building, fence, stove, furniture, including the old school bell. Bids will be received separately on these various items, and it strikes the News that it would be an opportune time to get a fire alarm bell. If the Chamber of Commerce doesn't feel like making a bid, the citizens should get together and do it.—Brentwood News.

Chicken thefts from ranches in eastern Contra Costa county which have been going on for several months continue unabated, according to reports. The sheriff's office has been working to apprehend the thieves but, according to the officers, the perpetrators have thus far left but few clews on which to work.—Martinez Gazette.

The bill proposing to increase the salary of Contra Costa judges from $5000 to $6000 a year will not be signed by the governor. Of a dozen bills affecting judges' salaries the governor has announced that only one, that of increasing the salaries of Stanislaus jurists, will be signed.—Richmond Terminal.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

REQUESTING AN OLD-FASHIONED MEAL.

Once in our early wedded life
We had corned beef and cabbage now and then;
And in those days, my good and faithful wife,
I'll swear I was the happiest of men.
I would not cause one wrinkle in your brow—
But why can't we have such a dinner now?

Time was, my dear, you made a luscious hash;
I reveled in that most delicious fare.
Is there today no lure of love or cash
To get you such a dinner to prepare?
A year has come and gone, and still I wait,
Hoping to find some hash upon my plate.

I grant you fashions change, in men and food,
And olden ways must step aside for new;
Nor must you think I lack in gratitude
For all the many kindly things you do.
But some night when alone we sit to dine,
A good boiled dinner would be simply fine!

I would not overburden you nor task you,
I know the scent of cabbage you detest,
But now and then—and 'tis not oft I ask you—
May we not have the meal I like the best?
Out of the past let us some pleasure borrow,
Let's stay at home and have corned beef tomorrow.

IRREPRESSIBLE ADVOCATES.

California are irrepressible. Led by the state public service commission they come forward with a new scheme after defeat of their half-billion dollar water and power bill last fall. They now play on the boundless ambition of Los Angeles by proposing that that city grab for itself the Boulder canyon dam, which under Secretary Hoover's plan would be built for the common good of all the communities that are interested in the Colorado river.

Backed by the public power league, the state commission asks the people of the angelic city to vote $35,000,000 in bonds, of which $25,000,000 would be used to start work on the dam, in order that the city may sell power to all other interested communities and make a profit to amortize the debt. The dam, it is estimated, will cost the tidy little sum of $120,000,000, and it is proposed to vote further sums of $55,000,000 in 1925 and $40,000,000 in 1927. As the dam could produce no power, therefore no revenue, till completed, voting of the first issue of bonds would commit the people to vote the further issues. Thus the public ownership cranks lure the people on.—Portland Oregonian.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.

DO BABIES NEED AIR?

Even according to Holt (and Howland, in the latest edition or two) it is now advisable to take a young infant out of doors at the end of the first week, and the more time the infant spends in the open air the better for his health, strength, growth and good looks. I would not imply that Holt taught anything less than this even twenty years ago. He taught the same thing in his edition of 1902 before Howland became a co-author with him.

The emphasis I place on "now" means at this time of year, the summer time. These authorities seem to be heartily in accord that no such thing should be permitted in the fall or spring, but it is fine medicine, they seem to imagine, in the summer.

The baby needs the open air in the summer time, then, the good old summer time. My own notion is that the baby needs the air in all seasons and all weathers and that he is bound to suffer if he doesn't get it in winter or in the fall as he is in the summer, like the rest of us. The baby is a much more efficient heat producing machine than you or I. He frequently suffers from an excess of clothing, rarely from insufficient clothing. The great bugaboo of exposure is even more disastrous to the comfort and health of young infants than it is to adults.

No baby should be subjected to the annoyance of a strong wind which causes gasping for breath. Some sort of screen or protection against the wind should always be arranged when the baby is taking his nap in dooryard, on porch or fire escape or roof. Likewise it is cruel to place the baby where the strong sunlight can shine in or on his eyes. The shade of tree, wall, awning or parasol should be provided to protect the baby's eyes.

Dampness, chilliness, rawness, rain, hail or snow should by no means rob the baby of his daily airing and it is an insult to the intelligance of the mother to add any advice about reasonable or comfortable protection from these contingencies.

In the season when windows and doors are open, surely the baby needs no more clothing when out of doors than he wears indoors. In the colder season he must wear as much extra clothing as the weather demands when he takes the air. If it is very cold and the baby is puny or weak, a bag or bottle of hot water should be tucked in the foot of crib or cart when the baby is going out for his daily airing, but not in contact with his feet.

No flannel or wool bands, shirts nor stockings should be kept on the baby in hot weather; only the lightest cotton gauze or balbriggan material should be used. On very hot days, aside from giving the baby two daily tepid baths for comfort and health, let him enjoy for several hours the privilege of wearing nothing but a didy and a grin, while he amuses himself kicking and squirming around as he rolls on his blanket. This is one of the best preventives against rickets.

Before the baby learns to walk he should wear no shoes or boots, and in hot weather at any rate no stockings.

TWO HARRIS BROTHERS ACQUITTED

Sausalito Men Freed After Trial in St. Paul on Burglarizing Store Charge; Companion Serving Time

More than a year after their arrest in Oakland, Jack and Max Harris, brothers of Sausalito, have been acquitted of the charge of robbing Shapiro Brothers' jewelry store in St. Paul, according to a telegram received today by Sheriff Frank Barnet from Deputy Sheriffs Joseph Soares and Jack Collier.

Soares and Collier effected the arrest of the Harris brothers and "Gloomy Gus" Schactel, and this is their second trip to St. Paul as witnesses. In the first trial Schactel was convicted and is serving time, but the jury disagreed as to the guilt or innocence of Jack Harris. This trial was for a robbery which occurred in 1921.

In the trial which has just ended with an acquittal, Jack and Max Harris were charged with a former robbery of Shapiro's jewelry store in 1920.

RUTTER, U.S. ATTORNEY THREATENED

Mysterious Telephone Call Warns Wife of "Dry" Enforcer Husband Will Be Beaten; Williams Followed

A sudden night warning to Mrs. Samuel Rutter, 261 Alcatraz avenue, wife of the state prohibition director, that her husband would be attacked and beaten on a ferry boat while en route home from his office, combined with mysterious telephone calls and threats of a similar nature received by John T. Williams, United States attorney, has led to a searching investigation by agents of the Department of Justice, which were made known today.

The mysterious telephone message to Mrs. Rutter came at the time of the trial of the policemen convicted last week and sentenced Monday. The threats against Williams were made, it is said, at his home in San Mateo, where strange voices have frequently abused and upraided him at night on the telephone while his footsteps have been dogged by a stealthy individual who has trailed him from his office to the Southern Pacific depot.

By reason of the mention of the names of the McDonough brothers in the conversations over the phone with Williams, both federal officers assert that the threat against them, according to their belief, are the result of the convictions of Pete McDonough.

Rutter, since his wife was frightened two weeks ago, has a bodyguard continually with him.

"My wife received the message late one night when I was detained on business in San Francisco. She was frightened terribly as the man told her that there was a plot whereby I was to be assaulted on the ferry boat. She was told to communicate with me and, of course, did so at once."

Williams said that Rutter had been co-operating with him in all of the liquor prosecutions and undoubtedly that was the reason for the threat against the prohibition director.

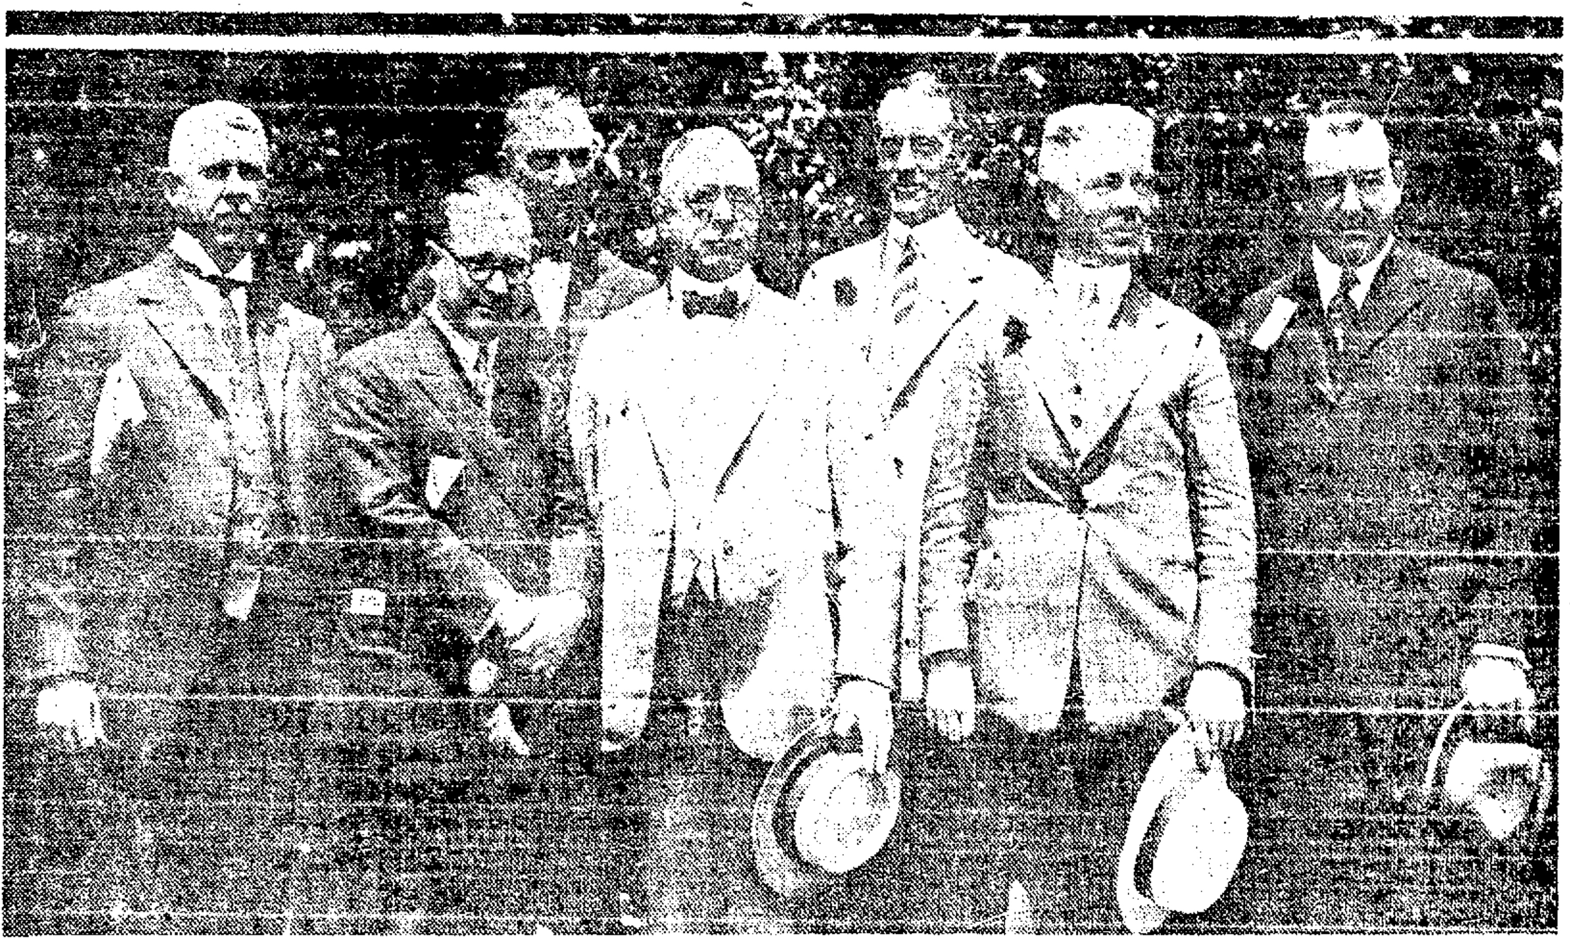
Postal Authorities Inspect Site for Local Substation

Members of the party of national and local postal officials and others who today visited the proposed location of Oakland's new branch postoffice building on Sixteenth street, a block from the S. P. station. Standing, left to right, in front of the projected site, are: Postal Inspector SAM H. MORSE; W. IRVING GLOVER, third assistant postmaster general; HON. JOHN H. BARTLETT, first assistant postmaster general and former governor of New Hampshire; Postal Inspector HARRY BY HALL; Postmaster JOSEPH J. ROSBOROUGH of Oakland; Representative JAMES H. MacLAFFERTY of Oakland, and Postmaster JAMES E. POWER of San Francisco.



Two Postoffice Chiefs Inspect Facilities Here

Two of the nation's highest postal officials—John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general and former governor of New Hampshire, and W. Irving Glover, third assistant, arrived in Oakland today to inspect proposed sites for the contemplated new postoffice sub-station, and to make a survey of present postal facilities here.

The postal executives arrived in Oakland at 11 o'clock by way of a government tug from San Francisco, which landed them at the foot of the Fourteenth street municipal wharf. They were accompanied by Postmaster James E. Power of San Francisco, and Postal Inspectors Sam H. Morse and Harry B. Hall of this district.

They were met by a reception committee, including Managing-director Roscoe D. Wyatt of the Chamber of Commerce, Representative James H. MacLafferty and Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough.

The party proceeded in automobiles to the site in the vicinity of the Sixteenth street Southern Pacific station which has been suggested for the new branch postoffice, and spent some time making a thorough inspection of it.

Under the present plan, the building will be constructed privately in accordance with government specifications, and will then be leased for postoffice purposes for a term of years. It will contain approximately 10,000 square feet of floor space.

The Sixteenth street site for the branch postoffice building is on the south side of the street between Willow and Wood streets, and is about a block and a half from the Southern Pacific station. Location of the branch office there would, according to Postmaster Rosborough, effect an immense saving in time of handling the mails, since 90 per cent of Oakland's postal matter passes through the Sixteenth street station. By adding 40,000 feet of floor space to that now available it would relieve the serious congestion that has been growing in the Oakland office for several years.

The postal officials were next taken to the roof of the city hall, where they were shown at one view the [illegible] of the [illegible] served by the Oakland postoffice. Later they were taken to the Hotel Oakland for luncheon as the guests of the Chamber of Commerce, and afterward for an automobile drive over the Skyline boulevard.

Bartlett and Glover have both been in attendance at the first annual postal conference of California, which was held this week in San Francisco.

AUSTRALIAN FLY PEST DANGEROUS SPEAKER AVERS

California Visitor to Antipodes Tells of Danger To State Fruit Crop

MARYSVILLE, June 29.—P. T. Hincks of Sutter county, who has just returned from a tour of Australia, yesterday told the members of the Marysville Rotary club some of his observations of the Mediterranean fly in that country, and the dangers to the fruit industry should the pest come to America.

Hincks went to Australia as the representative of the California Canning Peach Growers Association.

He said he found Australia has made great advances in fighting the fly through its government and marketing departments. On arriving at Sydney he found there was no damaged fruit on the market, but the fruit then on sale had not been infected, due to a late winter season, but that there was a possibility that it might appear in the later crops.

The Mediterranean fly attacks sound fruit and not dropped fruit that has ripened; it lays six to fourteen eggs to each fruit it punctures, and from the eggs boring into the fruit the maggots form and bore through. There is a wide range of fruits that are affected by the fly. In addition to the Mediterranean fly there is also a native Australian fly that is similar and is equally destructive. It came to Australia originally from India, and also is found in many of the south sea islands.

Where these flies are found it is necessary to pock the fruit green and the crop can only be used for cooking purposes. The fruit that drops to the ground is not marketed but is burned. So far as known the fly has not arrived in this country. Southern Australia owes its immunity from the fly to its strict quarantine regulations.

Squab Breeders to Elect New Officers

HAYWARD, June 29.—The annual election of officers for the Western Squab Breeders' association, formed in this city about three months or more ago, will take place in the Bank of Hayward hall Monday night. In addition to the election procedure, talks will be given by Allan Curry, C. R. King and Clarence Glass, all prominent pigeon men of the district, on the raising and disposition of the squabs. Additional association business will be discussed and transacted.

C. R. King is the president of the organization, with I. L. Quayle, Oakland, vice-president, and Mrs. Louise Van Wyck, Hayward, secretary.

Tallest U. C. Student Quits Ranger's Job

WOODLAND, June 29.—Since the close of the University of California this year, Stanley Maxwell, grandson of former Mayor J. O. Maxwell, of Woodland, has been doing forest ranger duty in the two valleys. Young Maxwell left yesterday for his home in Berkeley, planning on a vacation before reentering the University of California, where he holds the record of being the tallest student.

When young Maxwell left Woodland he was a boy in knickerbockers. He returned a man standing six feet six inches, and not yet fully grown.

Healdsburg Miss Tells of Betrothal At Quiet Gathering

HEALDSBURG, June 29. — The betrothal of Miss Marion Bane to C. S. Sanford, local representative of a big packing house, was announced recently at a gathering of relatives and intimate friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Bane. The secret was out when Sanford presented his bride-to-be with a large bouquet of flowers, in which was concealed a diamond engagement ring.

Miss Bane is just 18 years old and a native of this city. She was educated in Healdsburg and was a member of the graduating class this month. During the school year she showed a decided talent for amateur theatricals, and appeared in three school plays, playing the leading feminine roles in two of them.

The date for the marriage has not been set, but it is believed it will take place in the early fall.

U. C. CHIMES TO PLAY SONGS OF OTHER COLLEGES

BERKELEY, June 29.—The university chimes will forget college rivalry this summer and ring forth with as large a repretoire of college songs from the country over as can be fitted into the limited range of the bells.

This announcement was made today by Henry Stafford King, chimes master, who announced he would play the songs of other universities in the regular chimes periods provided students of other colleges now attending the university furnish the music.

He called attention to the range of the chimes, being restricted to twelve bells, ranging from C to E and including F sharp and B flat so that tunes may be played in the keys of C, G and F.

Yolo Cutting Down On Grain Fire Loss

WOODLAND, June 29.—Every harvester in Yolo county is being inspected this week by Jack Yost, fire inspector, to force operators to have their machines fully equipped to prevent grain and harvester fires. The grain harvest is well under way and all agencies of district, county and state have combined in Yolo county in particular where there is close to 200,000 acres in grain, to limit loss by fire. Two years ago Yolo county stood second among the counties of the state in fire losses.

NEW GOLF CLUB AND COURSE FOR COAST PROPOSED

Site Selected On Eminence Between Monterey Bay and Mountains.

CAPITOLA, June 29.—California is soon to boast another of the finest golf courses in the world. The site selected is at Capitola. Negotiations for the construction of the course were opened here this week between the newly organized Capitola Golf and Country club and W. Herbert Fowler, golf architect and authority.

Coincident with the completion of plans for the 36-hole course the Capitola Golf and Country club has been formed with a membership of 450, comprising business and civic leaders from all parts of the United States who spend their summers in California. Among the principal organizers are E. O. McCormick, vice-president of the Southern Pacific Railroad; Frank H. Hitchcock of New York, former Postmaster General; H. Allen Hispin, Robert Hays Smith and L. E. Hanchett, capitalists, and W. Herbert Fowler.

Work on the clubhouse and the golf course, to cost $250,000, will begin within a few weeks. The site selected for the course and clubhouse is on an eminence overlooking Monterey bay on one hand and the wooded slopes of the Santa Cruz mountains on the other.

MASKE DBANDS RAIDING MILLS

SYDNEY, N. S., June 29.—Bands of masked men today made several raids on steel plants here where a strike is in progress. The raids followed several clashes with the police last night and the stoning of a magistrate who attempted to read the riot act in Whitney Pier.

Company officials expressed fear that the raiders might accidentally set off stills containing high explosive chemicals.

CONSTRUCTION OF U. C. $1,000,000 STADIUM RUSHED

BERKELEY, June 29.—Assurance that the $1,000,000 California Memorial Stadium, now under construction in Strawberry canyon, will be ready for the annual game between the Stanford and California football teams is contained in the announcement by Comptroller Robert Sproul that work on the stadium is now a month ahead of schedule.

The game this year is scheduled November 24 and this will mean that the new field will have to be completed at least a month before that date, in order that a firm turf may be grown for the game.

Benjamin Johnson Dies in Minnesota

DANVILLE, June 29.—The news of the death of Benjamin Johnson, father of Stephen Johnson of Danville, was received here this morning by friends of the family. According to the message, death came while Johnson, in company with his wife, his son Stephen and the latter's wife, were visiting in Carlos, Minn.

Johnson was well known in Danville, having been a frequent visitor here with his son, who has lived here for a number of years. He was prominent in Alameda county politics, and at one time was a candidate for sheriff of that county.

Magnates Snipe Pink Rats Along Monterey Shore

MONTEREY, June 29.—Rat-shooting has become the latest sport for the Monterey Millionaires. Each day finds dozens of men and women lined up along the Monterey waterfront in target practice.

Hundreds of enormous pink rats have long been known to inhabit the large rocks which are piled up near the wharves, but only lately have they attracted attention. For years these animals have swarmed in the hidden places along the coast, preying on refuse and dead fish, but so common were they that no one thought much about them until the vacationers, down from Del Monte, began pelting them with stones, as they dashed in and out of the rocks.

Now rat target is all the fad. One man is reported to have carried off the week's laurels by killing four with one shot.

SLAYER OF 'HOBO AUTHOR' HUNTED

SAN JOSE, June 29.—Officers here are making an exhaustive search for the murderer of "Jack of the Road," 19-year-old hobo author, beaten to death with a piece of railroad iron in a box car at Niles Wednesday night. Sheriff George W. Lyle and Chief of Police J. N. Black, advised that a Mexican attired in high boots and a cowboy hat and answering the description of one of the slayer suspects, was seen lurking in the vicinity of Chinatown yesterday afternoon, detailed men to search for the Mexican.

One man answering the description, found camped in a creek bottom in the railroad yards late yesterday by Southern Pacific Officer Larry Finneran, was closely questioned by Deputy Sheriffs Earl Hamilton, E. A. Raymond and Hubert Bartley and Police Officer H. F. Schumacher. He claimed to have been camping in the same spot for three days. His story was [illegible] by a party of fruit pickers camped nearby and the Mexican, who gave the name of Joseph Mendoza, was not placed under arrest. No trace of the man fitting the description of the murderer seen in Chinatown has as yet been found.

Committees Named For U. of C. Fund

BERKELEY, June 29.—At the request of the board of directors of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce, the San Francisco and Oakland chambers have appointed committees to confer with the Berkeley committee to devise ways for raising the $50,000 required to enable the University of California to secure the two state appropriations of $50,000 each for the purchase of experimental land in Berkeley for the college of agriculture.

FOUR EPOCHS OF STATE HISTORY TO BE REVIEWED

Salinas Pageant Will Give An Elaborate Picture of California Progress

SALINAS, June 29.—The historical pageant, "Footsteps of Four Nations," that is to be given July 19 and 20 at Salinas will picture the four epochs in California history that make Monterey county one of the historically richest in the state. Beginning with the coming of the priests, the pageant represents incidents typical of Indian life, and the effect of the priests upon them; of the gay colorful Spanish—Colonial period; of the patriotism of the Mexicans, and of the coming of the Americans.

In all these will be nineteen episodes in the pageant, arranged as follows:

In the priests and Indian period, the hanging of the bell that is to call the Indians to the Christian religion by Father Junipero Serra and a companion monk; the story of an Indian wedding feast and the story of the planting of Viscaino's cross on the shores of Monterey bay, the first interesting as a picture of Indian life before the priests arrived and the second vital as commemorative of the first Roman Catholic service in California, and a processional of priests and Indians that indicates the civilizing influence of the priests.

In the Spanish-Colonial period, a serenade, elopement and wedding followed by a ball given in honor of the young couples; the legend of the pearls of Loreta, wherein a lover steals from Our Lady of Loreta the most beautiful pearls in the world to present them to his sweetheart, and suffers the penalty of his sacrilege.

In the Mexican period, the raising of the Mexican flag; Pico's demand for tribute; the Mexican Jarabe; prophecy of the lawlessness that will follow the injustices of the governors, and Alvarado's uprising.

In the coming of the Americans, Fremont's request made to Castro for protection; the legend of the Sherman rose, and the raising of the American flag by Commodore Sloat.

METHODIST ROME PLANS START ROW

ROME, June 29. — American Methodists are threatening the peace of mind of Rome.

The American Methodists propose to build a large international college for boys upon Monte Mario, one of the most conspicuous sites in Rome, overlooking the Vatican.

Meanwhile the General Assembly of the President of the Catholic Associations of Rome has passed a motion denouncing the proposed building as "Insulting to Catholicism, to Italy, to the city of Rome, to history, and to art," and expressing the hope that the government and the Royal Commissioner of Rome will intervene.

It seems that the grounds where the German Emperors of the Middle Ages pitched their tents will become the battleground of a new controversy.

SONOMA GRAND JURY SUGGESTS CHARTER REGIME

New County Hospital, Budget and Highways Mentioned in Final Report.

SANTA ROSA, June 29.—Besides requesting the supervisors to memorialize Congress to modify the Volstead act by permitting light wines and beer the Sonoma county grand jury Wednesday made several other recommendations in its final report.

An entirely new county hospital, a charter or county manager form budget system are among the projects recommended. The grand jury declared oil macadam highways, such as has been built in Sonoma county during the past two or three years, to be a failure, and urged a more permanent type of highway construction.

The books of former County Auditor C. A. Pool, now under several indictments charging alleged embezzlement, were described by the grand jury's report as deplorable and appalling.

The report of Clyde M. Gray, the grand jury's special investigator, cited in this connection a considerable number of instances in which Pool is alleged to have received money for the redemption of land sold for taxes and not to have turned it over to the county. Gray reported that in many instances Pool had received checks, currency and money orders over a long period and had put them in a desk drawer, where they were found by Gray's investigation, several years after the receipt of the sums involved.

At least $10,000 damage was done by the fire which late Wednesday afternoon destroyed the Armstrong dry cleaning establishment and damaged the Douglas cigar store and barber shop, the Fehrman & Peters grocery and a building formerly occupied by a garage. The fire was caused by an explosion in the drying room of the cleaning works, and it spread rapidly to the nearby buildings, all frame structures. Three volunteer fire fighters were injured, but none seriously.

Vallejo Redmen will bring their degree team here tomorrow to stage an open-air adoption in Rincon Valley.

Association Holds Big All Day Outing

Dewey Parent-Teacher Association members participated in an all-day outing at Lincoln Park, Alameda, Wednesday. Games and wonstunts provided the entertainment after the luncheon hour. Mrs. R. Souza won the prize as the fastest runner, and Mrs. Theodore Bruck as the fastest skipper. Mrs. John Cardwell and Mrs. E. F. Dyer took honors as the champion peanut jugglers. Violin numbers were contributed by Leon Seiff.

Wife Deserted While Ill, She Complains

When Mrs. Frances M. Carter was ill in bed her husband deserted her and she would have died had it not been for neighbors chancing to find her, she sets forth in a divorce complaint on file in the Superior court today against Morris J. Carter.

Mrs. Carter declares her husband deserted her on three occasions; that he threw dishes at her, and that he was intoxicated a number of times.

JUVENILES TO END 'KID DAYS' BILL TONIGHT

Little Performers Have Been Pleasing Crowds at T. & D. Theater.

TRIBUNE Juveniles, who have been appearing all this week at the T. & D. theater in "Kid Days," will close a successful engagement with the last performance being set for tonight.

The little performers have been appearing before large audiences at every show since their first performance last Saturday afternoon. "Kid Days" is all that its name implies and depicts in a charming manner the actions and mannerisms of a group of children at play on the playground of the old "Hickville" school, so dear to the memory of most all of the grown-ups who can recall their own kid days from watching the play.

The play was put together by Beverly Swabey, juvenile director for The Oakland TRIBUNE, and was coached by Miss Claire Jahnigen. Those who take part and the character they portray are:

Opening number, "In the Good Old Summer Time"; song, "Happy" by Adele Leahey; song and dance, "Down at the Old Swimming Hole," by Alberta Blair and chorus, Dorothy Daun, Nyla Tansey, Arlina Jorgenson, Kathryne Matthews, Babe Pretions and Gladys Silva; dance specialty by Evelyn Grace Cavanaugh; song and dance, "Tittle Tattle Tale," by Doris and Thelma Hubbard; song, "Freckles," by Babe Pretious; rube song and dance, by Dorothy Duan and Dorothy Barke; song, "Sunbonnet Sue," by Gladys Silva, Shirley Ives, Nyla Tansey and Arlina Jorgenson; "Raggedy Ann" dance, by June Savage; "Schoolhouse Blue," by Dorothy and Kathryne Matthews; finale, "School Days," by entire troupe.

AGED JAPANESE WOMAN GUILTY OF BOOTLEGGING

Mrs. Sadie Rui, a Japanese, 52 years old, today was found guilty by Police Judge Terrell of violating the Wright act. She will be sentenced tomorrow morning.

She was arrested about a week ago when Sergeant E. W. Brock and members of the dry squad raided a Japanese rooming house at 625 Franklin street. They found a bottle of wine in the kitchen. When they made the raid Mrs. Rui was in another room. The arresting officers testified that in the past year they had seen Mrs. Rui working in the house. The prosecution contended that she was in charge of the rooming house and was responsible for the liquor being in the kitchen. She is at liberty on $500 bail.

POLICE JUDGE IS JAILED BY PEACE JUSTICE

SIOUX CITY, Ia., June 29.—Police Judge Carlos Goltz was sentenced by Justice of the Peace Lackie to five days in the county jail, after he had pleaded guilty to violating the city parking law in police court. He announced he would appeal.

Justice Lackie a few moments previously had been found guilty of a similar offense and sentenced by Judge Goltz to pay a fine of $2, and to study the traffic regulations at police headquarters for two hours.

Jury Frees Husband of Bigamy Charge

WOODLAND, June 29.—Davis James Castro, twice married, and charged with bigamy by the father of his latest wife, Miss Mary Birdwell of Woodland, was acquitted by a jury here late yesterday afternoon after ten minutes' deliberation in Superior Judge W. A. Anderson's court. Castro offered not a scintilla of evidence to offset the [illegible]

A good reputation, constant industry and a strong liking for his second wife, a mere slip of a girl, coupled with an intimation that he thought his first wife legally divorced, she having gone to Reno, Nevada, for that purpose, saved Castro from being convicted. James M. Birdwell, father of the girl, who objected to the marriage, worked up the bigamy prosecution.

ACCUSED DEFRAUDER HELD.

DETROIT, Mich., June 29.—Joseph W. Boyd, said to have sold $160,000 worth of stock in two companies organized to produce "beauty clay" and wanted in Phoenix, Ariz., on a charge of using the mails to defraud, has been ordered returned to Phoenix by Judge Arthur J. Tuttle in federal court. Boyd, arrested in Port Huron, Mich., Wednesday, was held in $25,000 bond when he appeared before Judge Tuttle yesterday.

WIFE CHARGES NEGLECT.

Maurice Zuckerman had no time to entertain his wife, but spent both time and money in extending hospitality to other persons, Carrie G. Zuckerman declared in a suit for divorce filed today. The couple were married June 5, 1901, and separated July 15 of last year.

FLOWER-DECKED AUTOS WANTED IN JULY 4 PARADE

An appeal to all automobile owners to decorate their cars with flowers for the Fourth of July parade in Oakland was made today by the veterans' committee, of which Robert M. Ford is general chairman.

Two hundred decorated automobiles are needed for the parade of flowers planned by the committee. Automobiles with just a few flowers are not wanted. The committee wants automobiles decorated from the radiator to the gas tank with the most gorgeous flowers obtainable. For this purpose it is not necessary to use expensive flowers, the committee points out. Any sort of colorful flowers will do, just so long as there are plenty of them.

An automobile caravan a mile and a half long, bearing tons of flowers, is the ambition of the committee, which desires to impress the visitors to the National Educational Association convention now in session here.

Charles A. A. McGee was selected today to deliver the address for the patriotic program. The program will be held at the Municipal Auditorium theater at 1:30 p. m. instead of at Lakeside Park. The athletic events will take place at the same hour at the lake. Immediately after the parade and just preceding the athletic events, the barbecue will be held for the service and former service men who participated in the parade.

A feature of the patriotic program at the auditorium theater will be a dramatization by students of the Oakland High School, entitled "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence," in which all participants will wear colonial costumes.

HERD KEPT OFF SUMMER RANGE BY DEEP SNOW

JACKSON, June 29.—Deep snow still blocks the way to the summer cattle ranges of Steve Ferrari, local stockman, who has been forced to return, after vainly trying to reach his range near Tragedy Spring, in the vicinity of Silver Lake. Not in years has the snow lain so long, he says. Unless hot weather sets in he will not be able to drive in his cattle for several weeks.

Richmond Dealers in Cars Organize

RICHMOND, June 29.—Local automobile dealers perfected a Richmond association today, adopting as their slogan "Buy in Richmond." John S. Wood was elected president; Frank Scholes vice-president and B. F. Urquhart secretary-treasurer.

Two interesting talks on the value of organization were made at the meeting today by E. M. Tilden, president of the First National bank and E. M. Downer, president of the Mechanics bank. A committee was appointed to take up the matter of the problems of the used car dealer. The committee is composed of A. E. Strom, R. U. [illegible]

Autoist Arrested For Being Drunk

SAN JOSE, June 29.—John Kellaher of this city was arrested early last evening on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, following a crash between his car and that driven by G. J. Walker of South Seventeenth street, on Phelan avenue. Kellaher received slight cuts about the face in the accident. Several occupants of Walker's car escaped injury. Both machines were slightly damaged. Kellaher was confined in the county jail for the night. He is scheduled to appear before a justice of the peace here some time today. Deputy Sheriffs Floyd Hopper and Hubert Rattley of Sheriff George W. Lyle's office made the arrest.

Dorcas Society Is to Hold Big Picnic

HAYWARD, June 29.—Members of the Ladies' Dorcas society of the Hayward Presbyterian church will hold their annual picnic and fete this afternoon and evening on the grounds of the Dr. R. Morton Manson residence, Castro street. The affair will begin at 3 o'clock. An open air dinner, served under the trees of the spacious grounds, in a setting of color and decoration, will take place shortly after six o'clock. In the night a literary musical program will be rendered.

Among those taking a prominent part in the annual event are: the Mesdames Josiah Daniel, A. O. Pimental, A. Kiefer, R. Morton Manson, C. R. Rogers (president), and Miss Carrie Jensen.

Club Adjourns Its Work Until Fall

HAYWARD, June 29.—Agreeing that other diversions that the summer season brings would detract from the interest to the organization, members of the Hayward Hill and Valley club, a formation consisting of local women and devoted primarily to social activities, have ordered a temporary disbandment. The first business meeting, marking the reformation, will be held in early September. Mrs. George Kavanagh is president.

Although a temporary dissolution has been effected, the proposed series of whist and bridge tournaments opened recently and achieving a splendid initial success, will be continued.

Interest Grows in Big Baseball Game

HAYWARD, June 29.—Community interest and anticipation is centering on the scheduled baseball game between the Hayward Merchant Boosters' baseball club and the travelling team of the Bloomer Girls, to be played at Boosters' Park Monday afternoon. The game, to be of the twilight variety, will open at 5 oclock sharp.

NEW COMMITTEE NAMED.

HAYWARD, June 29.—[illegible] has been made by John Lee Wilbur, president of the Hayward Rotary club, of the entertainment committee for the pending month. It consists of David Roberts, merchant of this city; Martin Madison, prominent fruit packer, and Andrew J. Garin, agriculturist and president of the Alameda county farm bureau. Monday's luncheon will be largely taken up with a report of the St. Louis Rotarian convention by Mark Lee, club secretary, chosen delegate.

VOTE TO BE CANVASSED.

HAYWARD, June 29. — The bond election will be canvassed at a special meeting of the city council Monday night. No other business will be brought before the members on the occasion.

FOOD FOUND TO CONTROL BIRTH, DOCTORS TOLD

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Dr. Katherine Bishop, of Berkeley, speaking at the convention of the American Medical Association, announced the discovery that there is an unknown quantity in food which may determine the future of the race.

When this element was withheld from a group of mice used in experimentation, Mr. and Mrs. Mouse grew and were healthy, but no little mice came to brighten their home.

The diet which left them childless was made up of casein, cornstarch, lard, milk fat, salts and dry whole wheat.

As soon as meat or cereals and green leaves were added to this diet, there was a "rather sudden" increase in the mouse family.

This newly discovered factor in diet, Dr. Bishop said, had been proved to be distinct from the much discussed "vitamines."

MRS. NELS CLEMENS, member of the Hayward Ladies' auxiliary to the American Legion, who is assisting in preparations for the dance this evening.

Subsidiary of Legion Post at Hayward Sponsors the Affair Tonight.

HAYWARD, June 29.—As a means of raising funds with which to continue regular visitations to the ward inmates at the Palo Alto government hospital, members of the Hayward Ladies' Auxiliary, a subsidiary to American Legion Post No. 68 here will give a social dance in the Bank of Hayward hall tonight. A novel decorative effect has been created, while an abundance of confetti, serpentine and toy balloons will be noticed. Refreshments will be served. With delegates from adjoining towns and cities already denoting intention of attending a large participation is anticipated. Mrs. Laura Frank is commander.

Among the members taking an active part is Mrs. Nels Clemens of the arrangements committee.

DIRECTORS WILL CONSIDER RIFT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Members of the board of directors of the United Bank & Trust Company, which last Monday by a vote of 15 to 2 ousted James M. Henderson, Sacramento banker, from the chairmanship of the board, is scheduled to convene here late today.

While the purpose of the meeting is said by members of the board to decide upon a dividend question, the financial district today was speculating as to the next step in the rift existing between Rudolph Spreckels, president of the institution, and Henderson. Spreckels is given credit with engineering the proceedings, which resulted in Henderson's removal.

Both Henderson and his attorney, A. A. de Ligne, who are members of the board, are planning on attending the session of the board of directors, late today.

Crockett Man to Face Prosecution

MARTINEZ, June 29.—Peter Pioda, arrested Wednesday in [illegible] on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, as a result of a collision between a car driven by him and one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Wells of this city, was released last evening on $1000 bonds.

It is alleged that Pioda, after agreeing to take Mrs. Wells to the hospital following the accident, fled from the scene and that he was intoxicated at the time of the accident. [illegible] time of the accident.

Monterey Sportsmen Will Plant Trout Fry

SALINAS, June 29.—President William Jeffery has called a meeting of the Monterey County Sportsmen's Association for this evening for the purpose of arranging to receive a large consignment of trout fry, which will be sent here Saturday by the state fish and game commission for distribution in Monterey county streams. Committees are to be chosen to take charge of the fish as well as planting them in the water courses of this section. Part of the consignment will be sent to King City, south of here.

WOMAN HELD IN FRAUD.

LOS ANGELES, June 29. — Said to be wanted by San Francisco authorities for alleged embezzlement of a legacy amounting to $1452, Mrs. Anna May Hunt, white-haired woman of 55, today was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Marty at her home on Witmer street and is held for the northern city police.

SAN JOSE YEGGS STEAL AND BLAST POSTOFFICE SAFE

SAN JOSE, June 29.—Cracksmen early this morning secured $200 when they blew open the safe of sub-station No. 4, connected with the San Jose postoffice, after hauling it eight miles into the country, according to reports from police headquarters.

The office, located at C. C. Gurrie's store at Tenth and Reed streets, was entered through a side door, and the 900-pound safe rolled to the street and down Reed to Ninth where it was loaded on a waiting truck, police investigations carried on this morning show.

Following the report by Gurrie when he opened the store, Chief of Police John N. Black and Police Officers John J. Murphy and E. W. Wolford took the tracks of a car to the Evergreen tract, eight miles from town, where the wrecked safe was found.

Several hundred dollars' worth of stamps, registered mail, government drafts and postoffice equipment, stored in the safe, were scattered along the roadside.

John Perry, rancher near where the safe was found, reported to Black's office that he had heard a loud explosion about 4:30 o'clock. Nitro-glycerine was used to force open the safe.

Resemblance of the tread on the tires followed by the officers in finding the safe with those on the car used to cart off $ 000 in clothing from the Martin & Silva store at Gilroy was mentioned by Black after a study of the case.

Crop Prospects at Turlock Are Bright

TURLOCK, June 29.—There is quite an optimistic spirit here with regard to the prospects for the coming season. This feeling prevails equally with the growers of cantaloupes, and the tree fruit men. The weather here for the past month or so has been most freakish, and all kinds of predictions have been upset. Apricots that should have ripened a month ago are now coming on and the cannery has just commenced operations.

The crop outlook for cantaloupes, honeydews, water melons, and casabas is exceedingly bright. There is every prospect of the market being up to the quality of the goods that will be delivered some time next month. Several farmers have reported sets of from eighteen to fifteen melons. There is a marked absence of the dreaded aphis, which usually breeds heavily in the kind of cool weather that has prevailed here for over a month.

From present indications, and taking a line through the inquiries received here from the east, there is likely to be a very large demand for the products from Turlock this year.

Colusa Girl Returns From Foreign Travel

COLUSA June 29.—Miss Ruth Dobbins, who has been studying at Paris and who recently toured Europe and northern Africa, has returned to her home in Colusa. Her father, Rev. H. T. Dobbins, who has been attending a class reunion at Princeton university, met her at Niagara Falls and returned with her.

JUDGE DUNCAN HOST.

WALNUT CREEK, June 29.—About twenty friends and relatives enjoyed a party given by Judge and Mrs. George O. Duncan in honor of the graduation of their son Curtis Duncan, from the Mt. Diablo Union high school. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games after which refreshments were served.

Declaration of Independence, 1923

When in the course of human events, it becomes economical and healthful to dissolve the foolish prejudices which have bound us to certain matters of taste, and to gain among the Powers of the earth credit for intelligent and independent action, a decent respect for the opinions of mankind requires that we should declare the causes which impel the dissolution.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are born with some inbred tastes that are expensive and not entirely healthful; that among these tastes are tastes that lack the necessary Energy to carry us on in our pursuit of Happiness.

We, therefore, do, in the name of Common Sense, declare that we are, and of Right ought to be Free of at least the Prejudice that has kept us from using

ISLAND OF OZ PAGEANT DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

Letters of congratulation, many of them from cities outside of Oakland, are being received by the executive committee of the Oakland Labor Temple Association congratulating the organization upon the beauty and artistic arrangements of the Island of Oz pageant now being staged on Lake Merritt. One writer, signing herself a delegate to the convention of the National Educational Association, writes that she has witnessed pageants and spectacles all over the country and that never has she seen anything so beautiful and so appealing.

Numerous letters are being received from Oaklanders praising the organization upon offering an entirely new type of entertainment.

LETTERS PRAISE FETE.

"Aside from the satisfaction which we take in the enormous crowds attending the pageant, we are particularly gratified at the letters which we are receiving commenting upon the beauty of the spectacle which we are presenting," explained Senator Edgar S. Hurley, of the executive committee, yesterday.

"The beautiful stage setting, wonderful costumes, the magic of the colored lights and the beauty which comes when the entire spectacle is reflected in the dark waters of the Lake, have captivated the artistic sensibilities of spectators. The spectacle is something entirely out of the ordinary, and very different. It tells a complete story through the medium of songs and dances."

CONFUSION ELIMINATED.

Confusion which arose during the opening performances due to the unexpectedly large crowds has been eliminated. An entrance to the reserved section has been cut in the center of the grandstand.

A feature is being made of the afternoon performance. All concessions will start at 2 o'clock. The stage show will start at 3 o'clock. Owing to the fact that the beauty of the pageant depends largely upon the use of lights, it has been found impossible to give matinee performances of this portion of the entertainment.

State Presents Case In Death of Dancer

SAN DIEGO, June 29.—The prosecution in the second trial of Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, Camp Kearny hospital physician, charged with the murder of Fritzi Mann, dancer, devoted all of yesterday's sessions of court to establishing the position and condition of her body when it was found on the beach at Torrey Pines. Five witnesses were heard, the state following closely the line of evidence laid out at the first trial, which resulted in cluded two traffic officers and a police sergeant, and today the disagreement. The witnesses inprosecution called Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly and Dr. John J. Shea, autopsy surgeon.

Curtain Calls
By Wood Soanes

YOU really must hand over the palm to A. H. Woods. He is a firm believer in the ancient saw about trying again and again.

First of all Woods secured the rights to this German farce and then had it re-written. He tried it out of town where it was found that the third act was utterly impossible.

Woods remanded the piece to the storehouse and sent in a hurried call for the play doctor who was ordered to put the third act in shipshape. The act was re-vamped and Woods tried it again. This time, same verdict.

Undismayed, Woods decided to convert the play into a musical comedy. If the first two acts were good and the last act bad, he reasoned, why not cast the last act into the outer darkness and go on with the first two.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Well, to make a long story longer and thus use up some additional space, the musical comedy was prepared and sent out to the waiting public. The public viewed it on passes as Mr. Woods' guests and like all guests went out and shouted to the four corners that it was terrible.

Now any other human being, having spent that much time and money on the venture would have been willing to call quits. Not so this hombre. He called in Otto Harbach who is something of a shakes as regards playwrighting, and Harbach is now constructing another new third act.

And what is more "Lonely Wives" will once more go to the jungles for a try-out and then return, it is hoped, to a triumphal engagement in New York. There is no telling. It may be the reigning hit of next season. And it may land in the same store house where [illegible]

Life of An Actor Is Tough, Says Star

Harry Mestayer has deserted the stage for the pictures and in his desertion hangs a tale of his own telling. He has decided that the youth of today should be warned that the life of an actor is not one of roses and that even a successful actor is not of necessity a well satisfied or a happy one. In an interview given out since his return to Hollywood Mestayer who appeared here last with Frank Keenan playing Cluney John, the half-wit in "John Ferguson," has this to say:

"The young aspirants should be given the facts about the profession before turning to it to make their livelihood. It means nothing but work and sacrifices. The most underpaid people on earth, compared with what they give to others, are actors. After reaching the recognition which demands from $450 to $750 a week salary, even then the actor has the problem of wardrobe to consider.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"Joshua Whitcomb" with Emmett Corrigan is at the Central theater.

"A man may rehearse with a New York play for five weeks for nothing; then after playing two or three weeks the show proves to be a failure and there he is, worse off than when he started. A wardrobe usually represents at least $1500 to start with. In the event that the play is a success and the actor gets a full season there is the summer idleness to think about, and if there has not been sufficient money set aside the actor is out of luck."

The wail of Mestayer is the wail of every professional man. But it will not have any effect on the aspirants. They will smile and say that Mestayer is exaggerating. Experience is the only teacher after all.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

It is reported that yesterday or the day before no less than three playwrights called at the Shubert offices with mystery plays revolving about a villain who slew his victims by the use of 2,000,000 volts of man-made electricity which were discharged from the chandelier over the bridge table.

Martha Stanley has written a new play called "The House of Chance." Several New York managers are thumbing the manuscript rather carefully, according to trustworthy reports from the eastern seaboard.

It seems to be the policy in New York now to consider Chicago a jay town. Frank Vreeland commenting on the success of Donald Brian in "Rolling Home," said in the New York Herald: "It was a hit in Chicago which should make it a hit in Zanzibar."

EASTBAY SCOUT CHIEFS TO MEET

A get-together dinner of Scout officials and all Eastbay men interested in Boy Scout or boy work of any description will be held tomorrow night at the Scout camp in Dimond Canyon, it is announced by Scout Executive Homer J. Bemiss.

Bemiss said the dinner will begin at 6:30 and that all men who are interested in boys' activities are invited to be the guests of the Oakland council. The speaker will be E. D. Shanklin, one of the leaders in the forthcoming National Educational Association, who will discuss education as carried on under Boy Scout supervision.

After the dinner there will be a vaudeville show and general entertainment in the big open-air amphitheater.

July 4 Superior Judge L. S. Church, acting as the personal representative of President Harding, will officially award streamers to nineteen troops and to the Oakland council for the record of the nineteen troops in increasing their enrollment more than twenty-five per cent uring the past year. Church will make a patriotic address.

Glenna Collett to Play Alexa Stirling

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 29.—Prediction that Alexa Stirling, of the New Hampstead Country club would meet Glenna Collett of the Rhode Island Country club, Providence, in the final of the annual women's invitation golf tournament of the Buffalo Country club, was made by those who followed play in the third round. These two, present and past holders of national championship honors, won their way to the semi-finals with Ada Mackenzie of Toronto and Anita Lihme of Chicago in a day of superb playing.

Real Charity Is Uncovered When Chair Is Needed

There is a charity in the heart of an anonymous Oaklander never dreamed of in the philosophy of most people, as exemplified in the following simple note:

"Enclosed find $1.00 to be used toward purchasing the wheel chair for the News Girl. I have been saving up to get a new chair for myself, as mine is out in the bottom and the back; but she needs one first."

"Wheel Chair Dweller."

The note came to the Goodfellows at The TRIBUNE office in reply to a plea that had been made by the News Girl for assistance in obtaining a new chair.

The remainder of the story is told in a second note penned by the News Girl herself. It reads:

"I want to thank you for that item you had published for me in regards to the wheel chair. I am going to get one in response to that plea.

"Yours truly,
"News Girl."

News Girl is paying her own independent way in this world, despite the handicaps of paralysis which confines all her waking hours to a wheel chair, by selling papers on an Oakland street corner. Ordinarily she was able to make a go of it; but when it came to the point where her wheel chair was about to collapse under her she had to find aid. Self-propelling chairs are expensive articles and she could not hope to save sufficient money to buy one.

Her plea, published recently in The TRIBUNE, not only brought her a new chair, but considerable money besides. The chair is to arrive July 5 and News Girl will be provided with a new impetus in life.

PASTOR OUSTS CHURCH PETTERS

LIMA, Ohio, June 29.—The boy in the front pew—right down where the sawdust trail ends—had his arm around his best girl. He was whispering "sweet nothings" into her ear. She—being young—believed them.

Seven pews back, on the right-hand side, a rich young baritone voice—its owner hidden in the gloom—was saying: "You're the only girl I ever loved." There was a soprano answer: "Really, George?" A long pause. Then a resounding kiss.

In the dim, shadowy recesses of the Biederwolf Tabernacle there were rustling moments, sighs, whispered words and now and then a plainly audible osculation. And then——

Neighbors called Rev. W. H. Howard, pastor of the First United Brethren church, who phoned the police, complaining that the tabernacle—empty since last winter's big revival—was being turned into the world's largest "spooning parlor"—all under one roof, with 7000 capacity.

Donning the ministerial overalls, Rev. Howard sallied forth, with his trusty hammer and a pocketful of nails. When he finished every entrance to the tabernacle was nailed tight.

Faurot Park custodians have dusted off the park benches and [illegible] pacity business," now that the rival love making establishment has been closed. Chief of Police Lanker has promised that only law violators will be routed from the park.

Gained 16 Pounds on 3 Bottles of Tanlac

S. F. Man Declares Famous Medicine Ended Long-Standing Stomach Trouble and Restored Perfect Health—Eats Anything Now.

As a general thing people who work out in the open and get plenty of exercise enjoy more vigorous health than those who work indoors and who lead a sedentary life. But even those who follow the carpenter's trade which brings every muscle into play, do not always escape stomach trouble with its many attendant ills. Take, for instance, the experience of John Cogorno, a well known carpenter, living at 131 Concord Street, San Francisco. He will tell you that:

"For over a year before I started on Tanlac my stomach was so out of fix that everything I ate gave me indigestion. I had no appetite at all, had a heavy, depressed feeling in the pit of my stomach, and would bloat up with gas until I was in such misery I couldn't even rest at night. I kept losing weight, had to be taking physics all the time for constipation, and was so weak and shaky I didn't feel like work or anything else.

"But, thanks to Tanlac, I have a fine appetite now, eat good and hearty, and that indigestion, gas and distressed feeling is entirely gone, I have gained sixteen pounds on three bottles, my work doesn't tire me out, and I feel like a new man in every way. I simply think Tanlac has got the world beat."

The STORY of JACKIE COOGAN As Told By His Mother

To Zoe Beckley

Jackie Tells a Good One

While we stayed at the Biltmore there was scarcely a moment of the day when Jackie did not have visitors. Sometimes he is a little distant to strangers, but if he takes a fancy to a person he is decidedly sociable and leaves no stone unturned for entertainment.

He took a great liking to one of the bellboys who sometimes went on little errands with him, or stayed with him in the apartment while Mr. Coogan or I were engaged in some business conference.

They played casino together, always seated on the floor, where, as Jackie explained, there was more room. They exchanged conundrums ranging from ancient chestnuts such as "What kind of fruit does the electric plant bear?" "Currents," and "What took the most luggage into the Ark?" The elephant, because he had a trunk," to "What commercial enterprise was Eve made for?" the answer being "For Adams Express Company."

"And now I'll tell you a story," Jackie would always say sooner or later, bursting to relate his newest one.

"In a little southern restaurant kept by a colored Mammy, there was a sign 'Short Orders Served at Any Hour.' Two men came in si-mul-tane-ously and sat down at the counter.

"What you want, Sir?" Mammy asked one of them.

"Well, Mammy, I'll have some corn meal mush, ham and eggs, rolls and coffee."

Mammy went into the kitchen and gave the order to the cook. Then she returned to the second man and asked what his order was.

"I'll take the same as him," said he, pointing to the other customer, "only please eliminate the eggs."

Mammy seemed puzzled.

"Wha-what was that there ordah again, please, Suh?"

The man repeated it in clear tones: "Same as that other gentleman's order, but eliminate the eggs."

Mammy asked no more, but waddled slowly and worriedly to the kitchen, and echoes of a long wordy argument were heard in the little restaurant. The voices rose high and higher, punctuated by ominous thumps and crashes.

Mammy made a hasty exit from the kitchen and once more approached the second customer.

"I dun tole de cook, Suh, 'bout dem aigs you ordered, but he say—"

"Never mind what he said—I told you to eliminate the eggs—eliminate 'em—eliminate 'em!"

"Yas, Suh, yas suh—" And once more poor Mammy disappeared in the kitchen. After some time, she came back with her tray, eggs in the foreground.

"I'm sorry, Mistah," she began, setting them down before him, "but you'll have to tek 'em dis-a-way—scrambled, suh. De cook done scramble 'em no matter whut I tell him 'bout 'liminatin'. He say there was a worthless cullud wench round here his mawnin', messin' round the kitchen foolin' with things she don't know nothin' about—and she done busted the handle off'n the eliminator!"

Jackie loves this story so much that unless we see it coming and manage to flag it, he tells it on every possible occasion.

Today in California History

By THOMAS S. MILLER

Mobbing "Foreigners."

AT Bullards Bar on this day, '49, a party of about thirty are organizing for some desperate adventure. Major William Downie, a newly arrived and inquisitive immigrant, asks one of the party what is doing. A man replies: "We're goin' to drive all th' dirty foreigners out of the countree." Downie says some of them had never been in the United States. There were also a few New Yorkers. All joined hands in the alleged common interest of protecting the native soil for that was really the only native feature about it) against the invasion of the 'foreigner'. The leader carried a U. S. flag of the size of a pocket handkerchief."

Up the Yuba City and down the Yuba river sweep the "patriots," carrying terrorism into the camps of Chilians, Kanakas, Chinese, Peruvians. In the name of the flag they plunder, kill, hound, burn, nor do they stop at mistreating the women of the "dirty greasers." They drive out the Hispano-Californians; burn in their hearts hatred of the "gringos"; drive them to banditry.

"California's a white man's country!" That is the slogan for this ruffianism. In Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento, the hoodlums band under the slogan and terrorize and plunder. "Drive out the foreigners" is the cry of there new arrivals. The "greaser" has no redress. In Sonoma a Spanish-Californian, whose parents and grandparents were here before him is tried on suspicion of horse stealing. There is no evidence. The minutes of the trial read:

Judge: "Do you smoke cigarettes?"

Suspect: "Si, senor."

Judge: "Do you make a twist in the paper instead of wetting it?"

Suspect: "Si, senor."

Judge: "Then do you bend the cigarette in the middle?"

Suspect: "Si, senor."

Judge: "You're guilty as hell! Take the greaser and hang him."

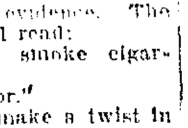
Child's History of the HUMAN RACE



By Ramon Coffman

SATURN AND ITS "EARS."

There are eight planets going around the sun. The earth is one of the four smaller ones.

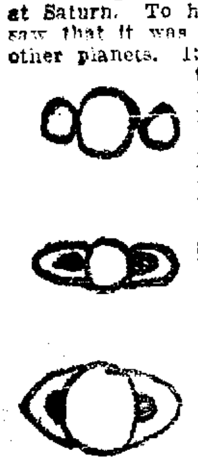
Largest of all is Jupiter, and then comes Saturn. The planet Saturn is of special interest to us because of its "rings."

Three hundred years ago, people did not know about the rings. Galileo had never heard of them when he began to study the starry heavens with a telescope.

One night he decided to look at Saturn. To his surprise, he saw that it was not like the other planets. It seemed to have three parts. He made a drawing like one of those pictured today. It looks like a circle with "ears."

By and by, the great star-gazer looked at Saturn again. The "ears" [illegible]

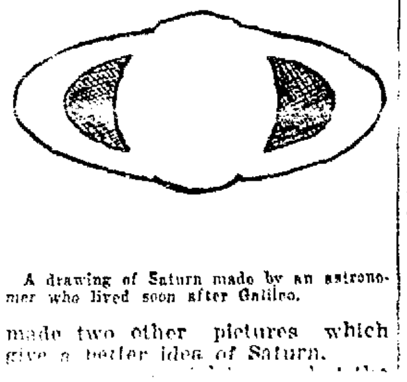
Writing to a friend, he said: "I have found that Saturn is now all by itself. It has only one part; it is round like Jupiter. What is the meaning of this? Have the two outer parts sunk into the center? Or was it only a mistake?"



Three drawings of Saturn and its "ears," made by Galileo.

Another idea was that perhaps the two outer parts had gone behind the main part. He kept watching. At last, the "ears" (or, as we know, the rings) came back to sight. You can be sure Galileo was happy. People could no longer think he had tried to fool them.

The outer parts now looked somewhat different. They seemed to be joined more to the center. Perhaps that was because he used a finer telescope. At any rate, he made two other pictures which give a better idea of Saturn.



A drawing of Saturn made by an astronomer who lived soon after Galileo.

[illegible] "ears" were really like. That remained for later star-gazers.

If you were to take the bottom of a pie pan, cut a hole in the middle, put an orange inside, you would get a pretty good idea of the shape of Saturn and its rings. How [illegible] the rings have been turned when Galileo could not see them!

The rings of Saturn are now believed to be made up of millions of tiny "moons."

Uncle Wiggily

by Howard R. Garis

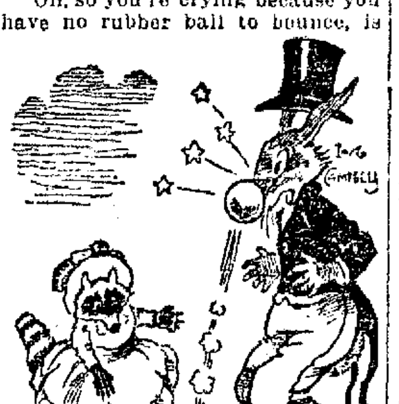
UNCLE WIGGILY AND BETTY'S BALL.

Once upon a time Betty Ringtail, the little girl raccoon, stood in front of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, crying as though her cute little heart might be broken into pieces.

"My goodness, Betty!" called the rabbit gentleman as he saw the tears splashing on the walk, "whatever is the matter? Are you hurt? Has anything happened to your brother Bobby?"

"Oh, no, Uncle Wiggily," sobbed Betty, "Bobby's al—all — right. And I—I'm all right, too, 'ceptin I'm now cry—cry—cryin' cause I haven't any nice big rub—bub—buber ball to bounce!"

"Oh, so you're crying because you have no rubber ball to bounce, is that it, Betty?" asked Uncle Wiggily, trying not to laugh.



"Oh!" grunted the rabbit gentleman.

"Yes, ma'am—I mean, yes, sir, that's it!" cried Betty.

"Well, dry your tears, for I am going to get you a fine, big, rubber bouncing ball!" laughed the rabbit uncle. "Come along with me!"

"Oh, but I didn't ask you for it—did I, Uncle Wiggily?" Betty quickly inquired.

"No, you didn't ask me for it, Betty.

"'Cause my mother wouldn't let me do that," went on Betty with a smile, "But I thought maybe if I cried and boo-hooed in front of your bungalow and if you asked me what was the matter an' I said I wanted a rubber bal—I thought maybe you'd get me one. But I didn't ask for it, did I?" and the little raccoon girl seemed very anxious about this.

"No, you didn't ask me for it!" chuckled Mr. Longears. Then he hopped with Betty to the ten and eleven cent store and there Uncle Wiggily bought the finest red rubber bouncing ball he could find.

"Oh, now I'll have some fun!" laughed Betty Ringtail, and she threw the rubber ball down on the ground, "ker-bingo!"

"Oh!" exclaimed Betty.

"I'm so sorry," apologized Betty. "I didn't mean to do that."

Once more Betty bounced her ball. Down on the ground it went, "ker-smacko!" and up it bounded.

"Oh!" gasped Betty, "I guess my nose must be growing extra large, Betty," he said. "It gets in the way of your bouncing ball so often."

"No, it's my fault," said Betty. "I'll try and be more careful." So she bounced her red ball a little way off from Uncle Wiggily, while the bunny gentleman sat on a stump and read the paper.

And then, all of a sudden out from the woods [illegible] Bear. He was hungry and he was sliding his red tongue over his sharp, white teeth. When the Bear saw Uncle Wiggily, the Bear growled:

"Now for ears to nibble!"

But Betty saw the bad chap coming and holding her red ball in her cute little paws, she skipped up to the Bear and said:

"Before you nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears, [illegible] bounce my new rubber ball. Watch me, Mr. Bear!"

The bear looked at Betty. The little girl raccoon threw the round rubber ball down hard on the ground. Up it bounced 'ker-stano!' and it struck the Bear hard on the end of his soft and tender nose.

"Oh, wowzie! Bowzie!" howled the Bear, rubbing his nose with his paws, "Oh, what a trick to play on me! Oh, now I'll have nose bleed," and away he ran, not stopping to nibble any ears that day.

"I'm a good ball bouncer, aren't I, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Betty.

"Indeed you are! You saved my ears and I thank you," laughed the rabbit. Then he played bouncing ball with Betty until it was time to go home to supper, and he had some cabbage shortcake with carrot lemonade sauce on. So every one was happy except the Bear.

And if the egg beater doesn't run a race with the potato masher and fall into the gravy boat, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the crow.

Pine Bluff, Ark., has installed a nursery which has an electric signal system by which mothers, seated in the main auditorium, can keep in touch with their babies. A cabinet containing numbers, behind each of which is an electric light, is installed in the auditorium. When a baby is left in the nursery, its mother is given a number and the baby is marked with a duplicate, and an illuminated numeral indicates when the mother is needed.

THE SOCIAL UPLIFT.

An old Dutch patroon named Van Loon
Was a sugar cane planter in Guinea:
Van Loon, the patroon, had a man
Overseer whose name was Pat Rooney.
An Italian pardone named Petroni,
Had monkeys that sold macaron',
Yes, the poor jungle monks there in Guinea
Were slaves of Petroni, padrone.

An uplifting Yank named Pete Rainey,
Got mad at that "Ginny" Petroni,
So he told old Van Loon, the patroon, he Would borrow his agent, Pat Rooney.
Pat Rooney disliked the padrone, he
Was all for the plan of Pete Rainey,
Pete Rainey, Van Loon and Pat Rooney
Then gave the bum's rush to Petroni.

Future Blind.

I walked one day—
Where screaming whistles strained their throats—
And all about great swarms of men—
Sprang eager to their mighty echo—
And smoke-stacks reaching to the clouds—
Belched forth a sun—obscuring screen—
That blacked the sky—
And passers-by—
Stood there and watched—and watching wondered—
That mind of man could plan and sway—
The fires that could shut out the day—
And hide the sun—
So as I stood and watched with awe—
I saw—
An old man warped with many years—
Whose eyes held tales of timid fears—
Not tales of daring—
And he stood there—mouth fallen wide—
With blear eyes staring—
So as I watched this scene of glory—
The old man mumbled low his story—
It was a story of the day—
Before strong men came there to sway—
"I came here fifty years ago—
And every morning watched the glow—
Of rising sun come o'er yon hill—
Right where you see that roaring mill—
This land where works a mighty throng—
I could have had just for a song—
But no that land of untold worth—
Was but to me a piece of earth—
I had no vision—
Nor could I see in years to come—
This place where mighty engines hum—
Would mock me in derision—
One day some men came driving mules—
I laughed to see those 'tarnal fools—
Look o'er this ground—
And when they were quite satisfied—
That they had found—
A place that suited them quite well—
Right soon ethey bought it these blamed fools—
They got it even for their mules—
With mirth I rolled upon the ground—
And thought their reason wasn't sound—
But years flew by—time ran a race—
This village took a city's place—
While I still toiled on day by day—
With meager fare and drudging pay—
And men with seeing eyes came here—
And dared the future without fear—
While now those men I thought were fools—
Who traded their good span of mules—
For all this land—
Now bow before the foreign courts—
With manner grand—
Good-bye my son—no use for sighs—
For only those with seeing eyes—
Can pierce the years—
And hear the plaudits of mankind—
Ring in their ears."

Teach Children Courtesy and Good Manners.

Your Children's Manners Are a Living Advertisement of You—Inbred Courtesy Will Unlock the Door of Success for Them Later

A MISSISSIPPI woman's club has started a "courtesy crusade" and proposes to devote its time and energy to cultivating good manners in the community in which it functions. Fine. Good idea, which, it is to be hoped, other organizations of women will push along. No club could have a worthier object or perform a more important civic duty, for, whatever other virtues and charms Americans may possess, we are, as a nation, lamentably lacking in the suave and gracious art of courtesy. We are a lot of rough diamonds sadly in need of polishing.

It is particularly appropriate that a woman's club should undertake to preach the gospel of courtesy because the work is peculiarly their own province.

GOOD manners, like charity, begin at home. There they must be learned if they ever become ingrained into the character of a man or woman and are not merely an outside veneer that is sure to crack under strain. The lesson of courtesy is best inculcated at a mother's knee. A child who has been drilled in the cradle in all the gentle ways of department will not depart from them when he or she grows up.

THERE is a bromidic old story of a Spotless Town that was kept that way by the simple expedient of everybody keeping his own premises clean. Following this classic example, every mother would simply have to teach her children to be polite in conduct, gracious in speech and considerate in bearing to bring about a millennium in which the hoodlum would cease from troubling and the brute and bully be at rest.

IT IS curious how little attention women have paid to this subject, particularly when every woman's children are an advertisement of her and by their manners we judge her. If Johnny keeps his cap on when he enters a room and Sadie turns her back on us when we try to make conversation with her; if both children handle their knives and forks as if they were pitchforks and spades; if they whoop and yell like a tribe of wild Indians through the house, we set their mother down at once as a woman of no breeding or culture or social experience.

SOMETIMES we are wrong. Sometimes a mother is too lazy to take the trouble to teach her children good manners. Sometimes she is one of the fond fools who think that whatever they do is right, and that the world will excuse them for eating with their knives and keeping their hats on in the drawing-room just because she does. Unfortunately, however, the world never gives a mother the benefit of the doubt. It presupposes that uncouth children have an uncouth mother, and that the reason that they are not little ladies and gentlemen is because the mother herself had no standards of gentility. On the other hand, when young people have charming manners; when they know what to do and say; when they show deference to older people and their table manners are beyond reproach, we know what kind of a mother they have as well as if they carried a family tree in one hand and a social register in the other.

ASIDE from its reflecting her own character every woman should teach her children good manners, because it adds a hundred per cent to their efficiency and their chances of success in life. It is not without reason that the villains and the vamps in melodramas and moving pictures are always endowed with suave graciousness of demeanor.

CHARMING manners win us at sight, just as bad manners repulse us. We want nothing to do with the men and women who are blunt of speech and careless of our sensibilities. We shun the gruff who make no effort to be pleasant. We associate as little as possible with the brutal. These people may be honest and upright and truthful, but they never get anywhere because they make enemies at every step of the way by their lack of courtesy. Occasionally a man who is an ill-mannered boob does climb to the top of the ladder, but he only does so when he is a man of exceptional strength, for no friendly hands boost him up.

IT TAKES actual genius to offset the handicap of bad manners. But good manners are a letter of credit that is honored at sight the world over. The people we like and that we like to have about us are those with charming, gracious manners. The people with whom we like to do business are the courteous. The men and women whom we like to have associated with us in our business are those upon whose politeness we can depend.

THERE are thousands of doctors and lawyers of practically the same professional standing, but we choose Dr. A instead of Dr. B because A is always agreeable, while Dr. B is boorish. We give our law business to C instead of D, because C showed us some little courtesy at some time. We buy at one store rather than another because in one place the clerks take trouble to please us and in the other they are indifferent and hoity-toity.

EVERY day men and women are chosen or rejected for advancement because of their manners, which means their ability to get along with people. Only recently I have personally known of two cases in which two young men of good talent and energy had their golden opportunities literally flung in the soup, which they ate audibly with their napkins tucked in their collars. Big business could not be represented by men who fed like pigs.

AS we grow more and more civilized the demand for good manners becomes more persistent every day. Therefore, women's clubs do well in stressing the necessity of mothers teaching their children that courtesy which smooths life for others and gives them the key to the door of success.

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE, All Rights Reserved.

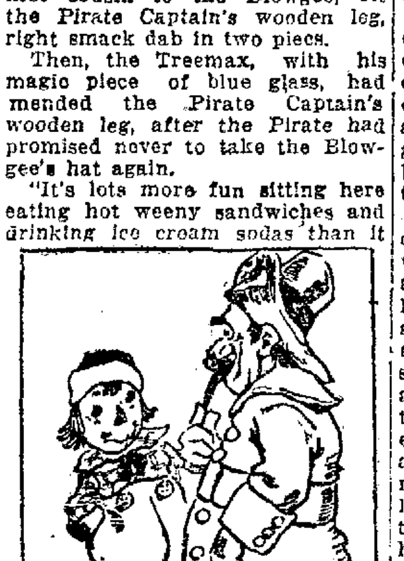
AFTER Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy had become acquainted with the Pirate captain they found out that he was not so selfish as they had supposed at first.

You see, at first, the Pirate Captain, when he heard that the Blowgee had a soda fountain in his hat, started to carry away the hat.

Then, the Treemax, who is a first cousin to the Blowgee, bit the Pirate Captain's wooden leg, right smack dab in two pieces.

Then, the Treemax, with his magic piece of blue glass, had mended the Pirate Captain's wooden leg, after the Pirate had promised never to take the Blowgee's hat again.

"It's lots more fun sitting here eating hot weeny sandwiches and drinking ice cream sodas than it is in being a pirate on the great, deep ocean!" the Pirate Captain said. "So I do not believe I shall ever be a pirate again! So, sir! I am sure of it! I shall write and tell all my crew that they will have to get another captain.



"WERE YOU A VERY WICKED PIRATE?" RAGGEDY ANDY ASKED.

"I am glad of that!" Raggedy Ann said to the Pirate Captain, "for it is wrong to be a pirate! Really it is!"

"I believe you are right, Raggedy Ann," the pirate said. "I wish that I had never been a pirate!"

"Were you a very wicked pirate?" Raggedy Andy asked.

"No, sir!" the pirate replied. "I am glad to say that I never was a wicked pirate.

"In fact, in all the six days that I was a Pirate Captain, I never saw any pirate work to do. You see," and here he dropped his voice to a whisper, "I really wasn't a for sure enough pirate, I was only a pirate in a show!!"

"Oh! Then you are not a real for sure pirate?" Raggedy Ann cried; "I am so glad. But," she continued, "If you are not a real for sure pirate, how does it happen that you have a long black mustache and a wooden leg just like the pirate in the story books?"

"Because!" The pirate answered. "I was just on my way home from working in the show, and I was so anxious to get home to dinner I did not take time to take off my false whiskers and my wooden leg. "And with this the pirate took off the black mustache he had been wearing and the wooden leg.

And the Blowgee and the Treemax and the Raggedys soon saw that he had his real leg doubled up and that he really had two good legs.

"Ah!" the pirate said with a relieved sigh, "it feels nice to walk on two good feet again!"

"Where are you going now?" Raggedy Ann asked as the pirate waved his hand and started walking away.

"I am going home to my mamma," the pirate replied, "she will wonder what in the world has been keeping me so long now."

"Wait just a minute!" the Blowgee cried as he ran into his hat. Then when he came out again he had four boxes of cracker jack and a bucket of ice cream.

"Please take these home with you and give them to your mamma," the Blowgee said. "I know she will enjoy the ice cream!"

"Oh, thank you!" the pirate said. "It will make her very happy, for she hasn't had any ice cream for a long, long time."

"He was a nice pirate after all," the Treemax said. "And the Blowgee was a kind-hearted creature to think of the pirate's mamma." And it wasn't long before the Blowgee was glad that he had been kind to the pirate.

BILLY BECKWITH

A Red Man With a White Soul

A True Story of Early California

By Dorcas James Spencer

CHAPTER XXV

The White Deer Skin Dance

While Billy felt himself personally the peer of laboring men of other races, he was keenly disappointed by the scarcely perceptible advance of his people. He wearied of their childish dependence upon him, as they persisted in calling for his help on every occasion of responsibility, but ungrudgingly he always went to their aid.

Once it happened that the Indians had raised a few head of cattle, and observing that in such cases some white man was likely to drive a sharp bargain with them and resell to the Trading Post at a great profit, they sent for Billy to be their broker, and secure the terms a white man would have.

It was a pleasure to him to go on such an errand, and its object was so successfully and speedily accomplished that he felt that he had been able to give his people some lessons in the transaction of business, and an incentive to more self-reliance. Cheerfully he went about with them, suggesting what they might each do to make general conditions better. Their courage rose under his influence, and recalling the Acorn Feast on his last visit, it occurred to them that this was a very appropriate time to have the White Deer-Skin Dance.

It was a matter of some difficulty to produce the elaborate ceremonials with the rich costumes, and all the emblematic paraphernalia of this imposing function. The presence of a rude, ribald, and idle soldiery among them had discouraged their hopes, and so depressed their energies that only the stimulation of the cattle sale had inspired them this year to undertake the White Deer-Skin Dance, the most significant and important of all their dances.

Billy had not witnessed any of these since his boyhood, and had in the meantime read in the Bible of the sacred festivities of the ancient Hebrews, with which to his mind, some of the primitive practices of his people seemed to be almost related, and he wished to stay and study any coincidental features in this ceremonial so dear to his fathers. It involved no conflict with his principles; and he watched the preparations for the celebration with an interest widely different from that of his friends, for to him there was a mysticism in the Mosaic narrative, curiously intermingling with the teaching of these barbaric rites.

An Indian dance is not a diversion, or an amusement, but a ceremony, sacred in itself, and conducted with a seriousness appropriate only to an important function, and as such, there is much to be done and considered in making ready for it. If any one had a grudge against another it must be settled before the dance, even if each party has to make a gift to the other as a token that all wrongs are forgotten. Great preparation was made for this feast, but should there be any eating on the grounds before the ceremonies the birds of the air, the beasts of the forest, will be certain to consume all of the crops of the next year. All these facts were well known, and duly impressed on every participant. Only young children, who might be hungry, would be permitted to go outside the grounds and eat before the dancing was over. This was a general rule for all dances, as they all had a religious character.

From queer hiding places were brought the precious White Deer Skins, so carefully dressed, without a blemish or a break in the whole skin, every hoof perfect, and the head so skillfully stuffed with dry grass that the face had the gentle expression of life; the whole skin with the hair on, tanned to the softness of velvet. Brilliant scarlet heads of woodpeckers were substituted for eyes, and the semblance of a beard made of short strings of beads hung from under the mouth. Gala dress and barbaric ornaments appeared in astonishing profusion, and nothing was left undone to render the function impressive or add to its dignity.

This festival had another name, very appropriately significant, "Along the River Dance," less dear than the name of its sacred object. On the river's right bank, midway down the valley is a spot where the great ceremonials had been held from time immemorial. There the people gathered, with all the paraphernalia essential to the due observance of the occasion, to be taken in their log canoes; the feasts of each day to be provided by the band entertaining.

Men and women in separate canoes paddled up the river, the women softly singing in unison as they skilfully worked their boats against the current. Two men having previously gone to clear the grounds of brush and grass, all was in readiness on their arrival at the old place above and across the river from the Medilden's rancheria. The final preparations by the women gave the men an opportunity for the briefest rehearsal before the opening of the ceremonial.

A man of importance wearing on his head a band of painted buckskin bordered with strips of bushy fur, with an upright feather stuck in the hair behind, sat down before the fire which the women had made, and blew a whistle made of a deer bone, as a signal to begin. Four men, each wearing a similar head dress with a row of upturned sea lion tusks set in the buckskin band,* and carrying a red or black obsidian knife, sacred to this ceremonial use only, filed before him, into line. Two with the red obsidians marched from opposite ends of the line toward each other, turning at the end and going back, blowing whistles. Two with the black obsidians followed with the same formula; other dancers carried the White Deer Skins erect on poles the men bedecked with beads and other ornaments; the women squatting in gay groups enjoying the scene, and sometimes assisting in the singing. At the proper time there appeared a serious old man, as one having authority, wearing the head dress of a leader. He gave the signal to stop, and then solemnly offered a prayer of thanks-giving for the plenteous harvest, imploring for the next year a continuance of the bounty of nature; that the acorns might be abundant, the pines and all other nut-bearing trees be heavy laden with their fruitage. While doing this he burned a big sweet-scented root, that its rising smoke and fragrance might convey their praise and prayer to the Great Spirit.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

Straight From the Scriptures

Several versions of this story are current but the one I like best of them all goes like this:

There was a colored preacher who served a term in state's prison in West Virginia for horse-stealing. After his release he changed his name and moved to Alabama. There he became the pastor of a prosperous flock. He figured that his past life was entirely buried. None of the congregation had the slightest suspicion that he was an ex-convict, and he hoped to go on until the end of his days enjoying the confidence of the community.

But one Sunday as he entered the pulpit, he suffered a distressing shock. Sitting in a front pew was a black man he instantly recognized as a former cell-mate in the penitentiary. That wasn't the worst of it. He could tell by the expression on the other's face that the latter also had recognized him. He had a feeling either that he must submit to blackmail or suffer exposure and lose his present charge. The distracted parson did some quick thinking. Then he opened the Good Book, fixed his eyes meaningly upon the countenance of the interloper, cleared his throat and began as follows:

"Brethren and Sistern, I had figured to disco'se to you all dis Sabbath mawnin' 'pun de subjec' of de parable of de prodigal son; but sence steppin' into his Holy place I has changed my mine' an I shall preach frum de fo'teenth chapter of Ezekiel, nineteenth verse, w'ich sez: 'Ef thou seese me an' thinkest thou knowest me, don't say nothin', fur verily I say unto you, I'll see you later.'"

GERALDINE FASHIONS THE HOME

Fence-post Charity

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

"YOU'RE a dratted old idjit, Abe Zimmer!"

"Like enough, Lem, like enough. But all the same I ain't taking charity from anyone, even you. I've got enough to get along on, and I asks nothing from anyone."

The two old men glared at each other, Lem with a great show of anger, and the other with as much of defiance as his timid soul could summon.

"Listen," Lem turned to entreaty. "We went to school together, didn't we? When you were well off you would have loaned me anything I wanted. I'd a done the same by you. Now, just because I happen to live in a larger place than you and have saved a few more dollars than you have, you are just ornery enough to keep me from spending a little on you. It is downright stubborn, mule-headed cussedness."

Abe grinned shyly and held up a hand as if to ward off the words. "It isn't as if I didn't appreciate it. I had a good time while my money lasted and I saved enough to keep me if I live close to the line. I always said I would take charity from nobody and I mean it. I'd rather steal, almost."

Everyone in town knew the two inseparables. In a little shack backed by a vegetable garden Abe lived on the slender income which was his. Next door, in a better-kept and larger home, lived Lem Meade, with more than enough money to supply his needs. On three nights a week the two played checkers in the smaller house, on three nights they played cards in the larger.

"He'd just as soon steal, would he?" Lem put it to himself. "Well I wish he would. The old duffer likes chow chow and cigars and magazines and a lot of truck. He's liked them all his life, but what does he do? Smokes rotten hay in a pipe and eats like a man in jail."

"Do you know, Abe," Lem put the question over the cards, "that there is a lot of fearful depravity in the world?"

"Think I've been cheatin', do you?" Abe took the challenge and laid down his hand.

"Nope. What I mean is this. A lot of things, some that don't amount to much, are constantly disappearing. Somebody takes them. I've been figgering it out. There aren't so many people in this town, but from the number of articles which are picked up and carried home there must be some who have queer ideas of property rights."

"Been reading police reports?"

"Some, but more than that. I've been trying out a little scheme of my own. When the nozzle off my garden hose went I tried an experiment. I left a sickle in the yard and that walked off. Then I took to setting things on the top of the fence at the corner of the lot, little things I didn't want, and they all went. It has become a sort of hobby with me, now, putting things there and seeing if they will be gone in the morning. Most of the time they're gone; stuff to eat, and the like."

"Then this depravity you talk about is your own fault. You are encouraging crime."

"Maybe; but I'm old enough to indulge in a little experimenting. Anybody who is wanting anything and is willing to take it, must want it bad. Besides, I like to buy a lot of things I have no use for—that's what money's meant for."

"You say," Abe spoke slowly, "you've been doing this for some time?"

"Yep. Every night after we quit our game I stick something on the fence."

That night Lem put a bottle of meat sauce on the fence. Again, it was no more than a cigar or a can of tobacco. Often he called Abe over to bear witness to the fact they were gone. The two shook their heads solemnly over the depravity of their fellows.

In the night sometimes Lem sits at the window and chuckles. "I wonder if the old duffer is idgit enough to think I don't know he's taking the stuff."

Abe, in the other house, smokes a cigar which came by the fence-post route and grins.

"He's getting a lot of fun with his old experiment, and it's a good sight better I got it than someone else. There's no telling how many people I'm keeping out of temptation."

When the idea comes that this is all a trick of Lem's to help him out, Abe shuts his mind with the observation: "Anyhow, it isn't like accepting charity and saying, 'Thank you, sir,' to an old pal."

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of

Revelations of a Wife

WHAT MADGE HAD TO DO WITH KATIE AND MOTHER GRAHAM.

"Oh, my Missis Graham! Vot ees eet? Vot happened dot you look so like dot?"

Katie's strident, excited voice roused my mother-in-law and myself from the momentary horrified inertia which had seized us at our discovery that the torn photograph of Claire Foster with its bizarre inscription to Dicky was not among the rubbish in the waste basket.

"There was in this basket a torn photograph which is now gone, Katie," I said, "and we are very much afraid that the reporter you saw walking through the hall has taken it. Which way was he walking when you saw him? Was he coming toward the kitchen or going away from it?"

Katie considered a second, evidently wishing to be very sure of her statement. She was shrewd enough to see that something very important hinged upon the whereabouts of the missing photograph.

"He vas cooming avay from kitchen," she decided finally. "He turned around ven he saw me, pretended to be hunting for outside door."

My mother-in-law looked at me with her eyes full of dismayed conviction.

CLOSE TO PANIC.

"Then he has it," she said hopelessly. "Whatever are we to do?"

"Don't you vorry." Katie dashed for the door. "Dot bunch of soup [illegible] dot photograph eef I have to lock heem in room und undress heem like vun baby."

I made a quick movement and caught her arm just as she was sliding through the door, and I held it firmly.

"Wait, Katie," I said with decision. "We must be very sure that he has it first. Remember, he didn't take any of the other pictures of which you were afraid."

"That's very true, Katie"—and, indeed, the girl had spoken nothing but the truth, for at the dread time of Junior's kidnaping we had aided the newspapers with all the photographs we had. "Nevertheless, we must be very sure that he has it before we accuse him."

"Where else can it be?" my mother-in-law demanded querulously. "You talk as though it might never have been in the basket at all, and yet I told you I distinctly remember putting it there. Do you doubt my veracity?"

"Of course not, Mother," I returned soothingly, although secretly I was strongly doubting, not her veracity, but her memory.

I have had two or three painful experiences when she has been perfectly sure that she has put an article in a certain place and I have found it in an entirely different location. But never have I known her to admit that she had been in the wrong. She was always sure to declare that some one had moved the article after she had put it in the place she had named, and this in the face of the most convincing proof to the contrary.

"WHAT'S TO BE DONE?"

"Well, then! Why not compel that reporter to give it up? Of course, you're right in not permitting Katie to tackle him, but there's no reason why you shouldn't demand that he give it up."

When Mother Graham gets an idea in her head, it is a Herculean task to get it out again, and I saw myself figuratively led by the ear to the living room and compelled to voice her demand. I was at my wits' end, for a second, and the sight of Lillian coming swiftly down the hall was most welcome. She shut the kitchen door behind her and spoke in low, hurried tones.

"I've stalled just as long as I can," she said. "[illegible] come in, Madge, and make some pretense of answering their questions. What's the matter?"

Her quick, shrewd glance darted from one face to the other, and she interpolated explosively:

We explained swiftly, and she strode upon the kitchen and down [illegible] decision.

"You'll have to tackle those people alone," she said. "I'll go on another still hunt for the photograph, and watch with Katie's help, for any attempt on that reporter's part to make a getaway. Listen carefully. Here is what I told them."

In a few terse, rapid sentences she outlined her conversation with the reporters, and thus armed I went slowly down the hall toward the living room.

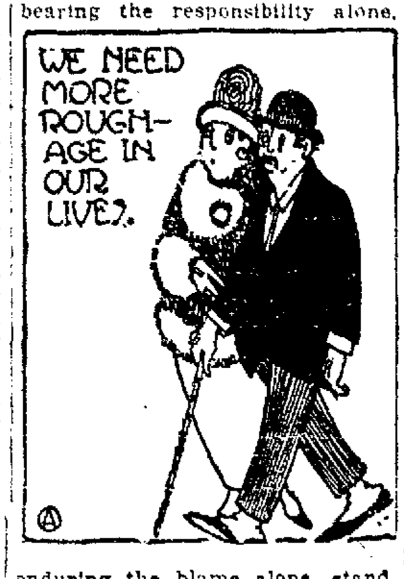
Listen, World!

MY friend Helen is beginning to feel better. For some years she has been failing in health—tired, flabby in spirit as well as body, unable to digest anything well. Now the doctor says it has all been due to improper eating.

Ever since they came into their money, Helen's diet, like her program, has been growing softer and softer. Helen went to her doctor expecting something fashionable in the way of a disease, something in keeping with her station, as it were. Instead, he told her bluntly to eat bran! He said she needed "roughage"—that she wasn't giving her teeth and digestion a fair chance with all these creamy spiced foods she was eating. Likewise he intimated that she'd better introduce a little roughage into her plan of living also. Some stiff exercise, some hard, necessary and, if possible, rather dirty work!

Good advice, wasn't it? Yes, good for all of us, as well as Helen. We all need more roughage. Our present phase of civilization is as bad for us as Helen's pampering diet was bad for her. We've eliminated too much roughage and we're getting sour and flabby without it.

Everything is done for us, even our thoughts come to us predigested. How many of us ever grapple with life in the raw? We work—yes. We work for other people, along lines laid down by other people, and find it dreary drudgery. But how often do we fling ourselves into the scrap and work along lines laid out by ourselves, bearing the responsibility alone, enduring the blame alone, standing the gaff without a soul to lean on, to consult, to share the load? That's—roughage. That's what made our pioneer forefathers Big Humans. And for lack of that element in our lives we're turning into peevish nonentities.



WE NEED MORE ROUGHAGE IN OUR LIVES.

Dear Jerry:

Modern girls all alike, same as row of tenement houses; or bushel of beans in bag; or rookery of cooties in mop of second-hand hair. Always liked mine different! Modern girl's head-dress is artistic as Billy-goat's whiskers; or cow's hair mixed in batch of plastering. Plastic art! Nature made no two leaves of forest, or anything, alike, except modern girls' heads. Made them all alike, same as cocoanuts. They'll chase over seventeen toggeries and hatteries, to find different hat; then throw it into garbage can—or want to—when they see another Jane with hat's twin sister! Funny, but heads under hats all alike, plastered over ears outside, and filled inside with remnants of lumber, after coming in contact with buzz-saw.

Indian squaw knows more about exterior decorations. If modern girl had interior decoration, in way of mental gymnastics, instead of "latest best seller," and this week's "movie thriller," whole bunch would leap to coveted beauty, like jack-rabbit chased by hungry dog! Only soul modern girl knows anything about is on high-heel skids under her, which pinch Trilbys till they give modern girl's camouflaged countenance one expression of eternal pain! If didn't have more originality in little finger than whole caboodle of hair-plastered dummies have in empty noodles, would cut off little finger and send to kindergarten to learn first letter of alphabet, which modern girl doesn't know, let alone first letter of word Art. If modern girl ever had one thought, would have headache for whole week.

Scientists say, unused organs of human body become extinct. Sad prospect for modern girl's auricular appendages. What'll she do, when awaking one morning, ten minutes before lunch is sent up to bedside, finds ears, like kalsomine pot and false tresses, nowhere in sight! Good Lord thought she didn't need 'em. "She that hath not shall have taken away, even that she hath." Plain as plain girl who thinks she's pretty, one of three things must be reason for putting ears in discard: One—innocence of style's origin; two—elephantine ears; three—herd instinct: no individuality. If modern girl knew how hidden ears originated, she'd blush (even through her drug-store mixture) every time she consults vanity-case to be sure ugly listeners are not there. Should have ears cut off, like appendix, and donate to hospital for grafting on extra flesh! Here's how:

Two demi-modes (French for pair of sisters—kind you wouldn't [illegible] or "man" with whole set of bones—but no backbone. Only yellow streak. One female of species chewed ear of other female of species. Result: beautiful "cauliflower ear." Disgrace to be seen with such mangled receiver of secrets. Bright idea! Cover up ear with remaining hair, and start new style! All Paree soon doing it! Style emigrates to America—land of the spree and home of the slave! Style spreads like "flu." [illegible] what French call a "trashedy." Modern girl makes it into howling farce comedy! Now she knows history of banished ear, banished ear should burn with shame, without any assistance from little red rouge box! But modern girl falls for anything and everything—except right dope to catch righ husband—husband that "stays put," not stays out nights. Real man, not imitation, upholstered by tailor. Tactics modern girl uses makes "eternal triangle"—two plus one equals three! Then divorce court. How come right answer so quick? Easy 'nuff. Man's intuition!

Modern girl dresses (or undresses) to lead man back to tall timber. Soon reaps cave-man, who beats her up. What's coming to her. But modern girl couldn't recognize crop of wild-oats from crop of sweet-peas. If modern girl was as careful to cover up some other parts of anatomy as ears, what uplifting influence she might exert on mere man, who's not yet evolved up among angels. Preachers could all take lay-off, after man got in habit of going to church. Mere man would have more time to look at beautiful landscapes, and to read street-car and billboard ads.

Scientists discovered ultra-vio[illegible] radio distance of modern girl. Dictionary contains no word describing her. "Femininity" will soon be evoluted into "[illegible]." Mere man will soon have to nurse "babes in woods." Already uses nail when suspenders break [illegible] modern girl is being he-man-cipated fast! But, with all her getting, modern girl should get this—that roses will never get old-fashioned, and are sweet-scented still.

J. G. T.

P. S.—Jerry, if you have a gatling gun over there, lend it to me, and I'll defend myself from the Tribune Tower, if necessary! You understand the purpose of this article as well as I do.

I suppose that's intended to be frightfully funny Pal. Well—it is. Frightfully. But not in quite the same way you planned. I'm thinking how large and ornate and wise you felt when you wrote all that, and how little and foolish and ignorant you'd feel if I could make you read through just one volume on my library shelf. That volume is entitled "Historic Dress in America—1800-1870." Quite modern you see. None of the naughty mediaeval styles, or foolish foreign fashions. All good, sweet, old fashioned American women and American styles of the period you laud. And what do you find? Photographs, descriptions, drawings of old costumes which make the modern styles seem models of decency in comparison! You do not like the hair over the ears? Witness the mounds of false hair once worn by the leading ladies of the nation, unhealthy, unhygienic. Those mounds not only covered the ears but they weighed down the whole head with their disgusting puffs, curls and braids. You criticise the "undress" of the present fashions. I can show you ball dresses worn by our Model Matrons in the country's youth, which reveal quite as much as any modern dress and in a much less healthy manner.

Yes, she was a wonder, that sweet, old fashioned girl, with her pinched-in waist, her fainting fits, her thin, cramping shoes, her silly, shut in life! And her mental equipment matched her clothes. Read the novels of that period—the memoirs—the biographies, before you talk so loudly of something concerning which you are profoundly ignorant. I admire wholesome, modest, capable women as much as you do, and I assure you that never in the history of the world have women had such an opportunity to be wholesome, truly modest and capable. And she IS capable, this little girl of 1923, infinitely more capable than her mother or grandmother. She may not cook or sew quite as well, just as her husband may not be as able to shoe a horse or mend a door as his grandfather did before him. (You never stop to think how far men have come from the Sweet, Old Fashioned Type of Boy, do you?) But she is infinitely more versatile, more fitted to stand by her husband as practical partner and sympathetic chum.

And as for "uplifting men"—Praises be to Allah, she has at last ceased the pretense of that silly game, which was never more than a pretense. She let's man uplift himself, and if he can't make the grade she leaves him to his groveling.

MRS. J. M.: I am so sorry for the little daughter. Often fear and nervousness will cause her trouble. I don't know of any doctor who [illegible] but would suggest that Dr. Jau Don Ball, Hotel Claremont, Berkeley, might be able to advise you. Good luck to you and my love to the little girl.

THE POOR GIRL AND HER RAG DOLL.

Once upon a time there was a girl. Her name was Jane. Her parents were very rich. Now Jane had everything she wanted. But there was a poor girl lived next door to her. Jane would make fun of her because she was poor and could not have all that she wanted. Just because the poor girl had a little old rag doll and used to play with it because she had nothing else to play with to amuse her. Now this poor little girl had no father. Her mother was very ill. And most of the time she had to take care of her mother. Oh! I forgot to tell you the poor girl's name. It is Mary. Any way Mary's mother told her not to pay no attention to Jane. After a few months Mary's mother felt better and could walk around again. One night some robbers came into Jane's house and stole the big safes and all the jewels and also Jane and then went off. In the morning when Jane woke up she found herself in a great big cave with ghosts all around her. When her father and mother woke up they saw everything ransacked and Jane was gone. They looked high and low for her but could not be found anywhere. So in the next morning's newspaper it said, if anyone can find a little girl with black hair and blue eyes she shall get a reward of $75,000.00.

Now Mary was looking at the paper and saw this. Mary told her mother if she could try. Her mother said you can't find her. Mary said oh! mother please let me try. And see if I can get Jane. Then I can get a reward of $75,000.00. And then we can be rich. Then her mother said yes. Then she started off. She got way out in the woods. Then she ate a little supper that her mother gave her. Then she went on again. Finally she came to a big rock, on the rock was lying a gun. She picked it up and went inside and there she saw Jane all tied up with ropes. She quickly untied the ropes and ran away with Jane and they soon reached home and the father and mother was so glad to see their child again. After that Jane never made fun of Mary again. Mary got the money and took it home to her mother. Then Jane's mother and father took Mary and her mother to live with them. After that Mary and Jane were just like sisters. And lived happy for the rest of their lives.

THEIR REWARD

One day a band of gypsies came to town. Most gypsies steal, so when the people saw them they were careful to keep everything locked up. But there was a poor family; a mother and two children who had to work very hard for their living. They felt that they had so little that if anyone needed what they had more than they did they were welcome to it. They did not trouble to lock up anything. The gypsies went from house to house begging. Everyone refused to give them anything and many sent their dogs after them.

The had just about given up hope when they came to the house the poor mother and her children were sharing. They asked for something to eat, and at first the poor mother didn't know what to do. She had so little and there was so many of them. But she invited them in, and put everything she had on the table. There seemed hardly enough to give each of them so much as a mouthful. The leader of them went to the head of the table and waved a stick over the food three times, and said a few words in their own language. Pretty soon the food began to change, next the furni[illegible] was a feast fit for a king, and the poor mother and children thought they were in some magnificent palace. They did not know what to do and were starting to go out when the leader of the supposed gypsies told them this was their reward for their kindness. Then they left the mother and children to enjoy their riches to the end of their days. They were not gypsies after all, they were fairies dressed up in gypsy clothes.

BLOODY BONE'S GANG.

Once upon a time there was a gang of pirates and their captain's name was Bloody Bones. Bloody Bones had twelve pirates for his gang. Aunt Elsie was the captain of the witches.

One day Bloody Bone and his gang went for treasure hunting, and now was the chance of the witches. They went into the pirates' cave and took all their gold and silver and jewels. They made up a big fire. The fire was so big that it roared its flames up to heaven. Then the witches threw the gold and silver into the big fire. When the pirates came home they ran out and ATE WORMS.

The witches took their broom sticks and flew up and down. They laughed and screamed for joy. The witches got the best of the pirates and never stole jewels or gold and they lived happy ever after with Aunt Elsie witches.

A TRIP TO FAIRYLAND

Once upon a time there was a little girl named Betty Foxinson lived with her mother and father. One day Betty was planting some sweet peas in her little garden, she thought she saw a Fairy flying towards her. At first Betty was afraid but the Fairy said, "Do not be afraid of me, I am the Queen of Fairyland and I wondered if you would like to go with me. Betty said she would love to go with her.

So the Fairy touched a white rose in the garden and it turned into a beautiful coach of ivory drawn by pure white horses with silvery wings, and harness of solid gold with priceless gems on it, a driver, maids, and a footman. After an hour or so of driving they came to Fairy Land. All the people bowed down to the Queen. The King and Queen both were very kind. Betty stayed one year and then she said that she thought that her mother might be worried about her. So the Queen had a beautiful coach of silver which had instead of wheels, runers on it so that it could slide down to earth on it. Before Betty went home the Queen said Betty could have one wish. So Betty said that she wished that one month out of the year she could come to Fairy Land. Betty then said good-bye, and said that she had a lovely time and went home.

MR. MONKEY CHANGES HIS MIND

A monkey climbed a tree. He picked a cocoanut.

"This is a fine cocoanut," he said, "I will make a cocoanut pie of it."

Just then Mr. Baboon stole by. He saw the cocoanut too.

"I want that cocoanut," he said. "But it belongs to Mr. Monkey. [illegible] smaller than I. But then I [illegible] him."

Just then Mr. Monkey ran up to him.

"Will you have lunch with me, Mr. Baboon?"

"I will be pleased to have lunch with you," said Mr. Baboon, changing his mind and feeling very cheap.

So Mr. Baboon came and had lunch with Mr. Monkey. Mr. Monkey served the cocoanut pie.

Mr. Monkey said he would never again take from anyone else.

MARY'S SURPRISE.

Once there was a little girl named Mary. She lived near a forest with her mother. One day her mother said, "Mary, go into the forest and get a pail of water."

The little girl did as she was told. When she came home her mother was not there. She looked around and in back of her she saw a golden key! Mary picked up the key and tried to open the door. The door flew open! Mary went in. Her mother was in bed. Mary was so surprised she ran out the door. And what did she see but a big parade going by her house! It was the King and Queen of England. King George came up to Mary and said, I have brought you my doctor to heal your mother! Mary jumped up and down in surprise. The doctor healed her mother. When Mary tumbled into bed she said to her mother, "It is so wonderful all those things could have happened in one day." And Mary and her mother lived happy every day in every year.

CHAPTER XIV.

"We're in Jail."

Hugh had had Danny bring him the script of his first picture—the continuity writer had just finished with it—and Hugh and I wanted to go over it together. So we were busy most of the time, and Claudia, with Danny and Junior, wandered through the gorgeous gardens or went motoring. It was heavenly weather, and if there ever was a more perfect setting for a love affair, I don't know what it could have been.

"You ought to call this place 'Garden of Eden,' Claudia," Hugh told her, one evening, when we were having dinner out in the pergola that faced the hills.

"It is almost perfect enough for that, isn't it?" she agreed. "And yet I want to get out of it tonight. There's going to be a dance at that big hotel in Lenox, really a gorgeous affair, for charity, with a lot of the diplomats and other summer people as guests, and I thought—that is, I wondered—"

"Of course—let's go!" I cried, knowing how she'd love it. "And let's not go as ourselves; in such a crowd as that nobody will recognize you celebrities!"

"Marvelous—I'm going to be Pamela Hicks! Yes, I am!" Claudia insisted, facing our storm of protest. "Being named Hicks will be just like eating bread and butter after having nothing but cream puffs."

"All right—I shall turn my back on 'Daniel' forever and call myself Putnam Wellington—if you scorn distinction, I'm going to have it," declared Danny. I've forgotten what names Hugh and I chose, but they were so unlike our own that Hugh wrote them down on his cuff so we'd be able to remember them.

It was a gorgeous dance, and Claudia looked absolutely marvelous. Her gown was a very simple little thing of white net, caught up with garlands of French flowers, and her red hair and violet eyes had never been more beautiful, I felt sure. I was so proud of her when we entered the ballroom and everyone turned and stared.

And she was as happy as any young girl at her first party. She simply glowed. As for Danny, he raved his head off about her, nor could anyone have blamed him.

"She's the lovliest thing I've ever known!" he told me once when we were dancing together. "She's so beautiful, and has such character and such a really wonderful disposition."

"And what about Carol Barnet, Danny?" I asked. "Was I right when I told you that you weren't really in love with her, and that when the hurt was over you'd find that you hadn't cared so awfully much after all?"

"You're always right, Sally," he answered with the boyish grin that is so endearing. "But I was crazy about Claudia from the minute I saw her coaxing Junior out of that lily pond. She was so wonderful about it—she certainly loves children and knows a lot about them, doesn't she?"

That party was such a success that Claudia and Danny went crazy over the idea of repeating it. They went to another one the next night and came home perfectly hilarious over their success in discarding their fame.

"A man did ask me, though, if any one had ever told me that I looked like Claudia Dorveen," Claudia laughed, when they were telling Hugh and me about it. "And when I asked who she was and he said she was a famous and very wicked woman, I was horribly shocked." And she went off into gales of laughter.

She was still chuckling over that when she came into my room the next morning, while I was dressing Hughie Junior.

"Please let me borrow your son, Sally," she begged. "Danny and I are going off in the car and I adore having the baby, you know. Can't he come?"

"Of course—will you be home for luncheon?" I answered, endeavoring to lasso the squirming Junior with his sailor tie.

"Yes, indeed—we're just going down to Stockbridge for some candy," she answered, and went off downstairs with the boy bouncing along beside her.

But they weren't back for luncheon. They weren't back for dinner, either, and Hugh, pretending that he only did it because I was worried, and not at all because he was pretty anxious himself, phoned everywhere that they could possibly have gone to see if there'd been an accident. But he couldn't get any trace of them.

Nine o'clock came, and 10. Hugh's face got grimmer and grimmer and I choked down so many sobs that my throat felt swollen. I could just see the roadster overturned in a ditch somewhere, and the mutilated body of my baby boy lying in the mud and brackish water.

The telephone bell's jangling summons had never been so welcome to me before as when it brought Hugh and me running in from the terrace where we'd been anxiously watching the drive. Hugh reached it first, but turned and handed the receiver to me—I think he thought I'd go mad if I had to wait an instant for the news.

"Hello—Hello, Sally?" It was Danny's voice. "Hay, will you and Hugh come down here to Grantstown and bail us out. We're in jail!"

ELECTRICITY TO BRING PEOPLE BACK TO LAND

Use of Power on Farm Promises to Lure City Folks to Country Life.

Electricity is the magic power which may be expected to turn the tide of population from the overcrowded city back to the farm. So declared M. H. Aylesworth, managing director of the National Electric Light Association, before the seventh annual convention of the Pacific Coast Electrical Association. He added:

"Statesmen profess concern over United States census statistics during during 1922 showing that two million people left the farms and only one and a half million took their place. But electricity will take the city to the country and keep the young man on the farm. The farmers are electrifying their homes like the city homes. The modern farmers have their barns and fields electrified just as the factory is electrified in the city.

"The California farmer has taken advantage of the benefits electricity may produce. He irrigates his field, cuts his grain, milks the cows, churns butter and cooks his meals, all by electricity.

"The farmers of California use more electrical power and are served at a lower rate than in any state of the Union.

"Professor Frank Adams of the department of irrigation, investigation and practice, University of California, declared that millions of acres of land in the western states will be brought under cultivation to an important extent by electrical power."

English Women Bet Millions On the Ponies

LONDON, June 25. — Revelation of the fact that an English society woman is one of the country's leading bookmakers also brought to light the fact that women of England bet at least $2,000,000 every year on the races.

One fair bookmaker is Mrs. Helen Vernet, who is said to clear over $50,000 annually from her operations. She has a beautiful home at Newmarket and magnificent jewels. Mrs. Vernet comes from an old English family and her husband won the Military Cross in the World War.

DANCER SEEKS IMMORTALITY IN CAST OF LEGS

United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, (By mail to United Press.)—Mlle. Mistinguett's famous legs, admired by every visitor to the Paris music halls for close to 30 years, are not to be lost to future generations. Just before leaving for South America, where the dancer is to give a series of forty-five performances in the principal cities of Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil, she submitted to the ordeal of having her nether limbs encased in plaster of paris and models of them made by a Belgian sculptor, Pierre de Soete.

M. de Soete is a renowned modeller in plaster and marble, but Mlle. Mistinguette did not want to trust even to his artistic ability. She wants those who admire her legs to be able to gaze at an exact representation of nature's flawless creation, so she decided that only a plaster cast could do them full justice. Thus she hopes to gain immortality. Mistinguett will pass away but her legs will live on forever.

Mlle Mistinguett intends to trip in South America. She has taken with her seventy costumes including a thousand dollar hat.

Palo Alto Woman Believed Suicide

PASADENA, June 29.—The body of a woman believed to be Maude O. Foster, 25, graduate of Leland Stanford university and a daughter of Mrs. J. S. Foster of Palo Alto, Cal., was found in an automobile parked near the Flintridge Country club golf links here late yesterday. She had been shot through the right temple. Beside her lay a .22 calibre revolver. Police who investigated expressed the belief that she had committed suicide.

MEAT for HEALTH

Week~June 25th to 30th

The United States Department of Agriculture says:

"Meat contains a large amount of proteins, which are body-building substances, in a form easily digested and readily assimilated by the body. It also contains vitamins which are necessary for the normal growth and vitality of the body. Meat supplies these food substances in an appetizing and concentrated form. A liberal proportion of meat in the diet tends to make a physically and mentally well-balanced race."

Enjoy perfect health—eat meat every day.

Teacher's Slayer On Way to Prison

GREELEY, Col [illegible] J Lowe, convicted of the murder of his sister-in-law, Miss Edna Fern Skinner of Leroy, Ill., school teacher, and sentenced to life imprisonment, started his journey to the Colorado penitentiary at Canyon City yesterday. Miss Skinner was slain in Greeley, July 2, 1922, while a visitor at Lowe's home.

The case was one of the most [illegible] northern Colorado. Evidence introduced at Lowe's trial tended to show that Lowe had killed Miss Skinner with a blunt instrument and set fire to the kitchen of his home to cover the crime.

U. S. GOODS GROW IN BRITISH FAVOR

NEW YORK, June 30.—(United Press)—"Great Britain is not yet ripe for taking by sudden advertising storm, but good markets can be obtained there if correct methods are used," said A. J. Greenly, president of Greenly, Limited, one of the largest advertising agencies in London. Greenly came to the United States to attend the Atlantic City world convention of advertisers.

Greenly continued: "Many American products are today preferred to British, but on the other hand it is not possible to quickly change the habits of the country in some respects, as for instance, chewing. It is doubtful whether Britons will ever be made into a nation of gum chewers however much is spent on publicity.

"Your difficulties of obtaining domestic labor of ten and twenty years ago are now felt in Britain, consequently labor saving devices for the home are finding a wider and wider market. The English wife and mother is tending to go out more frequently to enjoy herself just as your women do, and is ceasing to be a household drudge.

"Conditions are undoubtedly moving toward similarity with yours and your experience should therefore be of advantage in producing products acceptable to the British market, provided [illegible] attention is given to little details which often mean the difference between success and failure in selling American products to the English people."

PROPAGANDA FOR ARMY FUNDS IS PUT UNDER BAN

Military Affairs Committee of House Effectively Gags Activity

WASHINGTON, June [illegible].—(By United Press.)—Regular army officers conducting the military training camps throughout the country this summer have been effectively gagged on the subject of army appropriations, as a result of criticism levied at the service by the House military affairs committee last year, which complained that such officers were using the camps to further propaganda for increased appropriations.

Though high officers of the army, who appeared before the committee denied that this propaganda had the approval of the department and stoutly maintained that, if it existed, an army officer, as a citizen, had a right to criticise Congress for its penuriousness, the department this year has no intention of incurring further hostility from those who control the purse-strings. The subject of appropriations at the camps has been "tabooed."

Allegations were made by members of the House committee last year that regular army officers at the camps where reserve officers received their annual two weeks' training took advantage of their mingling with quasi-civilians to boost for larger appropriations for the army and to criticise Congress.

The heads of the army were censured by the members of the committee for permitting these officers to indulge in such criticism, particularly because criticims by the officers of the army's own policy is harshly dealt with as "discipline."

The incongruity of permitting officers to indulge their pique against Congress while being subject to punishment for criticising their superior officers was plainly pointed out by the congressmen to the general who appeared at the hearing.

WASHINGTON CREW ADDS TO WESTERN ATHLETIC SUPREMACY

HARRY KRAUSE SHOWS FLASH OF HIS OLD-TIME FORM AND WINS A GAME FROM BEAVERS

Huskies Win College Crew Title for 1923

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—As rowing fans of this section who contributed $12,000 to send the freshmen and varsity crews of the University of Washington to Poughkeepsie, where the varsity yesterday won the intercollegiate regatta, rejoiced last night, many recalled Hiram Conibear.

Conibear, according to followers of rowing at Washington, was the creator of the stroke with which Washington achieved victory today under Russell Callow, one of his pupils, and Yale, under another, Ed Leader, defeated Harvard Saturday. Leader was coached at Washington after Conibear's death, and went to Yale last year.

Conibear never won fame as an oarsman. He was known as a track star. But he got an idea about rowing, and he continued to believe in that idea.

He decided that the best stroke for a three-mile race would be the stroke that lightened the strain on his men without sacrificing power. Pursuing this contention, "Conny" originated the "hard catch" with little "lay back." This almost reversed the English system in use at the time Conibear initiated his methods.

Washington oarsmen sit straight up on the "catch" without using their slides, putting all the weight of their shoulders into the first pull. Then with the oars at their knees, they start their slides, pulling the oars in to their bodies at the same time, finishing both actions together.

Disciples of Conibear assert that his system is peculiarly adapted to American colleges, where oarsmen rarely have any practice before entering college, while the English man rows almost from the time he leaves the cradle. The English system, assert these enthusiasts, puts upon the back and stomach muscles a strain that cannot be efficiently endured without many years of training.

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 29.—Eight stalwarts of the University of Washington, stroked by a brilliant young oarsman who rose from a sick bed to row the race of his career, smashed the two-year reign of the Navy's crews and swept to a dramatic triumph today in the premier test of American college rowing.

Through a driving downpour Washington and the Navy fought it out for supremacy over the last mile of the varsity struggle, after distancing their four rivals, and the Pacific Coact men won because they possessed the greater stamina and finishing power. They crossed the finish line fully a length ahead of a decisively whipped Annapolis eight that failed to demonstrate the qualities that carried its predecessor to spectacular victories in 1921 and 1922.

Down toward the finish line they raced, through a pelting rain. Making its supreme bid, the Navy for a time seemed to gain slowly, but steadily on the westerners. But Washington, putting renewed drive into stroke, flung back this challenge with a closing spurt that carried the crew across the finish line a full length ahead.

The Navy found its strategy sufficient to dispose of four of its rivals, but it had not counted on the staying powers of that stalwart eight from the Pacific Coast.

The hero of Washington's victory tonight was Dow Walling of Bellingham, Wash., 20-year-old stroke oar. Forced out of his seat last Saturday by an infected knee that for a time threatened to develop into blood poisoning, Walling rejoined the eight only last evening and proved his remarkable grit by pacing the far-westerners brilliantly and smoothly from start to finish today.

His knee was bandaged and his face showed the signs of the physical strain he had undergone, but there was no evidence of handicap in the irresistible pace he set for his crew. His own words after the race, were that he "just forgot all about his knee."

Brilliant as was the far westerners' varsity victory—the first time that the West has triumphed in the quarter of a century that its oarsmen have sought this blue ribbon crown of rowing—the struggle for freshman honors was the most spectacular feature of the day. The finish which looked from the shore that it was only a 2 to 1 vote of the judges at the finish that Cornell was awarded the decision over Washington.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—A parade for everybody in town that can get into it is Mayor Edwin J. Brown's idea of the proper central feature of the welcome Seattle is to extend to the crew of the University of Washington, which yesterday won the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Y.

Washington Crew Wins Poughkeepsie Annual Race

Kilbane and Jimmy Wilde Unfit to Box

NEW YORK, June 29.—Both Johnny Kilbane and Jimmy Wilde deceived fight promoters as to their physical condition. Neither one of these boxers was in shape to put up a hard fight. Physical examiners of the state commission didn't discover the evident lack of training. Both title holders entered the ring to pick up easy coin.

Boxing men are clamoring for the state commission to exercise more care in passing upon the physical condition of fighters. The promoters and the public must be protected from any more one-sided matches.

The practice of returning to the ring to sell titles for big money is also being roundly scored unless the holders undergo a thorough course of training.

Kilbane and Wilde should have been compelled to have undergone at least six weeks training under state supervisors before selling their titles. Boxing champions have abused the public.

The good old English way of forcing the fighters to enter the ring every few months until they are defeated is considered best for the sport. Champions have been playing the public for poor foolish galoots. Facts about physical condition haven't been revealed. Candid criticism of boxers before fights is needed to put the sport on the right foundation.

J. May Hurls Good Game For Vernon

SEATTLE, June 29.—Vean Gregg started on the hill for the Seattle Indians yesterday afternoon, but was not feeling well and retired in the middle of the third inning. George Burger, who relieved him, hurled a good brand of ball, but in the ninth inning the Vernon Tigers got to him for three hits and put over the final run of a 2 to 1 score. Jakie May worked on the hill for the Tigers and had a little the best of the pitching.

MAYBE MITZE DID IT.

At the pace New Orleans has been going for the past two weeks there scarcely is a chance for Nashville, Atlanta or any other club to overtake it. The Pelicans will have the Southern League pennant cinched by the Fourth of July if they are not checked soon.

Henus Mitze, who was sold by the Oaks to New Orleans last spring, is doing most of the catching for the leaders.

HAAS REPLACES HAWKS.

With Nelson Hawks declared ineligible to play with St. Paul by Commissioner Landis, Manager Mike Kelley of the Saints has fallen back on Bruno Haas as a first-sacker. Bob [illegible] has done some work at the first station. While Charles Dressen was out with a cracked head, Hap Morse was used at third base. Good utility men is Kelley's strength these days.

Jess Willard To Train Hard For Firpo Go

NEW YORK, June 29.—Ruminating over that Boyles Thirty Acres fight, July 12, between Willard and Firpo, will "Big Jess" be able to withstand the South American's hurricane attacks and tremendous blows?

Sporting men say that Firpo is the heaviest hitter, next to Dempsey, that the Kansas farmer ever met. The consensus of opinion is that he must be stronger and faster than in his Floyd Johnson fight to stand off the "Wild Bull of the Pampas."

Firpo has kept himself in training but Willard has been loafing and will have to put in some hard licks before the fight. Willard was idle for a month before he began the grind. It is conceeded that he must do [illegible] training in order to enter the ring in fit physical condition to be on equal terms with the young giant.

Mexicans Ask Landis to Bar Old Hal Chase

CHICAGO, June 29.—Mexican ball players have appealed to Judge Landis, baseball's high commissioner, to bar Hal Chase, former major league player, from playing with any teams with which they are likely to have games. Chase, who was dropped from organized baseball some time ago, has become manager of the Nogales, Mexico, team, which is a member of the Southern Arizona-Mexican League.

The league is not in organized baseball, according to Secretary O'Connor of the combination, who says only a moral influence can be exerted over it. Action by Judge Landis has not been taken.

Coumbe Stops Seals And Bees Win Game

A home run by Paul Strand in the sixth inning when two teammates were on the bases was the feature of the ball game at San Francisco in which the Salt Lake Bees defeated the San Francisco Seals 4 to 3. Oliver Mitchell was the on the mound for the Seals when Strand got his long hit. The hit gave the Bees their 4 to 3 lead. The Seals filled the bags in their half, but Coumbe relieved Kallio of the pitching duties and knocked down a line drive off the bat of Mulligan and saved the game.

Columbus Boy Is Champion Marble Shooter

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 29.—Harlin McCoy, 14, of Columbus, O., is the champion marble shooter of the United States. He won the title here today, defeating Sammy Schneider, 11, of St. Louis, in the final match of the marble championship tournament. Schneider won the first game 8 to 5.

McCoy came back and took the second, 11 to 2. Schneider rallied however, and captured the third, 8 to 5.

McCoy took the fourth, 9 to 4, and fifth, 11 to 2, and followed this up by winning the sixth.

Harry Krause Lets Beavers Have Six Hits

Leverenz Is Free With Hits, But Good in Close Pinches.

PORTLAND, June 29.—The Oaks outbatted the Beavers two to one in their game yesterday afternoon and by so doing they score a 2 to 1 victory, their first of the series. Harry Krause, who Portland fans know and respect as much as any member of the local team, was on the hill for the visiting tribe, and Harry pitched just like he used to for the Beavers before he went to the Cleveland Indians. Six hits was all that he allowed the locals, while his teammates nicked the shoots of Walter Leverenz for twelve. In spite of the many hits for the Oaks, Leverenz managed to engage in a nifty pitching duel with the big southpaw of the Oaks. A. Krause throws from the wrong side also. It was as nifty a duel that southpaws have staged here this season.

The Oaks tied up the ball game in the seventh inning when with the score reading one each, Maderas got a single and Krause was safe on Brazil's boot. Massey forced Maderas, but a double by Cooper scored Krause.

The Oaks tallied their first one in the opening stanza when Massey doubled, Cooper sacrificed, and Cather singled. Doubles by Onslow and Leverenz tied the count in the third. The Beavers had several chances to take the lead from the visitors, but the old hit in the pinch could not be delivered outside of the time that Leverenz drove Onslow home. The score:

Yankees Lead League Chase By Six Games

New York Giants Also Set a Fast Pace by Winning Tenth Straight.

CHICAGO, June 29.—The New York Yankees won the first game of their decisive series with the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 4 to 2, and increased their margin in the first place to six games.

FIRST BLOOD FOR BROWNS.

St. Louis won first blood in its series with Detroit for fourth place, Urban Shocker winning his eleventh victory of the season. Boston beat Washington in the first of their series for last place and rain prevented the Chicago-Cleveland game.

Rain also prevented the opener of the important Pittsburgh-Cincinnati series but the New York Giants kept piling up a lead, winning their tenth straight 4 to 2 from Boston. Five of the ten victories have been won from Boston.

FOURNIER HITS HARD.

Jacques Fournier, the former St. Louis Cardinal first baseman is hitting the ball hard and timely for the Brooklyn Dodgers. He bagged three hits, including a homer yesterday.

Last Night's fight results

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 29.—Solly Seeman of Los Angeles and Jimmy Sacco of Boston, lightweights, boxed six fast clean rounds to a draw here last night. Eddie McCarthy, Olympia, obtained a decision over Ludwig Jones, Tacoma, at 130 pounds in four rounds. Jones broke his hand in the first round. Bud Fitzgerald, Olympia, and Bud Martin, Centralia, were given a draw in six rounds.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 29.—Ted Jamieson, of Milwaukee, won a scheduled ten-round no-decision bout here last night when he was fouled in the third round by Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight champion. Jamieson weighed 177½ pounds and Renault 200. The first two rounds were even.

SAN JOSE, June 29.—Gordon McKay failed to appear here last night for his bout with John St. John and Al Nelson, who substituted, was sadly outpointed. Ed Warner stopped Jim R[illegible] in the first round. Pinkey Mason and Danny Burns boxed a draw. Other results.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. Grist from the Sport Mill

BY BOB SHAND

The boys at Shelby have overlooked the fact that Jack Kearns and his little pal, Jack Dempsey, are going to have a terrible time collecting that $210,000 which Kearns is reported to have received. As a matter of fact, Kearns has received nothing. The famous $210,000 has been placed in escrow and it is far from probable that the champion will get any part of this sum unless he fights for it. Of course the contract calls for the promoters to put up the money in advance and further stipulates that Kearns and Dempsey will receive altogether $310,000, but there is a difference between guaranteeing money and actually delivering it. If Dempsey refuses to meet Gibbons the money will be fought for, and leave it to the people in Montana who put up the $210,000, to spend plenty of dough trying to salvage that huge sum. Public sentiment is all in favor of the Montanans and there won't be any left for Kearns and Dempsey if the matter ever comes to be fought out in the courts. Dragging money out of escrow is a tough job.

Taxes Will Eat Up Big Part of Purse.

In the event the fight takes place and Dempsey gets the $310,000 that has been promised him he won't leave Montana with much more than half that amount. The various taxes, state, federal, war, income and a few others will nick the champ for about fifty or sixty per cent of the gross. Of course $150,000 is fair enough compensation for a few minutes' exercise in the ring, but the sum will probably look insignificant to the champion and his manager, who talk only in quarter-millions. In the meantime however, the Messrs. Dempsey and Kearns are doing as much worrying as the Montana promoters, and both probably wish they were safely back in New York. And there's a more serious angle to the affair for Kearns. Had the managerial end of the firm put over the fight and collected the entire purse he would have been hailed as a hero by the fighting end of the firm, but if Kearns has tossed a bloomer Dempsey may get peeved and hire a new boss.

Judge Josephs Gave Decision to Kid Davis.

Charlie Josephs, one of the judges at the Auditorium quarrels has a kick coming. In the Davis-Cardinet bout Wednesday evening Judge Picorotti gave the decision to Davis, who really won by himself. When Referee George Brown picked up Josephs' slip he signaled a draw and then agreed with the fifty-fifty verdict. As a matter of fact Josephs also passed up a Davis slip but Brown made a mistake and called it a draw. After the fights Josephs was razzed but he squared himself by going to the City Hall and obtaining the slips which are saved by the Captain of Police. Both slips called for a Davis victory. It was a boot on George Brown's part. Then in the main event some of the boys thought Josephs gave the fight to Sunny Jim when he turned in a Pelkey verdict. Judging fights is a tough enough job without added complications.

Sunny Jim Advised Not to Read Papers.

Sunny Jim called up his manager, Moose Taussig, bright and early yesterday morning. "What did the papers say about my fight with Ray Pelkey?" he asked.

"Haven't you read them?" asked Moose.

"No," was the reply.

"Then DON'T," thundered Moose.

However the colored boy did the best he could against Pelkey and it was no disgrace to be outpointed by the local boy, who never shows any respect for an opponent's pantry. What he didn't do to the Sunny one's stomach Wednesday night is not worth telling. Manager Taussig was asked [illegible]

"Not even that," said the manager; "he's applying cold applications to his stomach to reduce the fever."

Bert Colima to Make the Weight for Duffy.

Bert Colima will probably be here Saturday to finish training for his bout with Jimmy Duffy on the Fourth. The southern boy is reducing daily and his manager, Paddy Meyers, assures the customers that Bert will make 147 pounds at ten o'clock. In his local fights Colima never weighed more than 157 and he will be able to dry out about four pounds. Taking the other six off his frame should be easy as he is working in rubber underclothes.

Sequoyah Announces Flag Tourney: Many Other Outside Events.

By W. D. McNICOLL.

The tournament committee at Sequoyah has arranged to hold a Flag tournament on Wednesday morning, July 4. One ball sweepstake will supply the necessary balls for prizes. C. B. Barton has made several alterations in the handicaps, and the results of this event will prove whether his calculations are correct.

After lunch a driving contest will be held in which accuracy as well as distance will decide the winners. A putting and approaching contest in which each competitor will be called upon to approach and hole out at probably the 18th, 9th and 7th greens, this should make a most enjoyable holiday's entertainment.

BOB BLACK BESTED.

In a three-ball syndicate match played at Sequoyah in which E. J. Hadden, C. H. Barton and Bob Black participated, the latter was out in 34 without winning a syndicate. Hadden and Barton were teaming well and although Bob was invariably closer on his approaches one of the amateurs would hold a long putt to keep the sequence of halved holes going. At the 7th all were on the green with their seconds when Burton holed out from about 20 feet, while the other two failed to get down from a shorter distance. Bob Black was 4 under par with three holes to go but putted badly on the remaining greens, finishing with 69, one under par. E. J. Hadden had 73 and C. B. Barton 78.

AT BELVEDERE.

An invitation tournament was held at Belvedere yesterday in which six Berkeley and three Sequoyah players participated. The local visitors enjoyed their outing and showed their appreciation by scoring well. Mrs. W. M. Demming of the Berkeley club had a net score of 63, while Miss Elsie Knight, who is playing her first tournament game since school closed had a net score of 68. Mrs. C. G. Knight won the putting contest, taking only 31 putts on 18 greens.

Local players who contemplate visiting Del Monte or Santa Cruz over the week-end and July 4 will be taken care of in regard to tournaments.

California Players Win Doubles Matches

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—Carl Fischer of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, and Gerald Emerson of Columbia, will meet in the final round for the intercollegiate singles championship at the Merion Cricket club Saturday afternoon as a result of their victories in the semi-finals.

Fischer won from Frank T. Anderson, Columbia, former national junior indoor champion, in a three set match, 8-6, 6-4, 7-5, while Emerson defeated W. W. Ingraham, Harvard, in another three set encounter 6-8, 7-5, 6-3.

Fischer, former University of Pennsylvania captain, after losing the first set to Anderson, rallied gamely.

In the doubles Wallace Bates and Philip Bettens, University of California, won both their second and third round matches. Only two other doubles matches were played today, the victors being Philip Neer and James Davies, Leland Stanford, and Lucien Williams and Arnold Jones, Yale.

Doubles third round: Wallace Bates and Philip Bettens, University of California, defeated W. W. Ingraham and Morris Duane, Harvard, 4-6, 8-6, 7-5.

M. Fukuda Is "Foxing" On Tennis Court

NEW YORK, June 29.—Massamosuke Fukuda, Japanese tennis champion, is foxing with his adversaries on tennis courts. In his matches here, he admits he has been carrying opponents along so as to secure additional practice in the American style of play.

"If I finish my match too quickly," Fukuda explains, "I do not learn what I want to know." Consequently he toys when he is fed a certain type of shot which he desires to study. He experiments with the offerings of the Yankee players who oppose him. Wm. T. Tilden used to "fox it," too, before he became world champion.

Fukuda is "taking his lessons" but he is far from being an adept at the close range game. A good net player will surely defeat him in the Davis cup matches. All the same the clever Japanese is rapidly improving.

Fukuda puts the ants and bees to shame by his industry. He is practicing morning, noon and night. His strategy in foxing in his matches make him a man of mystery on the courts. He may be another Tilden in the making.

Ty Cobb "In Bad" As Detroit Manager

DETROIT, June 29.—Ty Cobb may not manage the Tigers next year. The feeling here is that he has made many mistakes that he will be deposed. Persons on the inside say that Cobb will be removed from the management because, for one thing, he can't control his temper and for another he has made disastrous trades for the Tigers.

His worst blunder was when he traded Howard Ehmke to the Red Sox for Del Pratt. This old timer is all through. Cobb also sent [illegible] a promising second baseman, to the minors. The release of Flagsted was another serious mistake.

Cobb hasn't used very good judgment. Detroit fans are criticising his management and unless the Jungle beasts brace and win a place in the first division his days in Detroit as a manager are numbered.

Dempsey and Manager Fool With Bad Men

One Cheerful Fellow Says a Gun Would Make Champion Fight.

SHELBY, Montana, June 29.—"Dempsey doesn't deserve any more money than he can attract at the gate," shouted a determined "ex-bad man" who is shaking in his boots for fear the big fight will fall through.

"If Dempsey and Kearns attempt to leave Montana with their $210,000 in swag there surely will be gun play," says this wild western character.

"If the tickets can't be sold the honorable thing for Dempsey and Kearns to do is to refund the money. Of course they will be allowed a few thousand for expenses but that's all.

"Montana men don't anticipate any serious trouble with Dempsey and Kearns. Both will be amenable to reason after they realize what it means to take an unfair advantage of western mining men."

It is not believed here that Dempsey and Kearns will attempt to leave Montana with the $210,000 in case the fight is off. They will compromise and carry away possibly $50,000 for their trouble.

Ted Thye Loses to Champ Mike Yokel

PORTLAND, Ore., June 29.—Mike Yokel, light heavyweight wrestler of Salt Lake, retained his championship belt against Ted Thye when he took a decision from the latter here tonight in a two-hour match. There was one fall apiece and Yokel took the decision on aggressiveness.

Freezing Ball Is Very Latest Diamond Trick

Minor League Managers Dirty and Deaden Spheres in Two Novel Ways.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Minor league managers are obtaining boxes of a dozen baseballs and freezing them over night in the refrigerator so as to deaden them.

A frozen baseball becomes dead. Even a Babe Ruth with his powerful swing couldn't drive one very far. Say a team has a four-run lead in the third inning and then the frozen balls appear. Neither club will do much hitting thereafter and the team with the lead wins.

It is impossible for an umpire to determine that a baseball has rested in the icebox by examining it. But, if he suspects that the freezing trick has been operated, he can throw out all the balls and demand a new and unbroken box and continue to do this until he gets balls that have the accustomed life.

The rules relating to the ball provide that the umpire shall "remove the gloss therefrom"—meaning that the very bright and white cover of a new baseball shall be dirtied.

Adding water to a handful of the dirt the ump gets a mixture that very effectually removes the gloss. And that is all the soiling of the sphere permitted by the rules, except such as may happen in the course of the ball's journeys from player to player and from bat to ground or glove.

That is where the troubles begin. The rules state that a ball shall be removed from play when "in the judgment of the umpire it becomes unfit for play from any cause."

Nearly every pitcher can take a baseball that has a slight nick or scuff on the cover and throw it so that it will dip, hop or break over the plate in some queer manner. And the nicks and scuffs may come when the ball collides with the wall after being hit by a batsman.

To prevent "sailers," "dippers" and hoppers' from being thrown by a pitcher the umpire examines a baseball frequently—always after it has been batted against concrete or wooden barrier—and usually finds an imperfection that necessitates the throwing out of the sphere.

However many times in the course of a contest batsmen complain about the baseball when they imagine the pitcher is chucking "sailers." Seven times out of ten the ump will find some slight abrasion or some discoloration and out goes the apple.

History Of Button Blow On Man's Jaw

Old boxing men say that Bob Fitzsimmons was the first pugilist to discover the effect of a blow on the jaw. He didn't swing like Sullivan but jabbed and hooked his fists to the chin, the blows traveling a few inches before reaching the spot.

However, old John L. is given credit for inventing the modern knock out blow. Sullivan didn't understand the efficiency of body punching as well as Dempsey and other fighters. Fitzsimmons was the first great worker on this part of the anatomy. His blows to the solar plexus and other torso points won him many fights.

Fitzsimmons was the originator of the modern style of milling. Dempsey is its foremost exemplar today.

Los Angeles Golfer To Compete in Open

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—Hut Martin, golf professional, was to leave for New York today to enter the national open tournament at Long Island next month. He recently won the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association tournament and was chosen to represent the association in the national meet. He was to be accompanied to the tournament by his brother, Joe Martin, who also plans to try for the national title.

Fighters Are Training as Big Day Looms

Managers Squabble Over the Money, But Boxers Are On the Job.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

SHELBY, Mont., June 29.—With all the promoters of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight in Great Falls soliciting money, the matter of high finance was lifted from Shelby today and talk returned to the bout itself for the first time in weeks.

Granting that the champion is at least close to his old-time form Gibbons will meet the same fate that Georges Carpentier did if he rushes Dempsey and takes the chance of landing one decisive blow. If Gibbons boxes Dempsey, makes him miss and counter, he has an excellent chance to win, if the fight goes more than six rounds. Everyone agrees that Gibbons must watch Dempsey's left hand and his body punches. In his training, Gibbons has shown an almost impregnable defense against infighting, but it remains to be seen if Dempsey is stronger than the sparring partners that Tommy has been working with.

Dempsey's actual condition remains the subject of argument, but it is believed that he does not look as good as he did in Atlantic City. The champion, however, has always been an erratic trainer, and it is hard to get any accurate judgment of his real form.

Dempsey and Gibbons are going right along with their training while the fight is hanging in the balance. Gibbons knows about it now, and he takes the attitude that he only hopes the fight will be staged.

"I never did expect to make much money out of it, and I hope it can be put on without costing the promoters too much money," he said.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT.

It was another day of squalls and marking up of "new lows" for the year in Wall Street today. The steels bore the brunt of the early attacks to give place for a time to the big railways. The way these high class securities weakened under the storm was not encouraging to those who have been looking for a permanent upturn in the market.

When the market opened the trend was firm with many issues showing gains overnight. The initial demand centered in motors, motor accessories, rails and a few specialties.

Studebaker, Stewart Warner Speedometer, Union Pacific, General Cigar and Baltimore and Ohio opened 1 to 1⅝ higher but Northern Pacific dropped 1¼. Some of the minor oils also were heavy.

The advance had become quite general when weakness developed in Bethlehem Steel which dropped 4 points and Chandler Motors off 2, each at new low prices for the year. Selling of these issues halted the upward trend in other quarters. Republic Steel also dropped to a new low. Foreign exchanges opened slightly lower.

Publication in the financial district of unfavorable steel trade advices apparently was responsible for the heavy selling of the independent steel shares nearly all of which broke through their previous low prices for the year. This weakness also extended to the equipments and merchandising issues and a few specialties. The motors, public utilities, coppers, sugar and rails, however, showed indications of good buying support. Call money opened at 6 per cent.

Selling of railroad shares was aggressively conducted after mid-day and when Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred and Chicago & Northwestern dropped 1½ to 3½ points, mostly to new low prices of the year, the general list also became moderately weaker.

The closing was heavy. Abundant evidence of liquidation by tired holders encouraged more aggressive short selling in which United States Steel registered a new minimum price for the year. The customary week-end covering caused some stocks to snap back fractionally in the final dealings.

Advances predominated in the irregular price movement of today's early trading in bonds. Mexican 4s and 5s each advanced more than two points on announcement that a call for the deposit of Mexican bonds would be issued July 9, and several other foreign government issues gained fractionally. Railroad mortgages showed improved demand, New Haven convertible 6s and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5s each advancing 2. Third Avenue adjustment 5s also moved up two points.

Industrial liens were relatively dull, but most of the early transactions were slightly higher. Virginia-Carolina Chemical 7½s with warrants and the 7s continued upward, gaining more than two points. U. S. Government bonds were stronger, advances ranging from 1-32 to 2-32 of a point.

OWL DRUG COMPANY DECLARES 33D PREFERRED DIVIDEND.

The Owl Drug Company today declared its thirty-third consecutive semi-annual dividend on its preferred stock. The company at the same time in its letter to stockholders tells some of the recent gains in business and expansions of plants as follows:

"The sales of the company for the first six months of 1923, as compared with the same period of last year, have shown a substantial increase. Since January 1, there has been opened a very complete store at Second street and Broadway in the city of Los Angeles; also two buildings are now being erected, one on the northeast corner of Seventh and Alvarado streets, Los Angeles, and the other at No. 33 Pine avenue, Long Beach.

"To insure the perpetuation of some of the desirable locations in the cities in which we operate, our company has recently purchased a lot and building at the corner of Second street and Pine avenue, Long Beach, also the property, known as the Jevne Building, at the corner of Sixth street and Broadway, Los Angeles (at which location we have operated the largest store in the chain for the last three years) also the northeast corner of Sixteenth street and Telegraph avenue, Oakland. All of these properties, in the opinion of those [illegible] to pass judgment, are now, and will be for many years to come, in the [illegible] spective cities, and our most conservative estimates anticipate that these investments will prove substantially profitable."

NEW BOND ISSUES ARE OFFERED BAY INVESTORS.

There are offered today a $7,500,000 bond issue of Long-Bell Lumber Company first mortgage 6s, of series B. This is an additional issue of the first [illegible] the foremost lumber [illegible] in the United States. The offering was presented by a syndicate comprised of Halsey, Stuart & Co., the [illegible] Securities Corporation, George [illegible] Conrad & Broom, Anglo and London Paris National, E. H. Rollins & Co. and Blyth, Witter & Co.

An issue of $525,000 first mortgage 6½ per cent serial gold bonds of the Professional Building Company was offered by the syndicate comprising Hunter, Dulin & Co. and Drake, Riley & Thomas. The issue is secured by valuable realty holdings in the city of Los Angeles which will be improved by [illegible] A store and office building [illegible] total security value behind the issue of $876,633.

An issue of $1,000,000 Southern Counties Gas Company first mortgage 5½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds was placed upon the market by a syndicate composed of Blythe, Witter & Co., E. H. Rollins & Sons, and the First Securities Company. The Southern Counties Gas Company operates in a suburban territory surrounding the city of Los Angeles, and serves forty-six communities in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Bernardino, Orange and Ventura counties, having a population of approximately 500,000.

JOBBERS REPORT NORMAL JUNE SLOW-UP IN TRADE.

R. G. Dunn & Co. in their weekly review of trade in the bay district issued today, says jobbers in general merchandise report a slight slowing up in their sales for June, but no more than a normal amount and many see encouraging features for the balance of the year. Cool weather has delayed movement of summer [illegible] part for a slack demand at the moment. With labor keeping well employed, there have been advances in wages in lieu of declines.

Building operations in thirty-six Pacific Coast cities, during May, gained 37 per cent over May, 1922, and permits issued aggregated $42,082,706. Demand for building materials of all kinds continues good, but there has been some curtailment of speculative building.

Oil production continues in excess of consumption, but some of the larger companies have reduced their output by pinching down wells, and the number of new wells opened is being cut down.

Shipments of raw sugar from Hawaii, during May, to San Francisco, aggregated 74,731 tons. Total crop for the season estimated at 508,100 tons. Prevailing prices are reported to have benefitted conditions in the islands very materially.

Call money rates are easy, and thought likely to remain so during the summer months.

CONSERVATISM NOTED IN BUSINESS BY LOCAL BANK.

A conservative spirit prevails in the business world, says the Oakland Bank. The tendency to exceed the speed limit, so prevalent earlier in the year, has been supplemented by a more normal pace, particularly in the building industry. Yet it cannot be stated that the tide of business is definitely receding. Prices of commodities, it is true, are not advancing. But bank clearings outside of New York continue to expand; the volume of railroad traffic is larger than any time since 1920; the production of iron, steel, automobiles, tires and many other commodities, is the largest in the history of the country; the American Woolen Company is operating every one of its spindles for the first time in its history; retail trade is brisk, as shown by the published statements of earnings of the large chain stores and mail order houses; labor is fully employed and a shortage of men exists in some lines; in short, reports from various industries in all parts of the country show that conditions are healthy. Only in the building industry are there signs of reaction, due to the high cost of materials and to labor troubles; and in the oil industry, where production has been temporarily overdone.

COMMODITY NEWS

GRAIN.

DULUTH, June 29.—The McDougall Terminal which costs $2,000,000, has been opened here and now is being used as a base for handling grain and other freight from the head of the Lakes through the New York state barge canal to the Atlantic seaboard.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Figures of manufacturers made public today indicated that the people of the United States will use approximately 100,000,000 electric lamps this year. The carbon filament lamps are fast disappearing in favor of mazda lamps and the partly frosted globes are [illegible] today than the full frosted type where indirect lighting is desired.

DRYGOODS.

SEATTLE, June 29.—Retail business remains undiminished today according to reports from Pacific Northwestern department stores. Net sales are running about [illegible] per cent above this time last year and [illegible] higher than two months ago.

LEATHER.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 29.—Manufacturers of harness, saddlery and other leather goods in the Northwest reported today that their business showed an increase in sales volume of 20 per cent as compared with this time in 1922.

STEEL.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 29.—[illegible] are sold [illegible] low as [illegible] ers, although quotations from furnaces are higher. Foundry iron has gone [illegible] for the carload at $28 valley, but the general market is off $1 for the week at $27 valley. Bessemer is still quoted at $28.50 valley.

CLOTHING.

ST. PAUL, June 29.—The volume of sales of furs, hats, and gloves reported by mail order houses in the Northwest have increased slightly in the last two weeks, but other articles are moving slowly in a between-season's slump.

British Pound, French Franc Make Big Drop

Demand sterling was quoted at $4.55⅞, an overnight decline of 1¼c. The British rate has been on the downgrade since the middle of February and the decline has been attributed to the continuance of low money rates in London and the diversion of funds to other centers. Other European rates weakened in sympathy with sterling, French francs falling three points to 6.08½ cents or about one quarter of a cent above the year's low. The lire was down to 4.41 cents—and the mark to 62-5 cents per 1000.

Baltimore and Ohio Sells Coal Feeders

BALTIMORE, Md., June 29.—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company has sold to the Consolidation Coal company, the Sandy Valley and Elkhorn and Millers Creek railroads, and to the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad the Long Fork railway. These roads all connect with the Chesapeake & Ohio's Big Sandy branch and are known as tap lines and have been separately operated. The amount involved in the transactions is approximately $8,000,000, the company's announcement today stated.

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Automobile manufacturers have not been buying steel on a large scale for third quarter delivery. However, slowing down in automobile sales is coming much later in the year than expected.

PRODUCTION OF DURANT MOTORS PASSES 150,000

Figures issued from the offices of the Durant Corporation in Oakland today claim that the 150,-000th automobile built in Durant plants left the production line June 1, total May production aggregating 24,164 cars, with a new single day record established May 31, when 1356 cars and trucks were produced and marketed. The statement continues:

"This record offers contrast with the national production record for May, as reported by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"The chamber reports the total increase of May production over April of 6 per cent. Durant increase aggregates 14.6 per cent in the same period—25.9 per cent greater than March, 73.6 per cent over February and 119 per cent ahead of January of the current year.

"With scarcely more than a month between now and the promised showing on August 1, the new line of Eagle cars is being rushed. This line is to include the Eagle Four and Six, designed to supplement the Durant line including Durant, Star, Flint, Princeton and Locomobile passenger cars and the Mason trucks.

"As Durant production grows so does Hayes-Hunt production of bodies. The Elizabeth, New Jersey, plant with 800 employees is building bodies at the rate of 10,000 a month, having delivered 24,000 up to June 1. Meantime all possible speed is being made in preparing plans for huge Hayes-Hunt plants at Lansing and Flint, Michigan and in this city according to The Durant Corporation's advices. At the Oakland plant production schedules call for from 48,000 to 60,000 bodies a year.

"Other plants in course of planning or construction include a new plant for the Mason Motor Co., making the Mason Road King Truck, at Flint, Michigan and the Flint plant at the same city.

Realtors Told to Elevate Business

CLEVELAND, June 29.—Addressing the brokers' divisional meeting, Frank Ryan of Los Angeles sounded the keynote of the National Association of the real estate boards when he urged constant war on the shyster real estate men, observance of a code of ethics, continual education of the realtor and the gradual raising of he business to the levels of profitable dealings.

Today was "legislation day" at the general session. Lawrence Veiller, secretary of the National Housing association New York, General Nathan William McChesney and Judge William A. Hough of Indianapolis, were speakers.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Berkeley bank clearings for the week ending June 27 were $3,-225,842, a decrease of $668,305 from last week. The total for the corresponding week a year ago was $3,033,002, showing an increase of $192,840 or .06 per cent.

Tweedy Pledges Support in War On Bucketeers

Confers With Attorney-General and Says "Irregular" Brokers Must Go.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Laurence Tweedy, who recently succeeded William Silkworth as president of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, visited the office of Attorney General Sherman and pledged his whole hearted support in the attorney general's campaign to clean all bucket shops and irregular brokers out of Wall Street.

Tweedy, accompanied by Thomas B. Maloney, chairman of the exchange's law committee and a member of the ways and means committee, suggested that in order to avoid the immunity clause in the Martin act, exempting brokers examined by the authorities from prosecution, officials of the exchange conduct investigations of houses under suspicion and turn the evidence over to the attorney general. They said they would use every effort to induce the exchange to authorize such a course.

Pittsburgh Still Short of Houses

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Demand for dwellings is not diminishing, sales records here show. Recently the Pennsylvania Railroad ordered 1100 of its office employees to Philadelphia. Many of them lived and owned their homes in Crafton, Ingram and other suburbs. A large percentage is selling property here with the idea of buying in Philadelphia where it is difficult to find vacant houses for rent. Real estate agents report that all houses placed on the market are readily sold to people who find it less costly to purchase old dwellings than erect new ones of the same description.

CANADA NATIONAL RAILWAYS MAKE BETTER SHOWING

While Earnings Fall Off, Deficit Is Reduced by Much Greater Degree.

The annual report of the Canadian National Railways, which includes the Canadian Northern Railway System, the Canadian Government Railways and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, for the year ending December 31, 1922, discloses an improvement of $6,484,018, the operating deficit being reduced by that amount as compared with 1921—being an improvement of over $27,000,-000, compared with operations for the year 1920, according to a bulletin issued by Cyrus Peirce & Co. This was achieved in the face of a reduction in gross revenue brought about by reduced passenger and freight rates and also in the face of a greater tonnage movement, which, while requiring a considerably greater performance, produced no increase in gross returns.

The problems of Canadian National Railways arose directly from construction planned several years ago in anticipation of the country's continued development, which did not materialize as expected, primarily because of the war and partly through working of economic laws. Real relief can only be expected through resumed national growth and increased traffic on the long mileage of new roads. The Canadian government is planning early resumption of the immigration propaganda, which stopped in 1914. The existing roads with moderate branch line extension could, it is thought, serve double the present population, but a small increase in immigration would materially aid in solving the railroad problems.

Geologists Find Promises of Oil

MAXWELL, June 29.—Geologists in the hills west of town have made a discovery at Sites which is expected to bring one of the biggest oil companies in the west to Colusa county. The party found that the town of Sites is biult almost at the apex of the largest anticline ever found in California. The rock structure is of the Knoxville series which is the same as that in which the petroleum of Southern California is found. So far as is known there is no other such outcropping in northern California. The Sacramento valley is underlaid with sandstone known as the Chico sandstone, which never has produced oil.

This is Dividend Time—Will Your Check Arrive?

ON July 1 stockholders of REID BROS., Inc., will be mailed dividend checks at the annual rate of 8%—for quarter ending June 30, 1923.

Never since its origin has REID BROS., Inc., passed a dividend. The rate has never been less than 8 per cent. Its common stock has often paid more—as high as 12, 14 and 18 per cent.

The San Francisco and Oakland district has been allotted 500 shares of the present authorized issue, which will complete the capitalization of the company.

The shares are rapidly being subscribed. Old stockholders, familiar with the business and more than satisfied with their investment, have bought additional shares. Many new investors, after careful investigation, are taking advantage of this unusual opportunity for sound and profitable investment.

You cannot afford to overlook this while it lasts, if you have funds for investment.

If you have funds accruing in July, you can now reserve REID BROS., Inc., shares for purchase with these funds.

FACTS

1—The Hospital Supply Business

One of the most stable businesses on earth. The demand for hospital supplies is constant. It is unaffected by booms or depressions. Credit losses are practically unknown, and competition is limited.

2—Reid Bros., Inc.

REID BROS., Inc., is America's foremost hospital supply house. Its products are standard in the United States and 83 foreign countries. In 12 years the annual gross sales of this company have grown from $20,000 to $1,000,000. The past five years have shown an annual increase of 25 per cent.

3—Securities of Reid Bros., Inc.

Dividend-paying record: REID BROS. [illegible] never paid less than 8 per cent. Its common shares have paid as high as 12, 14 and 18 per cent. This consistent dividend-paying record has been maintained in good times and bad, evidencing the stability of this company, and the hospital supply business.

Security of Principal: Net earnings have more than taken care of dividends, with enough for a substantial annual reserve fund besides.

Marketability: The shares have a high value as a borrowing collateral. Stockholders may convert them into cash promptly through the company's securities department.

Management: The management is in the hands of its founders. Any mercantile house or bank in the centers where they have their business is offered as a reference.

Hints Heard That Sugar Prices May Turn Up Again

LOGANBERRIES 1-8 CENT BASKET NET TO GROWER

There was sent by an Oakland wholesale produce firm today to a fruit grower near Courtland, on the Sacramento river, a check for $3.44 in settlement for 24 chests of loganberries. A chest of these berries contains 20 drawers of six baskets each, or 120 baskets. There were therefore in the 24 chests of berries 2880 baskets. For picking, packing and paying for his baskets, shipping and other details of gathering the fruit, to say nothing of labor and care of bushes and other incidentals and interest on investment, however large or small it might be, the producer received .012 cents or about one-eighth of a cent per basket. As the baskets alone cost nearly three times this, the grower's return was even worse than nothing—a deficit.

Loganberries, it may be added, have been a very poor crop this year, but this is believed to be one of the extreme cases of unprofitable returns.

Strawberries on the other hand have been selling wholesale at from 10 to 12 cents a basket all spring and summer. The industry is in the control of a close association of Japanese and the minimum rate at which wholesalers may dispose of the fruit is 60 cents a drawer, or 10 cents a basket.

The first grapes of the season came in today from the Imperial Valley. There were five crates of Sweewaters, five crates of Seedless and a crate of black. The Oakland Fruit & Produce Company reported the shipment selling at about $3.50 per crate for the choice of it.

Reports from the country indicate that the canners and the apricot growers are not coming any closer together. Local canners were offering commission men today $10 a ton for their surplus 'cots. In most cases the offer was refused. Prices generally in the country are declared to be so low that growers will not pick the crop.

DEALERS EXPECT LITTLE DROP IN PRICE OF SUGAR

BY CONSOLIDATED PRESS SPECIAL TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Efforts to advance the price of raw sugar above the present levels are expected in the near future, according to a concensus of opinion from dealers, traders, producers and refiners here. There is little likelihood, these men declare, that prices for refined sugar will drop much below present quotations while there is an excellent chance that they will swoop upward when the canning season gets into full swing.

The grinding of the Cuban sugar cane crop now practically has been completed. Only one or two mills or centrals, as they are called, still are in operation. Accurate estimates based on the actual production of the majority of the 182 plants which operated in Cuba this year indicate that the crop will total between 3,650,000 tons and 3,700,000 tons.

This total is far below the estimates made by leading experts last December. The highest amount at that time was estimated by Himely, expert of the Federal Sugar Company who set his figure at 4,100,000 tons. The lowest prediction was 3,800,000 tons made by the Cuban secretary of agriculture.

MAJOR PART SOLD.

Cuba has already sold the major portion of the 1923 crop at excellent prices. About 1,250,000 tons, however, still remain to be sold and the planters are in excellent financial shape to hold these stocks for higher figures than prevail at present.

Refiners are well stocked up, but "the trade," that is the canners, packers, grocers and distributors, have not yet begun to buy heavily, [illegible] in the hope that threats of boycott or other factors might drive prices down.

However, the canning season is now getting under way and it is expected that the trade will begin to fill its requirements shortly. As the refiners have already paid pretty high prices on the whole, for their raw sugar and face the prospect of equally high figures for further purchases, they are expected to attempt to mark up their own prices on refined sugar when the demand becomes pressing, although refined prices have almost doubled since the first of 1922.

LIVESTOCK PROSPECTS.

Livestock conditions are viewed from widely different angles in various sections of the country at present. J. W. Schenber, vice-president of the Drovers Cattle Loan Company, at Kansas City, asserted today that there was more livestock liquidation in southwestern livestock circles, than for many months, but range trading was at a standstill. This, he asserted, was due to lack of confidence.

"The cow has not the range value today that a calf had last fall," he added. "Despite the lack of trading, however, livestock is in good condition as cattle have not yet been [illegible] up of the ranges. Cattlemen of the plains are spaying their heifers and aged cows are going to market from nearly every section. At this rate, which does not argue well for breeding and replenishment of herds, the cow will have a much higher value and will be in greater demand at a not distant date."

Livestock producers in the middle and northwest and far west are greatly encouraged at the higher prices for cattle in the various markets according to reports from Chicago. The price of $11.50 per hundred for prime steers in Chicago, is believed to have indicated still higher prices for well conditioned stock, growers assert. Ranch land values are improving and bankers said today there was a better sentiment with regard to cattle loans.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, June 29.—With weather ideal for harvesting of winter wheat and with growth conditions favorable [illegible] tended downward in price today during the early dealings. Bears [illegible] foreign buyers were disinclined to follow price advances on this side of the Atlantic. It was further pointed out that at present there is no evidence of any such demand to build domestic reserve stocks as was the case last year at harvest and for several months thereafter. Opening prices which ranged from ⅛ to ⅜c lower, with September $1.02½ to 1.02⅝ and December 1.05¾ to 1.05⅞, were followed by a [illegible] decline [illegible] in wheat. After opening at ⅛c off to ⅛c advance, September 77¾ to 77⅞c the corn market underwent a decided general sag.

Oats started at ¼c lower to ⅛c gain, Sept. 37¾. Later the market showed slight setbacks all around.

Detroit Industry Shows Slight Drop

DETROIT, Mich., June 29.—The record of industrial employment in this city in the last week shows a falling off of approximately 1500 [illegible] employment by some of the "suitcase mechanics" is responsible for some of this falling off, while some of the smaller automobile plants are cutting down production in a slight degree.

Oil Royalties Net U. S. Over Million Per Mo.

Royalties received by the government from production of oil, gas and gasoline on leased public lands in Wyoming, California, Montana and Colorado, are running well in excess of $1,000,000 a month. The interior department announced today that receipts for May from four states totaled $1,253,306, of which $1,131,000 was credited to Wyoming.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 29.—The largest peach orchards in this state are located in the [illegible] belt and returns from the fruit are counteracting the depression caused by the inroads the pests are making in the cotton crop.

Oklahoma Fears Labor Shortage

TULSA, Okla., June 29.—A labor shortage exists in this section today, according to E. N. Ellis, superintendent of the Federal State Employment Bureau. Building operations are in danger of becoming seriously hampered unless more workers become available. Contractors on the Spavinaw Water System project here are having difficulty in getting men, as farmers are paying $2.50 to $5 a day with board and room for harvest hands.

PORTLAND MAKES INCREASE IN ITS WHARFAGE RATES

600 Longshoremen Per Day, Average Employed On Waterfront.

PORTLAND, June 9.—An increase in the wharfage charge from 30 to 50 cents and decrease in handling charge from 60 to 55 cents at the Municipal docks here were agreed on today by the public dock commission, which also increased the wages of dock laborers from 50 to 60 cents an hour and of grain handlers from 62½ cents to 65 cents an hour. The changes in terminal charge brought the rates here to a parity with those in effect on Puget Sound, it was announced. Private dock owners agreed to conform to the new schedule of the municipal docks.

Space for 300,000 boxes of apples will be taken by the Hood River Apple Growers association in the apple storage warehouse at Municipal Terminal No. 4 if the warehouse is equipped with cold storage, according to A. F. Steele, manager of the association, who appeared before the public dock commission today. Plans for providing the equipment were discussed.

The average number of longshoremen sent out from the waterfront employers union hall last week was 600 a day, against 507 men a day for the corresponding week of 1922. The avrage number of men per working day throughout May was 522 this year in comparison with 394 men for May, 1922. The peak of May this year found 711 men sent out to work on vessels against 555 men on the peak day of May, 1922.

RECONSTRUCTION PROGRESSING ON FERRY STEAMER

Northwestern Pacific Fleet Will Be Augmented By Improved Bottom

Reconstruction of the ferry steamer Cazadero is progressing rapidly at the Moore Shipyards in the Oakland estuary. The Northwestern Pacific Company is spending more than $200,000 in improvements upon the vessel in order to put her in condition for increased passenger and automobile service between San Francisco and Sausalito.

The Cazadero is being practically rebuilt from the hull up. In addition to the changes in the superstructure the workmen are replacing a considerable part of the hull and installing a new walking beam.

With the return of the steamer to the ferry lanes across the Golden Gate, travel, especially that of automobiles, will be considerably augmented. At the present time, despite new services which have been installed, Sundays and holidays find crowds of drivers forced into line to await turns for boarding the ferries.

The past year has seen more activity in ferry lines than any previous year for some time. Nearly all the transbay lines have made increases to their fleets and improvements in service. In addition, two new services came into existence.

At the present time the Southern Pacific Company is building the Sacramento, the largest passenger carrying boat in the world, for service between Oakland and San Francisco.

Canadian Steamship Official Predicts Boom

Bumper Crops in North Is Travel Help to United States This Year.

SEATTLE, June 29.—Walter Moughan of Montreal, passenger manager for the Canadian Steamship system, who is on his way to California, predicted that travel to the south from the western Canadian prairies would be heavier next fall than ever before. He said that a fine list of passengers was assured for the Empress of Canada, which is to make a voyage from the Pacific to the Atlantic in January. These forecasts were based on the prospects of a bumper grain crop, moisture havin been plentiful this season in Alberta.

Wireless messages stated the Victoria of the Alaska Steamship company, will arrive here by 9 o'clock tomorrow morning on the return of her first trip to Nome and St. Michaels this season. She called at Akutan and False Pass coming south, loading 1000 cases of the new salmon pack at False Pass. She is to return north July 5.

The freighter Edward Luckenbach traveled from Los Angeles to New York in sixteen days, arriving Tuesday, according to advices received here today. This was declared to be a record for speed in the intercoastal service.

Sir Henry Thornton, head of the Canadian government merchant marine, a visitor in Seattle, was a guest tonight of Captain James S. Gibson of Seattle, on Captain Gibson's yacht, cruising Puget Sound.

British Steamer Has Much Lumber

The British steamer E. B. Kingsley of the Kingsley line, dropped up the estuary yesterday morning and put ashore a million feet of lathe and a large shipment of lumber. The cargo was discharged at the foot of Franklin street.

The lumber movement still continues heavy in the port and nearly every wharf is receiving large amounts from the northern ports.

TRADE BETWEEN UNITED STATES, AUSTRALIA BIG

Every Promise That the Coming Fiscal Year Is to Be Larger Still.

Several features of the Australian situation combine to justify the belief that 1923 will be a prosperous trade year. Wool is bringing excellent prices, says Consul Romeyn Wormuth in a report to the Department of Commerce, and indications are favorable for their continuance. Improvement is expected in the meat industry. The export of metals is increasing. It is believed that money will be easier and that interest rates will be reduced during the year.

The position of the United States in Australian trade is favorable, especially with regard to machinery and automotive vehicles, and to a lesser degree with agricultural implements. The year 1922 was a banner year for American automobiles. The United States holds first place in Australian imports of automobiles, hardware, miscellaneous iron stores, and surgical, scientific and musical instruments, and second place in iron and steel imports, although with the Newcastle Steel Works again in operation the importation of these commodities may register more or less of a decline. Other import lines in which the United States holds a strong position are kerosene and gasoline, lubricating oils, linoleum and oilcloth, patent and enameled leather, and arms and ammunition. Over 90 per cent of the motion picture films shown in Australia are imported from the United States. Most of the imports go from California ports.

The two dangers threatening the country are labor disturbances and continued drouth. The refusal of labor to accept a reduction in wages to meet changed conditions is the outstanding feature of the labor situation. Coal operators claim that lowered labor costs are essential to a readjustment of the coal industry and the attempt to force this reduction is reported as likely to lead to a bitter struggle between operators and miners.

WEATHER REPORT

Oakland and vicinity and Santa Clara Valley, and Southern California: Fair tonight and Saturday, except cloudy or foggy tonight and in the morning near the coast; moderate southwesterly winds.

Northern California and Sacramento Valley: Fair tonight and Saturday, except cloudy or foggy in the morning near the coast, cooler tonight interior extreme north portion; moderate westerly winds.

San Joaquin Valley: Fair tonight and Saturday; moderate northwesterly wind.

Nevada and Idaho: Fair tonight and Saturday; cooler Saturday.

CONDITIONS.

A trough shaped depression overlies the Pacific States and a large high pressure area is central over Kansas. Heavy rains have fallen along the west gulf coast and moderate amounts are reported in the North and Middle Atlantic States. Temperatures have fallen in the West Gulf states, Ohio Valley and District of Columbia. The outlook is for showers tonight and Saturday in Washington and Oregon and for fair weather elsewhere in the San Francisco forecast district. It will be cooler in the North Pacific States and Southern Nevada and in the interior of extreme Northern California.

ALASKAN COAL TO BE FREED OF 'LOCKUP' GRIP

Government Turning Properties Over to Private Concerns.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—A policy of withdrawing from coal mining in Alaska and turning the industry over to private concerns has been adopted by the Department of the Interior and promises to afford the territory cheap fuel, according to B. B. Stewart, director of the United States Bureau of Mines for Alaska, who is a visitor here.

"Every possible aid is being given private operators to enable them to get on their feet and build up markets," said Mr. Stewart. "Private companies are to mine the coal to supply the Alaska railroad under contract and are to be assisted in furnishing fuel to accessible Alaska communities."

Stewart believes that the new policy will cause the development of many small metal mining properties, whose operators have been unable to obtain fuel except at high prices, and that thus the innovation may open the storehouse of Alaska's mineral wealth.

Lurid Language Put in Use by State Chemists

The division of chemistry of the California Department of Agriculture, which registers the various remedies and poisons used as ammunition by the farmers of California against those members of the animal kingdom that got by Noah—the only man who had a fighting chance against them—claims to have the most unique assortment of trade names and brands in the state; if not the most unique, at least the most blood thirsty and expressive of all the deep hatred of vermin that the English language is capable of. It's Kill—Death—Exterminate, and any way to Getsem. The most prominent is the "Kill" family. No matter what the enemy, special or general, there is a "Kill" on the market ready for him. If it be a flea, then use Kill-a-Flea Powder or Kills-a-Flea or, if you prefer, Kill-a-Mite; if an ant then Kilant, or a grasshopper, then Killhopper; or a cockroach, then try Kilz Roach Powder. If, however, you don't know the species of the rascal, then by all means use Kill-a-Bug or Kills-a-Pest and if you don't care what you do, then go to it with Kill-All and you are sure to exclaim Eureka! Tizit! You are certain to do something by the use of Sure-Death and at least get quick action by applying Devil's Dust. Hoist the Black Flag and make War-On-Pests. Take a Sure-Shot, sit back and Watch It Get 'Em and your cattle are certain to enjoy Cow Ease and Cattle Comfort when you have Novermo, No Fly At All, Nomore Ants, and even believe that you really have Nobugatall, but best of all No-Odor-Zone by eradicating Gopher Scent.

T. M. [illegible], chief inspector for the division, says his inspectors are going to add another brand to the list which they will call Death-2-Fakes to be used against tree doctors and similar pests and it will be guaranteed to Kills-Em-Quick.

Bee Men Agree On Honey Prices

CALEXICO, June 29.—Bee men representing the bulk of the Imperial valley honey production, have fixed the price of 10 cents as the minimum selling price for honey. Market offerings are 7 to 8 cents. There is no holdover honey in the valley.

COMMODITY NEWS

COTTON.

LITTLEROCK, Ark., June 29.—The Arkansas Cotton Growers' Cooperative association will market not only the cotton of its own members but of those of the Tennessee and Missouri Cooperative Growers' associations, according to an arrangement just completed. This is expected to result in a saving to all members of the three states. The T[illegible] bales signed up, while the Missouri association memberships represent plantings on 25,000 acres.

LUMBER.

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—Orders at the southern pine mills fell off 14.8 per cent in the last week, according to reports of mills today. Production decreased 11.1 per cent and shipments 13.5 per cent. Orders on hand amount to about 269,-[illegible] showed [illegible] feet were ordered, 60,626,425 shipped, and 69,-400,255 feet produced in the week.

COAL.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 29.—Electric motors are rapidly taking the place of the mine mule in coal mining in this state. Recent changes in equipment have resulted in a compilation of statistics today which indicate that 11,000 electric motors now are employed underground in coal mines in this country and that more than 2,000,000 horsepower in electrical energy is in daily use in the mines.

TEXTILES.

BOSTON, June 29. — The hot weather has cut into the industrial output of this section. Some of the mills have closed down during the extremely hot days and others are preparing to shut down for the usual vacation periods. Among the latter are the Arlington, Hamilton Woolen and Sharp Manufacturing Company mills.

AUTOMOBILES.

DETROIT, June 29.—It is expected that the Ford sales will pass the millionth car mark for this year in July. This prediction is based on sales for the first five months of this year which totalled 732,850 cars and trucks, an increase of 322,005 over the corresponding period of 1922.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 29.—One Youngstown plant has just reported the receipt of an order for twenty 55,000-barrel tanks for the storage of oil in the Texas fields. Immediate delivery has been demanded on account of the heavy production in that section.

and over 5000 sufferers not only satisfied but have been permanently relieved by our herbalist for the past eight years. Our patrons are our friends. A few cases of sufferers may not bet satisfaction, but our herbalist will do the very best for them, but we do not just blame them not having faithfully carried out our treatments.

No matter how much careful consideration is given to take a case, there is no human power who can relieve 100 per cent of the sufferers,' unless he conceals those cases which he cannot relieve.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with various maladies.

I also desire to be the means of guiding anyone who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable health specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrence experienced by a member of my family I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation, unless Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure, he will under no circumstances accept the case.

Very truly yours,

The Oakland Tribune is a member of The Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country and has for its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. The Oakland Tribune, as well as every other member of the Association, endeavors to print only truthful Want-ads, and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement not conforming to the highest standards of honesty.

Want Ad Section INDEX

Want Ad Classifications appear in numerical order, and all related classes are grouped together. For example: All advertising of Rooms To Let is numbered 20 to 29. The numbers appear on the headings, so if you seek room and board look through the "20s"; "Board" is No. 25, and always follows "Housekeeping Rooms (24)." Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A."

On Havenscourt Boulevard

Where can you find a finer homesite than charming Havenscourt Boulevard? We have two six-room houses nearing completion and now ready for sale, on the Boulevard. Select one now and let us work out the decorations according to your own taste. Prices $6250 and $6500—at least $500 less than anyone else in the Eastbay will offer such homes. A first payment of $500 will handle one of these houses and monthly payments may be as low as $57.50 to $60. The houses are born clear of incumbrance, so that the buyer will not be troubled in future with the problem of re-financing. Both these fine homes will have tile mantels, tile baths, and tile kitchen sinks; three fine bedrooms; every room light, sunny and charming; well plastered laundry basements, with cement floors; garages; each house will be equipped with a gas furnace capable of heating every room economically, and also will [illegible]

The location is convenient to city trains, cars and good schools; the district is highly restricted and is the sunniest, warmest spot in Oakland. See us at once and speak for one of these elegant homes.

E. H. NOFFSINGER, RAILWAY MAN, DIES IN HOSPITAL

E. H. Noffsinger, one of the best known railway men on the coast, died last night in the Southern Pacific hospital in San Francisco, following an illness of several months. Funeral services will be held tomorrow from a private chapel, 2935 Telegraph avenue, under the auspices of the local order of Knights Templar. Noffsinger is survived by a widow. The family home is at 966 Kingston avenue, Piedmont.

Noffsinger was chief clerk to J. H. Dyer, general manager of the Southern Pacific. He entered the service of the railroad in 1903. He was chief clerk of the western division 1912-13; in Sacramento, 1913-15, and in Stockton, 1916-18. He then entered the general manager's office in San Francisco as head transportation clerk, later receiving appointment as chief clerk. He was 45 years old.

As a member of several local lodges, Noffsinger was well known in fraternal circles of Oakland. He was affiliated with the order of Knights Templar, Mystic Shrine and Elks.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE, tell them so.

Real "Cleanup" Being Done by Street Sweepers

The next time Oakland has a clean up week officials of the street department assert they are going to take a brisk hand in it. The results of the recent clean up campaign, according to City Engineer W. W. Harmon, were a trifle too rough on the street department.

"It was a fine clean up week, says Harmon, "and the citizens showed a commendable spirit but for some reason they mistook the city gutters for a sort of a free-for-all garbage can, with the result that the real cleaning up is still being done by our valiant but overworked street sweepers. There is an ordinance against dumping refuse in the streets.

Four Arrested on Speeding Charge

SAN LEANDRO, June 29.—Four were arrested yesterday afternoon on charges of violating San Leandro's 15 mile speed limit. They were released on bail pending their appearance Monday. Traffic Officer Harold Johnson said that motorists were prone to disregard the warning signs at the city limits.

Those arrested were H. Salisbury, 197 Ninth street, Oakland; A. Marshall, Berkeley; Oliver Davis, San Leandro, and R. H. Conrad of Oakland.

MACLAFFERTY DECLARES LAWS HAMPER ALASKA

How restrictive laws are hampering the development of Alaska was the subject of a talk given to the members of the Oakland Rotary Club yesterday by Representative James H. MacLafferty, who recently returned from a tour of that country with a party of senators and congressmen.

"It is up to the law-makers of the country to acquaint themselves with conditions in Alaska, and then remove the present conservative laws so as to make way for development of the territory," MacLafferty said.

"If California, in its early days, had received from the federal government the same treatment that is now being accorded to Alaska, it would be the least progressive instead of the most progressive area in the Union," the speaker said

ENDORSE LIGHTING PLAN.

SAN LEANDRO, June 29.—Members of the local Chamber of Commerce yesterday endorsed the plan to light Davis street from East Fourteenth street to the depot. They recommended that standard concrete pillar lights be installed instead of the metal electroliers proposed by those who are forwarding this project.

Law Easy on Man Who Violates Dry Law for Ill Wife

LOS ANGELES, June [illegible].—W. J. Zink, whose nemesis seems to be hard luck, is back trying to make a living on his desert claim.

Recently Zink moved out into the desert east of Victorville and there, with his wife, took up a homestead—so that his wife might have a chance to regain her health. She was suffering from tubercular trouble.

Whisky seemed to be the only medicine that helped his wife, so Zink came to the coast for a pint. He failed to get a doctor's certificate for the whisky because physicians had not seen his wife. Mrs. Zink was too frail to stand the trip in from the desert, so Zink got the liquor from a bootlegger. "Dry" agents found the booze in his machine, which he had parked, and seized the car.

Fearing arrest and separation from his wife Zink abandoned his much-abused flivver and returned to his wife. Soon afterwards friends informed him the Federal officers had learned his name and where he could be found through the registration of his machine. He then wrote the authorities that he would appear in court as soon as his wife was able to make the trip.

Again Zink was ready to start to court, but a neighbor was severely injured in a gasoline explosion and Zink nursed his friend and took care of his claim until he recovered.

OAKLAND HOUSE MOVING BANNED BY MAYOR DAVIE

Declares Streets Cannot Be Cluttered Up With Odd Structures.

Oakland's residences and stores are all nicely arranged on their streets and alleys. They are numbered consecutively and stay primly on their lots without rambling over streets, back yards, fields, cliffs or goat-pastures. In other words, the buildings of Oakland are now unanimously quiet. From the marshes of West Oakland to the far highlands of Fruitvale, not a single house or shanty is cavorting o'er the lea.

This is reported by the officials of the street department today as a result of the fate of several applications to move buildings in Oakland. The applications have been referred to the mayor. The mayor, unanimously, has turned down the applications. Since the famous case of the Harwood street house, which blocked traffic for two weeks, the mayor asserts his unalterable stand against house-moving as an Oakland outdoor pastime.

"We'll stop this stuff," says the mayor. "Our streets cannot be cluttered up with old shanties moving from place to place. Let 'em stay quiet."

The owner of the famous Harwood street house brought the matter to the courts, but he lost out. All applications since then have been turned down. Yesterday, however, a realty firm pleaded that it be allowed to let its little tract-office slip across the street. Commissioner Carter spoke in favor of it.

RICHMOND NOTES

RICHMOND, June 29.—Officers of the Richmond Radio Club were installed last night here. They are Norman Woodford, president; G. Lawrence, vice-president; E. A. Poage, secretary-treasurer and J. Geritz, sergeant-at-arms.

Congressman CharleSs F. Curry of this district has sailed for Honolulu where he will make a tour of inspection of the islands. Many matters of great importance loom for the coming session. With him are his sister, Mrs. A. M. Peterson, and her son, E. J. Peterson, and Florence A. and Forrest Curry.

Tonight is ladies' night at the Richmond Elks Club. The entertainment will be in charge of the past exalted rulers. It includes whist and dancing.

Petitions are being circulated urging the supervisors to call an election to vote upon uniting the Moraga and Orinda Park school districts. If the vote carries, it planned to erect a new school near the tunnel road, where the [illegible] enters Moraga valley

At a social given to all women friendly to unionism, the Carpenters Auxiliary will attempt to form an organization of women similar to the label league. All persons friendly to organized labor are being invited to the social tonight at the Labor Temple.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning for Charles Edward Stenl, 62, of 1735 Clinton avenue, Richmond, from the mortorium of Wilson and Kratzer here.

Peninsular Gas Range
With Incinerator

Women that have used the Peninsular Gas Range with Incinerator have nothing but praise for this wonderful stove.

They are economical in operation. The incinerator heats quickly. The heavy oven linings, the heavy oven bottoms and the perfect circulation in the oven—all these features makes these ranges famous the country over for their better baking.
